GREAT BATTLE PLANS LAID

BOOM LOWDEN AMID G.O.P. ROW ON HELMSMAN

Big Bill's Shot at the Governor Stirs Party Chiefs.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Republican national committee called today to elect a national chairman. When adjournment was forced by unanimous consent until 1:30 tomorrow afternoon, the deadlock between John T. Adams of Iowa and Will H. Hays of Indiana seemed to be tighter than ever.

Conservative figures showed twenty-three committeemen pledged to Adams, twenty-three tied to Hays, and five others who would not vote for either. By mutual agreement both sides stood for the hangover until tomorrow. The attempt is being made tonight to pull both men out of the race.

Lowden Boom Launched.

The Hays managers are more confident tonight of ultimate victory than they were last night. The inside opinion is that if Adams could have been forced a vote would have been forced this afternoon. The best judgment seems to tend to the election of a dark horse candidate. If this candidate is to be a member of the national committee Fred E. Stanley of Kansas holds the pole position. The ultimate decision seems to lie between Mr. Stanley and Fred E. Sterling of Illinois.

Mr. Sterling's selection became definitely possible at 6 o'clock. Suggestion of his name is closely connected with a formidable movement toward Gov. Frank O. Lowden for the presidential nomination in 1920. The Lowden boom broke into the open, strangely enough, through what was construed by many national committee members as a veiled attack upon the Illinois governor by Mayor Thompson of Chicago. Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, by inference, was assailed in the same resolution that Mayor Thompson offered to the national committee.

Wants Right to Talk Peace.

Mr. Thompson's resolution, which went to a subcommittee, said:

"It is the right of every American citizen, guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, to exercise freedom of speech, to have the liberty of the press, to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizure and to enjoy the right of free assembly for the peaceable discussion of their lawful rights," and one of its clauses ended with the declaration that "The American people may be upheld in their proper freedom to discuss the object of the existing war, the competence of preparation and equipment, the efficiency of its conduct, the adequateness of national defenses, the expense of men and money confronting them and the terms upon which they are willing to conclude a just, honorable and enduring peace."

Enlighten Committeemen.

National committee members, not in touch with what happened when Gov. Lowden sent troops to Chicago to stop the political meeting last year, didn't understand the force of the mayor's resolution, until certain of Gov. Lowden's friends branded it as a shot from under cover at the executive. These same men frankly told the national committee leaders that the "seizure of power" meant nothing else than a wallop at Judge Landis for ordering the opening of the Veeder case in connection with the packing-house investigation.

The result was the subcommittee, consisting of James A. Hemenway of Indiana, Senator William M. Calder of New York, R. B. Howell of Nebraska, W. L. Highland of West Virginia, and E. S. Kinsley of Vermont, agreed not to lay the mayor's resolution on the table. The reason for this tentative action as expressed by one of the subcommittee members was that the national committee should take no action at this time that would tend to show that there is any power that might suggest terms of peace other than properly delegated constitutional authority at Washington.

Indorse Suffrage.

An extended telegram was sent to Theodore Roosevelt praying for his speedy return to perfect health and strength. The action of the big proportion of the Republican members of the house of representatives in voting for submission to the people of the Susan B. Anthony woman suffrage

145 OF TUSCANIA VICTIMS BURIED ON SCOTCH COAST

(By the Associated Press.)

A SCOTCH SEAPORT, Feb. 11.—[Delayed.]—The American dead as a result of the sinking of the steamer Tuscania apparently is at least 159.

Thus far 145 bodies have been buried along the Scotch coast and fourteen additional bodies were recovered today. Funeral services over the latter will be held tomorrow.

The bodies of a majority of the Americans were identified by means of metal disks which the men wore and in the case of about twenty others, which bore blank tags, identification was effected of most of them by a general description of the bodies or by letters found in the pockets.

A correspondent of the Associated Press, who reached here this morning with two American officers, after a perilous voyage from Ireland, is able to give the first account of the last moments of many of the American victims who perished as a result of the Tuscania disaster, and of pathetic incidents attending their burial on the rocky shores of this bleak coast.

Buried at Water's Edge.

Today's burial was at the water's edge at the base of rocky cliffs. All the tiny villages for miles around were in mourning for the Americans, and farm and fisher folk came long distances to attend the ceremonies. Twenty-five American survivors of the disaster, who had been left behind for the purpose, assisted the natives in digging the graves into which the khaki-clad troops tenderly placed their dead comrades.

Looking down from the top of the cliffs 300 feet above stood the mourners, headed by a British colonel and an American private carrying an Old Glory made for the occasion by a group of Scotch women, who on learning that the Americans had no large flag obtained a small silk handkerchief edition of the flag from a sergeant and remained up all night copying it on a large scale.

Clergymen Come Miles.

Two clergymen came many miles and read the Scotch and Episcopal services, after which volunteers fired three volleys, which reechoed against the hillsides.

The ceremony was much the same as was carried out at the same spot on the previous day, when thirty-four Americans were laid at rest in two other graves. So badly mutilated were many of the bodies that two American army officers who were sent here from London expressly for the purpose found it impossible to take finger prints for identification purposes.

Wooden crosses, with distinguishing numbers, have been placed on each

Act as Guards and Save Valuables; Crowds See $300,000 Blaze.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Fire, starting on the top floor of the south wing of the main building of Vassar college at 6:45 o'clock this evening, damaged the building to the extent of $300,000.

The spectacular blaze, which could be seen for miles, attracted 15,000 persons to the scene, where the Vassar girl students aided the firemen and also organized for the work of rescuing valuables. The building that was damaged was the oldest on the campus. It was built in 1861.

The wing included a large assembly room on the third floor, a dining hall on the second floor, in which 400 girl students were at dinner when the fire started, the kitchens and storerooms below, and servants' quarters on the two top floors.

Driven Back by Fumes.

The Vassar girls' fire brigade immediately prepared to fight the flames, but fumes from the stoves in the kitchen, where the cooks had been preparing the dinner and had left precipitately, made it difficult to approach the building. The Poughkeepsie fire department soon relieved the girls of the fire fighting duty and they then turned their attention to rescuing valuables from the other wings of the building.

Several girls were detailed to keep back the crowd and they performed this service as well as the members of Company E of the New York national guard, who relieved them.

Arrest Looter Suspects.

Guardsmen arrested several persons who were loitering near the piles of valuables in the grounds which the girls had brought out.

On account of the possibility of a fire starting in the dormitory from sparks none of the girls was permitted to sleep in the building tonight, many of them going to Strong hall, where accommodations were provided, while others came to this city to spend the night with friends.

CHICAGO GIRLS AT VASSAR.

There are a number of Chicago girls now students at Vassar. Among them are those whose names follow:

"I'm Not Going to Resign," Chief Schuettler Wires

Recently rumors have been circulated about the city hall that Chief of Police Schuettler intended to resign. These reports were denied by Dr. Arthur Schuettler, but the story still persisted, and last night THE TRIBUNE sent a telegram to Chief Schuettler, who is spending his vacation at Miami, Fla. The following reply was received:

"I do not intend to resign and do not see why these rumors are circulated. Will be back to work in a short time, as soon as I feel better. Am getting along well.

TAR AND FEATHER CHICAGO LAWYER AS AN I. W. W. AID

Staunton, Ill., Loyalists "Show Road" to J. L. Metzen.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—John L. Metzen, a Chicago lawyer, and Sezerion Oberdan, charged with being an I. W. W. leader, were tarred and feathered by a mob of 300 persons on the outskirts of Staunton, Ill., thirty-eight miles northeast of St. Louis, tonight. They then were ordered to leave town.

The two men had been taken from their rooms in a hotel and marched through the streets to the outskirts of the city, a distance of a quarter of a mile. They were stripped, the tar and feathers applied and they "were given the road."

Protective League Acts.

This was the climax of a long fight to rid Staunton of men considered disloyal. All persons who had been marked by the American Protective league as disloyal were stopped on the street and forced to sign a printed form showing that they would remain loyal. More than 100 persons, it was said, were made to sign these printed forms.

After the tar party Metzen was started toward Chicago and Oberdan toward St. Louis afoot.

DEFENDED I. W. W. HERE.

John L. Metzen is a member of the law firm of Metzen & Simons with offices in the Reaper block. He has appeared in the Chicago courts for members of the I. W. W., notably in the case of Joseph Laukis.

At the time of the Laukis case he declared his sympathy for the I. W. W. in a letter which referred to his law firm: "This office in not engaged in trying to induce any one to desert the I. W. W., for the simple reason that we believe in progress—and therefore we are firmly convinced that the I. W. W., like all other movements that have tended to cause opposition in the ranks of the 'established order of things,' will be justified."

FOUND POISONED IN SALOON OF HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Edward Green, wife of one of the owners of the Grant & Green saloon at 219 North Clark street, swallowed a large quantity of poison early this morning.

When the police arrived they were told by Green, they said, that nothing was amiss. They were about to leave when they heard groans from a back room of the saloon and found Mrs. Green there. Delay in summoning medical assistance may result in Mrs. Green's death, it was said at the county hospital.

Green was arrested, along with Joseph P. Quigley, the bartender, who lives at 913 West Superior street; W. J. Tennant, a jackie, who had concealed his uniform beneath a heavy overcoat; A. G. Miller of 506 North Clark street, and three women. One of them was Miss Jennie Smith, who was with the sailor.

RUSSIA TELLS WHY SHE ENDED WAR PEACELESS

Claims Bourgeoisie of Allies Aided Kaiser Scheme.

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb 12.—The Russian official wireless press bureau gave to the world today this remarkable statement on why the Bolsheviki declared the war at an end, but refused to sign a treaty of peace with the central powers.

"The peace negotiations are at an end. The German capitalists, bankers, and landlords, supported by the silent cooperation of the English and French bourgeoisie, submitted to our comrades, members of the peace delegation at Brest-Litovsk, conditions such as could not be subscribed to by the Russian revolution.

Agree to No Annexations.

"The governments of Germany and Austria possess countries and peoples vanquished by force of arms. To this authority the Russian people, workmen and peasants, could not give its acquiescence. We could not sign a peace which would bring with it sadness, oppression, and suffering to millions of workmen and peasants.

"But we also cannot, will not, and must not continue a war begun by czars and capitalists in alliance with czars and capitalists. We will not and we must not continue to be at war with Germans and Austrians—workmen and peasants like ourselves.

"We are not signing a peace of landlords and capitalists. Let the German and Austrian soldiers know who are placing them in the field of battle and let them know for what they are struggling. Let them know also that we refuse to fight against them.

Declares War at End.

"Our delegation, fully conscious of its responsibility before the Russian people and the oppressed workers and peasants of other countries, declared on Feb. 10, in the name of the council of the people's commissaries of the government of the federal Russian republic to the governments of the peoples involved in the war with us and of the neutral countries, that it refused to sign an annexationist treaty. Russia, for its part, declares the present war with Germany and Austria-Hungary, Turkey, and Bulgaria at an end.

Bad Tangle for Germany.

The Daily News correspondent in Rotterdam sends the following dispatch: "The German chancellor, Hertling, together with Foreign Secretary Kuehlmann, left Berlin today for field headquarters to see the kaiser. The Germans' jubilation over Trotzky's peace without treaty is now modified.

The press comment is restrained and marked by bewilderment and inability to discover any tangible advantages. The annexationists treat Trotzky as a slim trickster, who has maneuvered the German government into an awkward situation.

The Taglische Rundschau describes the Russian declaration as a "bad nut in both halves, bad in that half in which it pretends to renunciation, bad in that half in which it is supposed to offer something.

"There must be no inclination with us to run into the trap which is badly hidden in the phrases of Trotzky," it adds.

Called a Siren's Song.

In a bitterly sarcastic strain, the Koinische Zeitung says:

"The history of the war has been enriched by this novel scheme for ending a warlike situation. For us this declaration has the secret object of enticing us into a bog. By creating a feeling of internationalism, an attempt is being made to win back that which has been lost by force of arms. We have the firm belief that our workers will not listen to this siren song."

Arrest Leaders of Big Riots in Copenhagen

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 12.—The police today arrested the leaders of the syndicalists who escaped yesterday during the riots in which between sixty and eighty thousand persons attempted to storm the treasury, plunder shops, and enter the royal palace. Among those arrested was Christian Christensen, editor of the syndicalist newspaper Solidarity.

MERRICK HEIRESS WEDS CHAUFFEUR FOR MOORHOUSE

Quiet Wedding First Announcement of Romance.

Miss Zella Merrick, reputed to be worth more than $1,000,000, as heiress in one of Chicago's old families, became the bride yesterday of Herbert E. Dickinson, for twelve years chauffeur for the family of Mrs. W. H. Moorhouse, with which Miss Merrick lived. The bride is an orphan and is 44 years old.

The marriage ceremony was celebrated at Christ's church, Twenty-fourth street and Michigan avenue, by the Rev. Samuel M. Gibson. The only attendants were William R. Moorhouse and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler Jr. Mr. Schuyler is a member of the law firm of Schuyler & Weinfeld, from which Samuel A. Ettelson retired to become corporation counsel.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson left for a brief honeymoon trip to Grand Rapids, Mich., to visit with Dickinson's parents, who live on a farm near there. Following this visit the two will visit Oconomowoc Wis., where Mrs. Dickinson owns a 200 acre estate.

Reared by Moorhouses.

Involved in the Dickinson romance is the story of the long friendship existing between the Merrick and Moorhouse families. The bride's father, L. C. Merrick, was a member of the wholesale tobacco firm of Spaulding & Merrick.

Mrs. Merrick died when her daughter was 7 years old, and the father took her to the Moorhouse home, where she grew up as a member of the family.

Mr. Merrick died in 1906 and in the will the daughter was named as sole beneficiary. She continued to live at the old Moorhouse mansion at 3741 Grand boulevard, where also live Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler. She devoted herself to philanthropy and general uplift work.

Chauffeur Twelve Years.

Herbert E. Dickinson entered the household about 1906 as chauffeur for the Moorhouse and Schuyler families. His term of service was continuous save for a brief period spent in Toledo as a foreman in the Pope-Toledo Automobile company's plant. He returned in 1915. William R. Moorhouse was then commissioner of public works.

Dickinson quit his position as chauffeur about six months ago, and soon thereafter Miss Merrick announced their engagement. He is an expert mechanician and is highly regarded by his acquaintances.

There was no formal announcement, and the first intimation the public had was yesterday morning.

ROOSEVELT HAS "HIS BEST DAY"; REGAINS GROUND

New York, Feb. 12.—Theodore Roosevelt continues to make progress at the Roosevelt hospital and it was believed tonight that he had made up the ground lost in the setback on Sunday. A bulletin issued at the hospital this evening said: "This has been Col. Roosevelt's most comfortable day and his progress is likely to be uninterrupted from now on."

Mr. Roosevelt passed a fairly comfortable night and was resting easy this morning, it was stated.

A bulletin issued at noon said:

"Col. Roosevelt had a comfortable night and his condition is improving. His temperature and pulse are normal and at present there is nothing to indicate further operation."

"Bad" Fisher Retires as National Army Officer

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—"Bud" Fisher, cartoonist, former athlete, and soldier, returned today to private life, his resignation as second lieutenant of the field artillery branch of the National army having been accepted by the president, the war department announced.

Records do not show the reason for his resignation. His commanding officer, however, some time ago advised the department that Fisher possessed "an excess of personality."

Suspect Carries Glass Revolver and Red Pepper

A man outfitted for red pepper banditry was arrested last night by Detectives Baynes and McLaughlin as he entered the Dover hotel on North Clark street. He had a can of pepper and a glass revolver in his coat pockets. No reports of red pepper robberies have been received of late, the police say.

LLOYD GEORGE CLOAKS MOVES WITH SECRECY

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Count von Hertling, the German chancellor, will reply to President Wilson's peace speech in an address to the reichstag next Tuesday, says an Amsterdam dispatch.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The allies' plans to combat the supreme attack of the Teutonic armies in the expected great offensive impending on the west front have been completed. This was divulged by Premier Lloyd George today during the debate attending his speech in the house of commons repudiating the peace terms outlined by Count von Hertling, the imperial German chancellor, and Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

While he refused to tell any details of the preparations made to meet the Teutonic onslaught by the great war council at Versailles, Mr. Lloyd George expressed confidence that the shock would be met victoriously.

Don't Press the Government.

"But I beg the house and my right honorable friend [Mr. Asquith] not to press the government for information which the enemy would gladly pay large money to get," said the premier.

Mr. Asquith protested that he had not sought any information that would be of value to the enemy, and Mr. Lloyd George said he did not wish to impute for a minute that Mr. Asquith had done so.

Brace for Great Blow.

The change in the military situation brought about by the sending of German troops from the east to the west must be considered, the premier said, and it is essential that the whole strength of the allied army of France, Great Britain, America, and Italy should be made available for the point where the blow is to come. Arrangements should be made under which the allies would treat their armies as one to meet the danger and menace, wherever it should come.

It was true that he had stated in November, he continued, that it was not intended that the supreme war council should have executive functions, but since then Russia had gone out of the war and a number of German divisions had been brought to the western front from the east. The situation had become very much more menacing, and the allies had met at Versailles to consider the best methods of meeting that menace.

Trusted by France.

Speaking of the council, the premier continued:

"I felt flattered at the council when I realized that our new army had been intrusted by France with the defense of its capital, in the most vital parts of France and the ports along the coast, and the demand in France was not that our army should take less but more of the responsibility. That was in itself evidence of the confidence felt in the gallantry and prowess of our army.

"And let me say here of its leadership, as well—no man has talked more glowingly than myself of that leadership, and I do not withdraw a syllable thereof. But I beg the house and my right honorable friend not to press the government for information which the enemy would gladly pay large money to get."

Causes a Commotion.

The premier's refusal to explain the enlargement of the functions of the Versailles council caused considerable commotion in the house. He insisted on the impossibility of explaining executive functions without at the same time divulging the decisions of the council. If he had had an opportunity, he said, he would have told Mr. Asquith privately, and Mr. Asquith would have understood the impossibility of divulging the information publicly.

The premier here uttered a challenge for the government, at which Mr. Asquith interjected:

"I have not asked for that."

Premier Is Heckled.

Throughout this passage the premier was frequently interrupted and

Wilson Uses Peace Drive as War Move; Hopes to End the Conflict by Pressure

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—President Wilson's rejoinder to the statesmen of the central powers yesterday started an avalanche of speculation today upon the possibilities of an early peace in Europe.

It was learned that the president's move was not the result of any secret information of the readiness of the enemy to enter into peace negotiations.

From a high official source it was learned tonight that one reason for the president's speech was that he feared the declaration of the interallied council in Versailles that "a just peace can be obtained only through the force of arms" would be interpreted as slamming the door on peace."

His address, this authority said, was intended to shut off this misinterpretation.

The president delivered his reply to Chancellor von Hertling and Count Czernin after sounding the allies upon their views of the propriety and advisability of the move. By some of the allies he was advised to refrain from making a reply at this time. Some of his official advisers also were opposed to the step as likely to strengthen the enemy impression that America is "too proud to fight."

Wages Peace and War.

Mr. Wilson, however, went ahead. He made it known that he intended to wage peace as well as war. He took the second step in a great peace drive which he inaugurated in his address to congress on Jan. 8.

While sending American armies to battle he intends to keep the discussion of peace terms going in the hope that the belligerents sooner or later will find themselves close enough together on peace terms to make further bloodshed unthinkable.

The president will be greatly disappointed if the Teutonic statesmen do not seize an early opportunity to reply to his address. He gave them assurances that he is ready to make concessions in regard to the fourteen conditions of peace he enunciated on Jan. 8 and he is confident that the German chancellor and Austrian premier will accept this broad invitation to continue the discussion.

Ready for Replies.

To these replies the president will be ready with a rejoinder, confident that an iffiefinite continuation of this process will provide a basis for the conclusion of peace.

The president and those who are in accord with his views of the situation are extremely optimistic. They have a vision of the war won by moral suasion and the German people roused to overthrow their rulers. More conservative members of the administration are less optimistic.

Those of conservative view deem it more probable that the German people will be persuaded by the victories in the east to enter upon another year of warfare in the hope that the armies, reinforced by the troops drawn from the Russian front, will be able to crush the entente and bring realization of Potsdam's dream of conquest.

Must Defeat Germans.

The only chance of an early peace is believed to lie in the ability of the allies to check the German drive wherever it may materialize. If the German people can be convinced that their war lords cannot defeat the entente, that all they can achieve is a stalemate in the west and that further bloodshed is useless, they may be ready to listen to Mr. Wilson's pacific arguments.

Enthusiasm over the address was lacking in allied circles. There was a fear that it materially modified President Wilson's previous address to congress in which he specified the war aims of the United States. Persons close to the president asserted, however, that the new address was a further interpretation of the former, although it did not close the door to modifications.

Expect Conference in Berlin.

In neutral legations it was believed that the inducements offered the central powers by the moderation and content of the address would not be ignored and that important conferences would be called immediately in Berlin to consider "an entirely new situation created by the president's unexpected invitation to the central powers."

international order which we believe it would bring about, that would compensate for the sacrifice which justified, even necessitated, the prolongation of the war.

"The peace for which we are fighting must be a clean and lasting peace, resting on foundations of international justice. That is not only our opinion, but the opinion of all our allies, and we will rigorously and scrupulously observe those principles in continuing the war.

Army Leadership Vital.

"We are all desirous that while the war lasts and the purposes for which we entered it are still unachieved, it should be prosecuted with the best resources at our disposal. Among these, in the first place, we must be given leadership. There have been many criticisms, just and unjust, upon the conduct of the war during the last year, but in the military field there has been nothing which has been done or left undone that has in the least shaken the confidence of the empire in those two great soldiers, Haig and Robertson.

"For more than two years, against all the vicissitudes of fortune that during that time have befallen the allied cause, they have proved over and over again their possession in a preeminent degree of the qualities of foresight, tenacity, patience, and unperturbed resolve which went furthest to win and to retain the trust and loyal devotion of the British troops.

"We owe to them unstinted gratitude and unwavering confidence, and there are no two men whose judgment in military matters I would more unhesitatingly accept."

The former premier said he thought it could be possible for the government to give a definition of the enlargement of the functions of the interallied war council, just as in the first place it had defined publicly the original functions of the council.

"I wish to know, and I am sure the house wishes to know," Mr. Asquith continued, "whether any change has been made in the status of the personnel or the functions of the commander-in-chief or in those of the chief of the general staff.

Rules Out Rumors.

"I rule out as absolutely irrelevant in matters of this kind all rumors of personal rivalries and squabbles, such as we read of in the papers. I cannot believe in them and shall not until I have overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

"I cannot and will not believe considerations of that kind can sway the action of politicians or military men.

"I feel that the house would not be discharging its duty unless it asked the government to define authoritatively, with a view to quieting suspicions and removing doubt, that the strategy of the war will be conducted on sound lines and on lines which are approved by those who are our highest technical advisers.

"We should have complete confidence in the system on which we are carrying on the war and in perfect harmony of opinion, as well as of effort, between the government and those who are its servants."

Speech by King.

In his speech at the opening of parliament today King George said the struggle had reached a critical stage which demanded more than ever the full use of the country's energies and resources.

Until recognition is offered of the only principles upon which an honorable peace can be concluded, the king declared, it is the duty of the British to prosecute the war with all the vigor they possess.

A number of American soldiers and sailors saw the royal procession. One group of naval men attracted his majesty's attention by their hearty cheering and the king acknowledged the compliment.

Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, was present in the house of lords and a number of American correspondents and visitors occupied seats in the galleries.

Hertling a Joker.

"There was not a single definite question dealt with where Czernin did not present the most definite refusal to discuss any terms which might be regarded as possible terms of peace, and, when you come to the German reply, it is very difficult to believe that Von Hertling could be even serious in some of the demands he put forward.

"What was his answer to the allies' very moderate demands? His answer was that Great Britain was to give up her coaling stations throughout the world. I confess I think that was the last demand Germany ought decently to have put forward."

The premier said further that Germany was proving by its annexationist policy toward Russia that its words of peace were false.

Until there comes tangible "proof—proof more convincing than anything appearing in the two speeches—that the enemy is prepared to consider the aims and ideals for which the allies are fighting, there must be no cessation in the preparations necessary to establish right in the world.

Addresd by Asquith.

Former Premier Asquith, commenting on the latest developments of the general situation, said that a number of salient and novel facts had emerged since the beginning of the year.

"We have had a restatement of the peace aims in behalf of this country by the premier," he said, "a statement in which I entirely concur both in the spirit and the letter, and on behalf of the United States by President Wilson. We have had, in addition, replies to these statements by Czernin and Von Hertling. We had next a resumption of the Brest-Litovsk negotiations, which resulted in a treaty between the central powers and Ukraine."

Refers to Kaiser's Speech.

After referring to the fact that Russia was no longer in the war, he said:

"And, finally, we read this morning two remarkable and sharply contrasted declarations by great and responsible persons: Firstly, a declaration by the German emperor. The emperor's aspiration for friendship with other nations is confined in its expression to neighboring nations. That phrase does not seem to include ourselves at first sight, but perhaps it has been a lapse of speech.

"What is more important for us to note is that past experience has taught us that it might be a great mistake to assume that what the emperor said is a condition of peace, is what the German people and the German reichstag really think and feel."

Praise for Wilson.

Mr. Asquith then referred to President Wilson's addressof yesterday and said:

"The president discriminated justly both in regard to the tone and substance betwsen the declarations of the German and Austrian chancellors. It would seem as though, as President Wilson said, the military party in Germany alone rejected and would have nothing to do with a peace based upon lines which, in principle at any rate, the whole of the rest of the world is ready to accept.

Buried at Three Places.

The bodies of the Americans have come ashore thus far at eight widely separated points along the coast. All but fourteen, which were recovered today, have been buried at three of the most central points, or where the greatest number were recovered. For instance, at one point alone the funeral rites were carried out over sixty soldiers who were washed up within a stretch of coast line not longer than two city blocks.

Among the treacherous, low lying rocks twenty miles farther north, the next greatest number were found—forty-nine. Midway between these two points forty-four bodies were discovered in a small cove, sixteen of which the correspondent helped to bury today.

Hard to Recover Bodies.

So many bodies came ashore between the cliffs and in inaccessible places that great difficulty was experienced in conveying them to burial places. Some bodies were dashed upon the rocks at the base of precipitous cliffs higher than the Palisades of the Hudson river.

The absence of timber on the barren lands out of which to make coffins delayed the burials and made it necessary ultimately to bury most of the bodies of the men in their uniforms, covered with canvas. Some coffins were provided from trees cut down for the purpose, but only a small proportion of the men were buried in this way.

A local undertaker at the point where the sixty bodies were found soon exhausted his small available supply of coffins. Thereupon the owner of a big estate immediately ordered out all of his employés to cut down the only clump of trees within miles in order to make coffins. This provided twenty-five.

These were soon exhausted and it was necessary to bury many of the men without coffins. Those whose uniforms the sea had stripped off were shrouded in canvas.

Many Died Near Safety.

It was noted in most cases that nearly all the men wore life belts and that their clothing invariably was saturated with oil, which came from the two great tanks on board the Tuscania.

Immediately after the torpedoing of the steamer the men were thrown into the sea by the faulty launching of life-boats and swam about in the oil laden waters before giving up the struggle in the darkness.

Many of the men, however, were within a few yards of the land after hours of rowing, when the seas crushed their lifeboats against the rocks.

Some of the Heroes.

Private Wilbur Nutt, Spring Valley, O., was in lifeboat 11, which capsized when it struck against the rocks, emptying thirty occupants into the swirling sea.

"I was carried over the rocks on a great wave," said Nutt today, "and wandered for six hours up and down the cliff. I have just seen the names of all the other occupants of the boat among the dead."

A British colonel, who came fifty miles and worked indefatigably with the survivors, mentions in his report to the war office Robert Morrison, coast watcher, and Duncan Campbell for bravery. Morrison heard cries about the middle of the night, and, running down from his home on top of the cliff, saved many lives by dragging them to the higher rocks. He took care of eighty survivors at his tiny house, and still has some of the sick there.

Campbell, at a point ten miles farther away, did much the same thing. He helped fourteen men to reach land and took them to his farmhouse.

MORE SURVIVORS OF TUSCANIA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Forty names were removed today from the list of unreported American soldiers who were on board the torpedoed liner Tuscania, leaving 300 still to be accounted for. As the war department advices show only 113 soldiers lost, 187 of those now unreported probably are safe.

Only seven additional survivors were named in today's dispatches and the department had not succeeded in deciphering a number of names garbled in cable transmission. Twenty-one men whose names appeared on the Tuscania's passenger list were removed from the roll of unreported when the department was advised that they had been taken off for hospital treatment when the ship touched at Halifax.

Twelve others were eliminated because they had been reported in press dispatches at hospitals in Ireland.

The additional survivors include Lieut. C. W. Waller of Fenton, Mich. Among those reported at Halifax is Fred J. Groomer of Horseshoe Bend, Ia. Others reported were from points distant from Chicago.

PRESS OF LONDON AND PARIS LAUDS WILSON SPEECH

"Can Czernin Maintain His Attitude?" Asks One Newspaper.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Great prominence is given in this evening's newspapers to the speech made yesterday in congress by President Wilson. In their lengthy comments the newspapers compare it with Emperor William's reply to the burgomaster of Hamburg in which the emperor declared that the victory of German arms must be recognized.

The Westminster Gazette after reviewing the president's arguments, says:

"The kaiser with the glorification of his army has had his reply. For the moment, at all events, he and his chancellor seem to have forgotten the reichstag resolutions of six months ago. It remains to be seen whether those who passed the resolutions are willing to revert to the spirit of Prussianism implied in Chancellor von Hertling's speech and openly avowed in the kaiser's message of yesterday."

Must Look to Washington.

"If anything were needed to emphasize the diplomatic wisdom of President Wilson's words," the Daily News says, "it would be supplied by a contrast between the principles laid down at Washington and the principles laid down at Versailles.

"From the bankrupt statesmanship of the allied conference emerged what was, in effect, a reassertion of the knockout blow doctrine translated into formal documents and countersigned by the prime ministers of Britain, Italy, and France.

"The keynote of the president's speech is the policy of the open door. We are accustomed to look to Washington alone for any constructive contribution to the diplomacy of the alliance. Monday's address to congress will do much to confirm the habit."

Can Czernin Maintain Attitude?

Commenting on President Wilson's reference to the address of Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, in which the president "found a very different note," the Westminster Gazette says it remains to be seen whether Count Czernin "will be able to maintain his attitude or whether we will have to deal with enemies whose standpoint still is accurately represented by a kaiser resolved to make the world submit to the victorious German army."

The Pall Mall Gazette disagrees with Mr. Wilson that the voice of the German chancellor is the voice of but one party in Germany, but adds:

"Happily the president is unambiguous in his declaration that America will hold to her purpose until the monstrous claim—that the Germans stand on a pedestal of armed strength above the rest of the world—is brought to naught."

"Approved by All Allies."

PARIS, Feb. 12.—"All the entente allies will approve the laws formulated in President Wilson's message," says the Temps in an editorial today dealing with two striking items of news—the declaration of peace made by Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik foreign minister, and President Wilson's reply to Count von Hertling, the German imperial chancellor, and Count Czernin, the Austrian foreign minister.

"Mr. Wilson's program in welding together the economic and territorial stipulations," the newspaper says, "impels Germany's directors to accept a just peace, for they fear a boycott after the war which would ruin them. Trotsky's gesture encourages them to prolong their war of conquest through the possibility of obtaining provisions in Russia."

DEATH PENALTY FOR BOLO PASHA WILL BE ASKED

Prosecutor to Demand Life as Price of Treason.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—All the evidence, testimony, and speeches by witnesses in the case of Bolo Pasha, who is on trial for treason, and apparently all the other "affaires" now under investigation before the French court, had been concluded this afternoon and tomorrow's sitting will open with the arguments of the prosecutor.

He will ask that the sentence of death be imposed upon Bolo.

The trial was resumed today with M. Doyen, expert accountant, again on the stand to refute charges made by Monsignor Bolo, brother of the defendant, that Doyen had dishonored himself by falsifying a portion of his original report on Bolo's activities.

Speaks with Moderation.

The witness spoke with great reserve and moderation, declaring merely that he took exception "to the form in which these criticisms were presented by a man who strangely abuses the moral authority conferred on him by the cloth he wears." M. Doyen then reiterated and explained in detail the portions of his report which the prisoner's brother had challenged.

After M. Doyen had testified, Monsignor Bolo again took the stand and reiterated his attacks of yesterday, especially on the authenticity of the telegrams of Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador to the United States, duplicates of which, he insisted, should be produced rather than to rely on American state department documents.

Rails at America.

When the prosecutor repeated, as on Monday, that the American government could not be questioned, the priest created a scene by asserting passionately, "The American government has not the right to shoot my innocent brother."

Maurice Viollette, former minister of subsistence, testified that the current opinion among parliamentary and ministerial circles in August, 1917, was that no case would be found against Bolo Pasha, and that M. Painleve, then minister of war, had asserted that the case did not warrant an arrest.

The last witnesses of the day recounted the good deeds of Bolo Pasha and Darius Porchere, an accountant, who is a codefendant with Bolo, and also told of the personal feuds between the newspapermen for and against Senator Charles Humbert, former owner of the Paris Journal.

Surprised at Charge.

One character witness for Bolo, M. Delancle, said he was surprised that the government had charged Bolo with being a friend of Abbas Hilmi, former khedive of Egypt, who, it has been charged, sent money to Bolo for use in carrying on German propaganda.

"Why," said Delonclе, "President Wilson has not yet said he was an enemy of Turkey."

M. Viollette, in testifying, referred to two documents sent in August and September, 1917, by Prosecutor Mornet to Minister of War Painleve.

M. Salles, on behalf of Bolo Pasha, demanded that the documents be submitted to the defense, but this was refused by the court and M. Mornet.

U. S. Gives Vital Aid.

M. Viollette said that Minister of War Painleve had informed the council of eleven investigating the question of lifting the parliamentary immunity of former Premier Caillaux for the purpose of taking his testimony in connection with the case that unless additional evidence was obtained from America Bolo could not be arrested. To this statement Prosecutor Mornet replied.

"We readily admit that had America remained neutral we could not have got to the bottom of this case and other cases and that Bolo today would be walking the streets free."

MARINES' HEAD PRAISED; GETS REAPPOINTMENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. George Barnett was reappointed commandant of the United States marine corps by Secretary of the Navy Daniels today.

In announcing his reappointment Secretary Daniels gave Gen. Barnett a large share of the credit for achievements of the fighting marines.

"As a military organization," the secretary said, "the marine corps today is one of the most highly trained branches of the United States forces. At the outbreak of the war it was composed of approximately 400 officers and 13,000 men, and since then it has been trebled in size and now has 1,350 officers and 37,000 men. It was the first branch of the service to be fully recruited to war strength.

NEGRO BURNED AT STAKE FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Estill Springs, Tenn., Feb. 12.—Jim McIlherron, a Negro, who shot and killed two white men here last Friday, was burned at the stake here tonight after a confession had been forced from him by application of red hot irons. The man was brought here tonight by a posse which captured him after wounding him in a battle near McMinnville early today.

A mob estimated at upwards of 1,000 persons met the train. Leaders of the posse urged the crowd to let the law take its course, but no effort was made to prevent the lynching.

A sister of one of the men McIlherron shot addressed the crowd, denouncing her brother's slayer.

Drink Silent Toast to Association Enlisted Men

A silent standing toast to the enlisted men of the association was drunk by members of the Purchasing Agents' Association of Chicago at a membership banquet in the Hotel La Salle last night.

Forty-three new members were the guests of the banquet and the speakers were M. F. Boffey of New York, president of the national organization, and F. E. Francis of Milwaukee, their themes being patriotism and coöperation.

EVANSTON GIRLS YEARN FOR JOB AT $1 PER YEAR

Elmer R. Murphey Finds Feminine Patriotism at High Pitch.

Girls, girls, girls!

They filled the porch of Elmer R. Murphey's residence in Evanston last night, jammed the front hall, and overflowed into the street. And Mr. Murphey grew hoarse making explanations.

He had so many call at the house that he finally locked the doors, disconnected the telephone, and put up this sign:

Swamped by Applicants.

Mr. Murphey had not counted on Evanston women being so patriotic. He is a special agent for the bureau of exports of the war trade commission. Being a volunteer worker himself, a "dollar a year man" in Washington, he advertised for a "dollar a year girl."

They swamped him.

It seemed as though every girl in Evanston wanted to operate the switchboard in Mr. Murphey's office. Some even refused the dollar.

"That'll buy smokes for a soldier," said one. "Why should I take it? I'd love to have the job. When shall I go to work?"

"One at a time, girls," requested Mr. Murphey. "Don't crowd. Here are some application blanks. Fill them out and call at the office."

A Last Word.

A reporter talked to him through the kitchen window.

"Shhhhhh!" said Mr. Murphey. "Have they gone?"

"All gone," was the reply.

"This has been a wonderful night," ejaculated Mr. Murphey. "I suppose there will be a line of applicants waiting for me at the office in the morning. I've got to get some sleep."

The switchboard operator probably will be selected today.

NEW YORK SENATE VIGILANTES TO CURB SOCIALISTS

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12.—[Special]—A vigilante committee of six members—all men of remarkable physical development—has been organized in the New York senate to "take care of" the Socialist members whose anti-war activities have excited protests.

The fact that this committee is headed by a man who has a son fighting in the French front in the American army, however, makes it possible that in case further attempts are made by any of the ten Socialists to block legislation designed to be helpful to the soldier there will be a "free for all," as one member of the legislature expressed it.

BAKER NAMES 3 MORE DIVISION HEADS FOR STAFF

Declares Stettinius Will Be "Surveying Eye" on All Supplies.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Baker announced today the appointment of three temporary chiefs of divisions of the reorganized army general staff. The secretary also gave a detailed explanation of the functions of the five new staff divisions created.

Five appointments were announced today, that of Maj. Gen. Palmer Pierce, as director of purchases, and Brig. Gen. George W. Goethals, as director of storage and traffic. The temporary appointments as heads of the other three divisions announced today are:

BRIG. GEN. H. JERVEY, director of operations.

BRIG. GEN. W. S. GRAVES, administrative division.

COL. D. W. KETCHAN, war plans division, acting in the absence of Brig. Gen. P. D. Lochridge.

War Council Advisory.

Secretary Baker explained that the war council, of which Maj. Gens. Crozier and Sharpe, the deposed ordnance and quartermaster chiefs, are members, will act only in an advisory capacity to the general staff. The relation between the general staff and the staff bureaus will not be disturbed.

A detailed explanation of the functions of the bureaus of which Gens. Goethals and Pierce are the heads, and of the relation of Edward R. Stettinius, the former purchasing agent for the allies, to the two general officers, is given by Secretary Baker.

"The function of Mr. Stettinius," Secretary Baker explained; "will be largely that of a surveyor of the industrial field and an accelerator of war supplies. If there are changes in the requirements of the American expeditionary forces, orders for these changes must be passed on down the line by Mr. Stettinius, so that the production may be in accord with the demand.

"To Mobilize Industry."

"In other words, Mr. Stettinius, a business man and purchasing agent of great experience, may figuratively be called the 'surveying eye' for the director of purchases and supplies, who is a military officer and assistant to the chief of staff. Mr. Stettinius will endeavor to mobilize industry for war needs."

Explaining the relation of Gen. Goethals to the purchase division of the staff Secretary Baker said:

"In his capacity as director of storage and traffic Gen. Goethals will direct priorities of storage and war traffic in the United States, the embarkation of supplies and troops, inland war transportation and storage at inland depots, embarkation points and overseas points.

Faces Red Tape Tangle.

"In exercising these duties Gen. Goethals must work in conjunction with the shipping board, the director general of railroads, and the several supply bureaus. He will, of course, maintain cooperative relations with the purchasing division of purchases and supplies headed by Gen. Pierce, which furnishes the supplies for storage or traffic.

It was admitted, however, that when Gen. Goethals as quartermaster general wished supplies he would have to go to a civilian, Mr. Stettinius, or a junior in rank, Gen. Pierce, to get them. His duties as head of the supply division are regarded as being largely routine in nature.

Of the three officers named temporary chiefs of divisions today Brig. Gen. William S. Graves is the best known. He is an old infantry officer with long service in the field.

Wilson Seeks Opponents' Aid in Effort to Speed Up War

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—War efficiency legislation still remains a matter of controversy between the White House and many members of the senate nothwithstanding President Wilson's request for the passage of the Overman bill to consolidate government departments and to transfer official functions as a substitute for the war cabinet and minister of munitions, as proposed in the Chamberlain bill.

Although it is probable, as a result of the president's conference yesterday with Senators Overman and Nelson, that the senate judiciary subcommittee will make a favorable report on the administration bill to extend executive power, it is not assured that the full committee will act favorably on the measure, or that the senate will pass it in its present form.

Controversy Nears Climax.

The Overman bill, however, is certain to bring the controversy to a climax in the near future and some legislative action to speed up the war will result. While members of the senate military affairs committee insist that the proposed war cabinet is the most efficient way to cope with problems of war preparations, the continued opposition of the president seems to make achievement of their plans impossible. They propose, however, to get a showdown in the senate when the subject is brought up for general discussion.

The president is said to have told Senators Overman and Nelson yesterday just what he proposed to do with the power he seeks from congress in the matter of government reorganization and to have declared that he will execute some of his plans regardless of the passage of the administration bill.

Senator Overman, who admits that hostility to his bill in its present form is growing, is said to have told the president that its passage unamended was dubious and suggested that it would be necessary to stipulate that the grant of authority to be extended would confer no additional executive power, but provide means to make more effective authority which the president already has. The president, it is said, will be willing to accept such a bill provided it will enable him to carry out centralization plans he has in mind.

Beginning tomorrow the president proposes to lead the fight for the Overman bill himself and he will conduct it on nonpartisan lines through conferences with Democratic and Republican legislators at the White House from time to time.

For the first time members of both parties are to be taken into the White House councils in the consideration of war legislation, and in this way the adminstration expects to smooth out some of the difficulties which confront the war program.

Calls on Both Parties.

The president's move is regarded as the first step toward taking members of both parties more into his confidence and toward calling the Republicans actively into the war councils.

He hopes to be able to convince a majority at least that a war cabinet is unnecessary and would be embarrassing to him and that he can coordinate war agencies and stimulate fighting preparations just as well or better through plans of his own making.

Pending action on the Overman bill in committee, senate discussion of the controversy is to continue this week. Senator James of Kentucky, staunch supporter of the president, will submit an administration argument Thursday, having announced that he will speak on "America and Her National Defense." On Friday Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, a member of the military committee and one of the proponents of a war cabinet and minister of munitions, will speak on the other side of the issue.

BAKER ADMITS NEED OF ALLIED TRANSPORT AID

Gives Secret Statement to Senate Inquiry on Tonnage.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Secretary Baker today transmitted to the senate military committee the shipping statistics upon which he based his estimates of transporting a million American soldiers to Europe this year.

The information was labeled "highly confidential" and will be considered in executive session of the committee as the basis for final cross-examination of Mr. Baker, probably later this week and behind closed doors.

The information was compiled largely by the general staff and is understood to give complete details of both American and allied tonnage available for transport service.

Depends on Allies.

In his tonnage statement Secretary Baker, according to committee members, did not contend that 1,500,000 American soldiers could be maintained in Europe in 1918 with present shipping facilities, but expressed hope of securing more allied vessels.

American toonage now available, according to Secretary Baker's statement, was said to be less than the 1,400,000 tons conceded by Senator Hitchcock.

Two Tons a Man.

Secretary Baker's statement reiterated his contention that only two tons gross, or one and six-tenths net tons, are required to maintain each soldier in Europe. Senator Hitchcock estimated it at five tons. Also, according to committee members, Secretary Baker's estimate that ships can make the round trip in fifty days generally has been exceeded.

A detailed statement of the cargoes carried in the past was submitted, and it was said in some cases showed that vessels with 6,000 to 10,000 tonnage actually carried freight weighing only from 3,000 to 5,000 tons.

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Two Officers and Two Men Suffer Slight Injuries Overseas.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Gen. Pershing notified the war department tonight that the following men had been slightly wounded in action:

First Lieut. W. H. Howell, medical reserve corps, attached to field ambulance, Jan. 30; Belleville, W. Va.

Private Louis J. Tardiff, field artillery, Feb. 9; Gladstone, Mich.

M'ADOO TO USE WATERWAYS TO RELIEVE ROADS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Steps toward greater utilization of navigable rivers, canals, and other inland waterways to relieve railroads of a big freight burden were taken today by Director General McAdoo in appointment of a committee to study water transportation as it may coördinate with rail hauling and make early recommendations so that some definite measures may be taken this summer.

Mr. McAdoo is strongly in favor of government building or subsidiary of barges and canal boats, and it is understood to be his intention to send large quantities of heavy freight over the country's inland waterways within a few months, or as soon as boats are available. This applies particularly to the Mississippi, Missouri, and Ohio rivers, the Erie, Chesapeake, and Ohio canals, and the Atlantic coastwise canals.

The new committee, which began its work immediately after being appointed, is headed by Maj. Gen. W. M. Black, chief of engineers of the army.

PLAN TO REFUSE COAL TO SOME ILLINOIS PLANTS

Board of Three Will Act to Meet Big Shortage.

THE SITUATION

The coal situation in Illinois is shown by the following figures, which are approximate, but as near correct as it is possible to make them:

	Tons.
Average present production, daily	150,000
Average now shipped out of state daily	50,000
Available daily for present consumption	100,000
Average daily consumption in state	200,000
Daily shortage of coal	100,000

These figures are based on 300 working days a year and are from estimates compiled by Clarion E. Allen, deputy fuel administrator for Illinois. Little coal is being shipped into Illinois from other states.

Acting on an order from Dr. Garfield, the fuel administration began work yesterday on a plan to withhold coal from Illinois industries in the nonpreferred class. With the daily normal consumption in the state estimated at 200,000 tons, the daily production at 100,000 tons, and no reserve on hand, it was pointed out that something would have to be done quickly to tide consumers over the present crisis in the coal situation.

Immediately after receiving the order from Dr. Garfield a meeting was called yesterday afternoon in the offices of the State Council of Defense. It was attended by John E. Williams, fuel administrator; Samuel Insull, chairman of the State Council; Levy Mayer, Victor Olander, Kellogg Fairbank, Towner K. Webster, Raymond E. Durham, John Berryman, Allen B. Pond, W. J. Jackson, E. H. Brewer, James F. McGregor, Earl D. Howard, Claxton E. Allen, and John H. Walker.

Committee to Rule.

It was decided to appoint a committee in whose hands should be placed the power of deciding which industries shall receive coal and which shall not. This committee probably will be made up of three members, although its size may be increased. Each of those who attended the meeting is to submit a name, and from these the committee will be selected.

"We decided that we prefer to adopt a flexible system rather than to attempt to lay down fiat rules which must cover all industries," said Mr. Williams after the meeting. "The committee probably will deal with individual cases and will take into consideration the amount of coal on hand and other factors in the situation.

"The general sentiment of the meeting was that if the present flow of coal keeps up, and the weather continues mild, we will not have many extreme cases to deal with. There is enough coal on cars to take care of the industries in Cook county. The committee will decide on its own method of procedure."

Shippers in Control.

The order from Dr. Garfield points out that under the present system the shippers are the ones who decide to whom they will send coal.

The Public Service company of Oak Park has announced to the users of the Yaryan system of heating that no higher temperature than 65 degrees will be maintained in the homes.

SUSPENSION OF HEATLESS DAY ORDER DELAYED

Garfield and McAdoo to Await Final Reports by States Today.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Suspension of the heatless Monday order, forecast for several days, was postponed tonight until tomorrow pending final reports from state fuel administrators and regional railroad officials on the coal and transportation situation.

The intention had been to revoke the order tonight, but at a conference today Fuel Administrator Garfield and Director General McAdoo decided it would be best to obtain the fullest information before acting. Neither official, however, feared that anything in the reports to come would make necessary a change in plans.

New England Shortage Acute.

About the only part of the country now giving officials concern is New England, where the coal shortage is said to be as acute as at any time in the last few weeks. It was indicated tonight that if J. J. Storrow, fuel administrator for New England, decides that Monday closing should be continued in the New England states nothing will be done to discourage him from issuing a special closing order for that section.

Other state fuel administrators have authority to issue special closing orders for their territory, but there were no indications tonight that they considered them necessary. Such orders would have to be referred to Washington for Dr. Garfield's approval.

Retain Preferential List.

The part of the closing order establishing a preferential list of consumers for coal distribution will be continued in force. Fuel administration officials believe its operation will go far towards solving the situation in the future. In effect this part of the order cuts off the coal supplies of many of the less essential industries, as there admittedly is not enough coal to go around.

war industries not included in the preferential distribution list, but permitted to operate during the recent five-day industrial shutdown, will form a second preferred list and will get coal after consumers on the first list are supplied.

New York Shortage at "Peak."

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The "peak" of the bituminous coal shortage for all the winter was reached today. This acute shortage comes just at the time when the shipping board, fuel and food administrations at Washington are urging a slowing down of all production of war orders to enable ship movements on the eastern seaboard to relieve congestion at the rail ends. For the first time this winter practically all the offices of the fuel administration in New York were closed—because there were no movements of soft coal at Jersey tidewater to engage their attention.

WILL SPEED UP LIBERTY MOTORS FOR AIR FLEET

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—All available parts of the Detroit plant of the Ford Motor company not now engaged in government war work soon will be devoted to high speed production of Liberty motors for American airplane fleets. The Detroit factory has been turning out cylinders and other engine parts for several months, but the new program disclosed today provides for wholesale production of the completed engines.

Recent tests of the Liberty motor indicate that a minimum of 400 horsepower can be expected from the new engines.

Facilities for giving American aviators advanced training abroad have been overtaxed to such an extent that it has been found advisable to fit the men for actual battle conditions at flying fields in America. Instruction in observation, bombing and combat work is being given the student flyers by pilots acquainted with the latest strategic developments in aerial warfare. After their arrival in France, it is planned to continue sending them across the lines in company with squadrons of experienced pilots in order to add the final touches to their training.

WHEAT ROLLING IN TO CITY TO EASE FLOUR SHORTAGE

Heads of the milling divisions of the United States food administration, who are in Chicago for a conference, are hopeful that the warm weather, easing transportation, will relieve the flour shortage in all parts of the nation. The conference is being held in the offices of B. A. Eckhart, chairman of the Chicago and Wisconsin division. James B. Bell of New York City is presiding.

Chicago may expect speedy relief, according to Mr. Eckhart. The snow and cold weather tied up many carloads of wheat, consigned to Chicago, on sidetracks in various parts of the country. These cars are now rolling towards Chicago.

Dr. B. R. Jacobs, dietetical chemist for the national food administration, will meet milling and baking chemists of Chicago at the Hotel La Salle on Friday and Saturday, when a campaign will be organized to explain to bakers just how to utilize substitutes in making the Victory loaf.

Popcorn Pops Up to 8 Cents a Bag in Evanston

Popcorn popped up to 8 cents a bag last night in Evanston. Little Willie's father had to add half fare to a jitney to make the youngster happy. Popcorn balls hung around 5 cents a whack, but they faded considerably. Seemed almost as if a food order had hit 'em. They were half their former size.

Dealers explained that unpopped corn now sells for $20 the 100 pounds, where before Christmas it was $5. Butter costs more, too. Therefore the jump in price.

Vermont Man Takes Folk's Place as I. C. C. Counsel

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—P. J. Farrell of Newport, Vermont, solicitor of the interstate commerce commission's bureau of valuation, was appointed chief counsel of the commission today to succeed Joseph W. Folk, who recently resigned to become counsel of the St. Louis chamber of commerce.

Bogus Collectors Get 'Tax' on Her Husband's Income

Announcing that they were income tax collectors, two men, one wearing the uniform of a soldier, after being admitted to the home of Mrs. Louise Niemice, 3748 South Wood street, yesterday afternoon questioned her as to her husband's income, inscribing the data on documents of legal appearance. She was told by the bogus collectors that she would be required to pay $25 and not having that amount in her possession they accepted $12.75 as a deposit.

Capt. Frank H. Cenfield Goes to France in 3 Days

Capt. Frank H. Cenfield now, who was acting head of the council committee on finance efficiency staff, wired the committee from Washington yesterday that he had been appointed a captain in the quartermaster's department, and that he was returning at once to Chicago. The captain said he would leave in three days for France.

Col. James Miles, head of the efficiency staff, has been an assistant to Herbert C. Hoover, federal food administrator, since the beginning of American entry into the European war.

KAISER PUT IN MIDDLE OF A BAD FIX BY RUSSIA

Germany Gains Little by End of War in the East, Say U. S. Experts.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—With the opening of the great campaign of 1918 on the western front apparently within sight, military men here examined today with profound interest the situation created by the signing of a peace pact between the central powers and the new Ukraine republic, and the decision of the Bolshevik Russian government to stop fighting and demobilize the army.

Their conclusions were not discouraging. These events on their face would appear to set free enormous German forces for the impending battle in the west and also to furnish new sources of food supply for the Teutonic allies, but many factors detract from the advantages the central powers may derive.

One of the threats against the western front dwelt upon in public discussion is the fact that presumably 1,500,000 prisoners of war held in Russia would be released to strengthen the German army. The fact is said to be, however, that the great majority of the soldiers captured by the Russians are Austrians, not available for western front operations by present indications.

Supplies Hard to Get.

There is doubt here also as to the extent to which the agricultural resources of the Ukraine or of Russia can be brought to the aid of the German people in the near future. Failure of the Russian transportation system worked in Germany's interest in undermining the fighting power of the Russian armies. The same agency now necessarily works against the central powers in its desire to get out food supplies.

Moreover, the best wheat regions which may be opened to the Germans are in a remote section of the Ukraine and in such poor condition that the agricultural system may have to be made over.

Demobilization of the Russian army will not mean that the Austro-German-Bulgar forces on the frontiers can be wholly withdrawn.

Trouble Ahead for Kaiser.

In fact, diplomatic observers say Germany is confronted with the most difficult and unprecedented problem she has met during the present war as a result of the declaration that Russia has abandoned hostilities without the signing of a peace treaty.

The refusal of the Russians to sign any treaties alienating the Russian western provinces, the diplomats point out, will leave the central powers without any legal claim to their possession. German and Austrian tenure will rest entirely upon the assertion of force, without recognition of international law, and consequently must be subject to the decision of whatever form of tribunal finally determines the basis of general peace.

Should Germany and Austria resolve to refuse to recognize the Bolsheviki decree as terminating the war without the confirmation of that action by a treaty in the usual form, their armies would be in the position of killing an unresisting and unarmed people, a proceeding regarded here as certain to cause trouble for the Teutonic governments with their people at home.

U. S. Relations Unchanged.

The United States never has recognized the Bolsheviki régime, and Russia's abandonment of the war will not alter existing relations. This was made clear at the state department today, where it also was stated that the formal signing of a peace treaty by the new government of the Ukraine could have no diplomatic effect so far as this government is concerned.

FIGHTING ON ITALIAN FRONT

1—Berlin reports lively firing all day on the Setth Communi front. The Austro-Hungarians drove the Italians from their positions on the southern slopes of Monte Sasso Rosso and captured six officers and 170 men.

2—Rome reports fighting on Monte Sasso Rosso and east of the Trenzela valley and claims that the enemy forces broke down under the Italian artillery fire.

OFFICIAL REPORTS ON ALL WAR FRONTS

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The night was marked by great activity on the part of French detachments.

North of the Ailette a bold raid carried out in the vicinity of Bouconville enabled the French to bring back twenty prisoners and two machine guns. In the Woevre the French made several successful incursions into the German lines. West of Renenauville 250 Germans were captured.

After a lively bombardment the Germans attempted to approach the French lines between Bezonvaux and Fosses wood. The attack, delivered by three detachments, was checked by the French fire, which inflicted losses on the enemy. Other German efforts in the Champagne, Woevre, and Vosges obtained no result.

BRITISH.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—A hostile raiding party attacked one of our posts last night northeast of Epehy, but was driven off by our fire.

Yesterday evening Manchester troops successfully raided German trenches west of La Bassee. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy at slight cost to ourselves and seven prisoners and a machine gun were captured.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—Front of Crown Prince Rupprecht and the German crown prince—There was artillery activity on many parts of the front south of St. Quentin, and on the east bank of the Meuse at the Caurieres wood infantry detachments made successful reconnaissances and brought back prisoners.

Front of Grand Duke Albrecht—Between Flirey and the Moselle the artillery and mine firing duel increased. It was especially violent in the neighborhood of Renenauville.

AVIATION.

The enemy made thirty-one air attacks on German territory during January. Fifteen of this number were made on the Lorraine and Luxembourg industrial districts.

The towns raided included Ludwighaven, Freiburg, Trier [Treves], Friedrichshaven, Rastatt, Offenburg, Mannheim, and Karlsruhe.

Although the number of attacks compared with those of the previous month was considerably increased owing to the favorable weather, the damage and losses fortunately were smaller. Five persons were killed and nine wounded. The material damage was insignificant. There was no interruption of work worth mentioning.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

ROME, Feb. 12.—The increased fighting activity continued yesterday morning on the southern slopes of Monte Sasso Rosso and east of the Frenzela valley. The enemy pushed forward important infantry forces, which were located in good time and decimated by our artillery so that they could not develop any important action. In the afternoon the situation was normal again.

On the rest of the front there were patrol encounters, enemy patrols being put to flight in Vallarsa and in the Ornic valley. At Zenson a hostile party, attempting to land on the right bank of the Piave, was driven back into the water by our artillery fire. East of Cortellazo our brave sailors in reconnoitering expeditions captured arms and ammunition.

On the Asiago plateau and along the coast there was increased activity on the part of the artilleries. One of our airmen shot down an enemy airplane.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—There was lively firing all day on the Sette Communi plateau. The Austro-Hungarians attacked and cleared enemy support positions on the southern slopes of Sasso Rosso, capturing six officers and 170 men.

RUSSO-ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—The military situation on the great Russian and Roumanian fronts is unchanged.

PATROL FIGHTS GROW FIERCER ON WEST FRONT

Both French and British Harry Lines as Foe Assembles Men.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The military activity on the western front is daily increasing in volume. The patrol encounters are being carried out by larger parties than for several months.

The British near Epehy and La Bassee have conducted incursions into the enemy positions, in the latter region inflicting numerous casualties on their antagonists and also taking prisoners and machine guns.

North of the Ailette river and in the Woevre sector the French have made successful attacks which resulted in the capture of nearly 300 prisoners. A somewhat ambitious attack by the Germans in the Verdun sector was put down by the French with severe casualties.

U. S. Patrols Active.

Between the Americans and the Germans there is a constant change of artillery fire, and the Americans continue to carry out patrolling maneuvers toward the enemy trenches. The Germans evidently are anxious to gauge the positions occupied by the Americans and also to ascertain the number of men they are employing, for daily their aircraft are hovering over the lines taking photographs and making observations. Anti-aircraft guns several times have driven off the enemy.

Although the increase in the activity along the entire front in France and Belgium is noticeable, there is no indication as yet when the Germans will begin their much heralded general offensive. A German captured by the British says that at least one big attack is due to begin some time in March. Meanwhile large concentrations of fresh troops daily are arriving behind the German line and carrying out practice maneuvers.

On Italian Front.

On the Italian front the Austrians again have endeavored to test the strength of the Italians in the Sette Communi plateau sector. The German war office asserts that the Austrians carried out a most successful attack here.

The Italian official communication, however, declares the Austrian columns were torn to pieces by the Italian artillery as they tried to gain the southern slopes of Monte Sasso Rosso and other positions, and that the offensive was completely repulsed.

HUNGRY KAISER

While Dickering for Peace with Ukraine, Germans Organize to Push Raid on Vast Food Supply.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 12.—The Frankfurter Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, announces the formation of an imports syndicate with a board of officials made up of trade specialists. The syndicate will have a capital of 600,000 marks and has been organized for the purpose of distributing imports of Ukrainian iron ore, oil, flax and wheat among German consumers.

It also will organize a system of German exports into the Ukraine. The newspaper says the syndicate was secretly formed with a view to the coming peace with the Ukraine.

German and Russian delegates at Petrograd, according to a dispatch from Berlin, have signed an agreement calling for the earliest possible repatriation of prisoners of war unfit for military service. Owing to transportation difficulties in Russia, considerable delays are expected.

Red Guard Seeks Peace.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 12.—The Red guard of Finland, which attempted to overthrow the government, is reported by the Dagens Nyheter to have asked Gen. Mannerheim, leader of the White guard, which is supporting the government, to consider peace negotiations. Refugees from Helsingfors report that two of the Red guard leaders, M. Helpalainen, minister of the interior in the revolutionary cabinet, and M. Sirola, foreign minister, have been shot by the White guard.

U. S. TO CARRY MAIL BY AERO NEXT SUMMER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Establishment of an airplane mail service between Washington, Philadelphia and New York during the coming summer was indicated today when the postoffice department called for bids on five airplanes for that service.

The service will begin with one round trip a day and later may be expanded. First class mail only will be carried at the outset of the service. The bids will be opened Feb. 21 and the airplanes are to be delivered not later than April 25 this year.

"It is not the purpose of the postoffice department to make this an experimental service," Postmaster General Burleson announced. "Its practicability is to be assured before the establishment of the route. Once established it is to remain a permanent service."

Congress has appropriated $100,000 for use in establishing aerial mail service. Each airplane will be required to carry 300 pounds of mail a distance of not less than 200 miles without stop at a maximum speed with full load of 100 miles an hour.

UNIVERSAL WAR SERVICE BILL UP TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The issue of universal military training will soon be before the senate for discussion, Senator New of Indiana having injected it into pending draft legislation in the form of an amendment today to the bill providing for registration of all citizens who have become 21 years of age since June 5.

The proposed amendment would require all youths to register when they reach the age of 19 years to be trained without liability for service until 21 years old, when they would become automatically liable to the draft.

The Indiana senator proposes to get a showdown in the senate on the issue which has so long been under legislative agitation.

Ship Firm Plans to Lay 50 Keels Before April 1

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—George J. Baldwin, chairman of the Board of the American International Shipbuilding corporation, which has contracts for the construction of ships for the Emergency Fleet corporation, told the senate commerce committee today the company expected to lay fifty keels during February and March.

U. S. IN CHARGE OF WAR ON VICE; POLICE GIVE AID

Six Test Cases to Decide Fate of Resorts Inside Deadline.

The federal government is directly behind the present wholesale vice cleanup in Chicago and is guiding and controlling the attack. This fact became known yesterday when Lieut. W. H. Schoemaker, in charge of the morals squad, took offices in Hinton G. Clabaugh's suite in the federal building.

Mr. Clabaugh also admitted that the crusade had been brought about by a federal order promulgated Jan. 17, under section 13 of the selective draft act which gives the federal government power to establish zones. The secretary of the navy and the secretary of war, he admitted, are directly behind the action.

Strict enforcement of the order means that a zone with a radius of five miles, with the Northwestern railroad station as its center, and bounded by Thirty-fifth street on the south, Irving Park boulevard on the north, and Kentoh avenue on the west, will be swept clean of vice. The Northwestern station is, by the order, held a "naval post" because of the restrooms and headquarters for jackies maintained there.

Resorts Breed Disease.

The campaign is to blot out and destroy breeding places of disease in Chicago which have become a menace to the health of boys in the army and navy. One individual underworld renegade, which has made a business of enticing boys from Great Lakes, by the confessions of the boys themselves, originated twenty-five cases of serious disease, it is claimed.

With this menace recognized the cleanup was ordered to stamp out the infected areas and give the young men physical and moral protection. Six test cases are to be brought following the hundreds of arrests made, and on them will hang the fate of all those taken.

Test Cases Selected.

Four of these are:

NEW CENTRAL HOTEL, 35 South Clark street, Joseh Farris proprietor. Mrs. Dolly Farris, his wife, and Abe Lobell, clerk, arrested and held under $2,500 bonds. Farris and Decatur Johnson, bellman, being sought on warrants.

APARTMENT, 119 West Illinois street. Sadie Cummings and Florence Brown arrested, held under $2,500 bond each; taken to county jail.

APARTMENT, 10 West Grand avenue. Florence Wallace and Helen Ferguson arrested, held under $2,500 bond each; taken to county jail.

APARTMENT, 644 North Clark street. Martin Schultz and his wife, Anna, arrested; held under $2,500 bond each; Schultz recently figured in "dope" case and his wife in charges of selling liquor to soldiers.

The penalty, according to government officials, is one year in jail and a fine of $1,000. Charles F. Clyne, U. S. district attorney, personally took charge of the prosecutions, selected the cases to be taken up first, and is prepared to follow out the official orders from Washington.

Women Sent to Jail.

When two or three dozen men and women were ordered to jail last night there was weeping and wailing and hysterics in the federal building. Government investigators report that in some of the doubtful hotels investigated it was found that "fake baggage" was kept in the offices to be "loaned" to visitors to make them appear as "regular hotel guests."

In one or two of the raids men were taken, it was said last night, who figure prominently in business and have good social connections. It was said that a couple of these men live in the Gold Coast district and will be compelled to act as witnesses.

VANDERLIP, ILL FROM WAR TASK, LEAVES CAPITAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank of New York, and "dollar a year" man in the treasury department, has broken down under the strain of war work and gone to California to recuperate. The length of his absence from Washington will depend entirely upon the progress of his recovery.

Criticism of his methods of conducting the war savings fund work is said by some persons to be the cause of Mr. Vanderlip's leaving here. It was stated that in the first two months of the campaign the total fund raised was $40,000,000, or a rate of $240,000,000 a year, while the goal set was a billion dollars.

Treasury officials denied that there was any justice in criticism of Mr. Vanderlip or any justification for reports that he has severed his connections with the treasury war fund campaigns. They insist Mr. Vanderlip has been a sick man for weeks, that he narrowly escaped an attack of pneumonia, and that his trip to California is solely for the benefit of his health.

FARMER DRAFT IS OVER UNTIL PLANTING ENDS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—No more farmers will be drafted until after spring planting is over, Secretary of War Baker told Representative Haugen of Iowa today when he presented appeals of the middle west for more farm workers. The secretary was told that the situation was getting so serious because of a shortage of labor that the production would be decreased 25 to 35 per cent below normal unless relief is furnished.

CHILD DIES OF BURNS.

Burned several days ago while playing about a stove in her home, 1422 Augusta street, little Anna Portika, 2½ years old, died at the county hospital yesterday.

PRAIRIE TROOPS SMASH RECORDS FOR INSURANCE

Camp Logan, Houston, Tex., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Prairie division has completed its first battle with a complete and glorious victory. It was the battle of war risk insurance. It was fought in every regiment in the division and in every unit in the camp. Early reports from Washington to the division insurance officer indicate that this division will stand far in advance of any when the final reports come in.

With some units to be heard from the insurance officer reports a total of $305,000,000 for the camp and $227,132,000 for the division. Every one is more than pleased with this showing and with the complete returns tomorrow Gen. Bell feels sure that this camp will far outrank the others.

The percentage of insured men has been so increased in the last week that any other camp will have to have a 100 per cent record to beat it. The percentage is now 99. The average policy throughout the division is more than $9,800. The maximum policy is $10,000.

129th infantry—2,926 men insured	$29,260,000
131st infantry—3,104 men insured	29,719,000
133d infantry—2,948 men insured	29,654,000
130th infantry—2,703 men insured	26,359,000
108th engineers—1,730 men insured	23,667,000
123d field artillery—1,706 men insured	17,041,500
103th ammunition train—1,532 men insured	14,555,500
	11,024,000

Two new chaplains arrived in camp today and were assigned. Father Edward Rice, a Roman Catholic priest of Chicago, was assigned to the One Hundred and Twenty-second field artillery, Col. Milton J. Foreman's regiment. Father Garrard, also of the Roman Catholic church, was assigned to the sanitary trains.

TRIES TO DODGE TRENCHES WITH POTATO PLEA

Many odd excuses for claiming exemption from the draft are being made at the final hearings by local boards. One man said he was the sole support of his widowed mother and when his case was boiled down it was found that the only thing he contributes to her support is a bushel of potatoes every month.

Another man appealed from his classification on agricultural grounds. He said he was a farmer and that he was of more value raising farm products than he would be in the army. Investigation showed him to be the possessor of a half acre truck garden.

Several boards have sent out notices of final classification prior to the rendering of the verdicts of the appeal boards in cases submitted to them. The appeal boards have had to order a number of these notifications canceled. Persons receiving such notifications should go to their local boards and ask to see their questionnaires.

COURT MARTIAL, POSSIBLY DEATH, FOR RESISTERS

Camp Dodge, Ia., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Court martial trials of eight St. Paul draft resisters brought to the camp on Saturday under an armed guard, and inducted into service in the Three Hundred and Fifty-first infantry, will start at once.

The eight men—A. S. Broms, G. Johnson, A. W. Carlson, R. Carlson, W. Troessler, M. Kamman, M. Unger, and C. W. Johnson—gave St. Paul federal authorities much trouble during the fall and winter. They were finally interned at Fort Snelling, then removed to Des Moines last week under guard of half a dozen men.

Since their arrival here they have refused to obey orders of commanding officers. "Disobedience of orders is punishable by death, and the least penalty meted out at a court martial in a similar case at Camp Dodge has been fifteen years' imprisonment.

CAMP GRANT MEN HELD MORE FIT THAN IF ABROAD

Are Better Trained than Those at Front, Says Barry Aid.

Camp Grant, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Lieut. Col. Roger S. Fitch, division chief of staff, returned to the command today to find that men of the Eighty-sixth division are making more military progress under identical weather and ground conditions than the fighting men he inspected recently in Flanders fields.

Gets Report on Work.

Gen. Barry's right hand man received detailed reports of the division's work during his absence and expressed genuine delight in the unswerving march toward unit efficiency that has made blizzards and floods assets rather than detriments.

To make the comparison strong, Chicago infantrymen under Brig. Gen. Martin marched to the range and took their firing positions through waist high mud and water while the trench detail worked like beavers to repair the cave-ins similar to those on the western front.

Chicago Sergeant Back.

Col. Fitch was accompanied to camp by Regimental Sergeant Major Leonard Rosen of Chicago, who made the overseas tour of inspection with Gen. Barry's party. Everything is in readiness for the welcome of the division chief, who will resume command here this week.

Two Deaths Reported.

Private Glenn H. Davis died at base hospital last night of pneumonia. He was 24 years old, single, and his home was in Centerville, Ia.

First Lieutenant George J. Brand of Lafayette, Ill., died of pneumonia yesterday at Fort Sill, Okla., according to a message to relatives here. He was a son of John J. Brand of Rockford.

THRIFT STAMPS AS VALENTINES IS WAR SUGGESTION

Thrift stamps will make good valentines and will have a double purpose. They will aid the government to win the war and at the same time will be more acceptable than the highly colored cards usually sent as remembrances for St. Valentine's day.

One of the old subscribers to THE TRIBUNE made this suggestion last night.

"I am sending thrift stamps for valentines to my grandchildren," he said. "The children will prize these more than a fluffy valentine. Why not have all the persons to be remembered with valentines sent thrift stamps instead?"

Prizes and patriotism don't mix, in the opinion of Chicago letter carriers, 90 per cent of whom are said to be represented by a committee that yesterday waited upon L. D. Waddell, manager of the war savings committee for Cook county, and presented him with a letter anent his plan of cash rewards for those mailmen making the best showing in the sale of thrift stamps.

"We entered this work upon the suggestion of our department heads, but we are free to confess that since the press has published statements that we are to be paid for our efforts by the proposed system of prize offerings, the real and true incentive for the pushing of the distribution of thrift stamps was immediately divorced from our campaign," the letter reads in part.

The letter bears the signatures of 1,683 mail carriers.

Surgeon at Camp Grant to Wed Kansan Today

A romance of more than two years' duration will result today in the marriage of Miss Mercedes Blackledge to Lieut. L. J. Palmer, former head interne at St. Luke's hospital in the chapel at Camp Grant. While an interne at the Cook county hospital Lieut. Palmer met Miss Blackledge, who was at that time attending the Columbia College of Expression. Upon completion of her course Miss Blackledge returned to the home of her parents in Caney, Kas. Lieut. Palmer spent his Christmas furlough in Kansas.

$268,650,000 ASKED FOR NEW ARMY PLANTS

Senate Told Plans for Erection of Vast Projects.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Many new construction projects for the army, including munition plants, ordnance depots, storage plants, port terminals, hospitals, aviation work, cantonments, and housing were disclosed in a statement given the senate military committee today by the war department. The work will cost a total of $268,650,000.

The statement shows that $37,000,000 will be spent in building a gas making plant at Edgewood, N. J., while forty interior storage depots to cost an aggregate of $30,000,000 are to be erected at unnamed points. On aviation work, including a new cantonment, the location of which was not given, $46,000,000 will be expended.

Ordnance depots are to be built on the South Atlantic coast and at "some seaport" at a cost of $4,000,000 each and one on the middle Atlantic coast at a cost of $6,000,000. An ammunition depot at "some seaport" is to cost $7,500,000 and a like sum is to be expended for an ordnance depot in central Pennsylvania.

$13,800,000 for Hospitals.

Hospitals for soldiers suffering from tuberculosis are to be built at Denver, Colo., and Asheville, N. C., at a cost of $500,000 each and $12,800,000 is to be spent on hospitals at thirty-two army training camps.

A division cantonment for the regular army is to cost $3,000,000, but its location was not given. It may take the place of the regular army training camp at Charlotte, N. C., which has to be abandoned.

Eight millions will be spent on a port terminal at Boston, Mass., and $10,000,000 on a similar terminal at Charleston, S. C. Two millions are provided for three powder loading points at sites not yet selected.

Total Costs $400,000,000.

For housing for the shipping board to relieve congestion in shipyard communities, the department plans to expend $35,000,000. This will represent a part of the $50,000,000 for this purpose provided in a bill which passed the house today.

Brig. Gen. Littell, in charge of cantonment division and other construction jobs, also submitted statements to the committee showing that, in addition to the new work, his bureau has charge of construction now in progress calling for an expenditure of $135,900,000, making the total for present and future work $404,550,000.

HAYWOOD FREED ON $15,000 BOND OVER U. S. PLEA

Government Fears He Will Become Active as an I. W. W. Agent.

William D. Haywood, international secretary of the I. W. W., and recognized as its guiding spirit, was released yesterday under $15,000 bond. He had been in jail since Sept. 28. Judge Landis permitted the reduction of the bond from $25,000.

The bond was signed by George W. Kohler, 9236 Commercial avenue; Jacob Brunning and his wife, Catherine, 4243 Lowell avenue, and William Bross Lloyd, capitalist and Socialist.

"I'll take a chance," was Judge Landis' comment in granting Haywood's release, after District Attorney Clyne and Frank K. Nebeker, special assistant attorney general, had opposed the action, declaring that Haywood, once out of jail, would at once renew his anti-government activities.

Court Bound by Facts.

Judge Landis outlined his position in granting Haywood's freedom by remarking:

"I cannot take into consideration the fact that Haywood, if released, would tour the country in an offensive campaign against the government as represented by the federal attorneys. However, I have considered that as a possibility in this case. I am not permitted as a judge to take cognizance of that fact in fixing a bond. Should this be the circumstance, it may be considered in the fixing of other bonds when application is made by other members of this organization."

Haywood, pale from long confinement, after signing his name to the bond in presence of bailiffs and the clerk of the court, was given his freedom in the federal building. A little group of admirers and I. W. W. members waited for him in the lobby downstairs.

Tells of I. W. W. "Tension."

George F. Vanderveer, counsel for the I. W. W., in pleading for Haywood's release, hinted that "something" might happen if the plea was denied, saying:

"Your honor, the freedom of William D. Haywood, regarded as a hero by his fellow members, will relieve a certain tension. It has been felt by various of the I. W. W. members and sympathizers throughout the country that justice has not been done. This, your honor, is not intended as a threat.

"The I. W. W. could stop industrial progress in this country. Instead they have shown a desire to aid in the carrying on of the industries of the country since the beginning of the war."

Seeks Martyrdom, Charge.

Attorney Nebeker reviewed the contents of the indictment against Haywood which charge him with obstructing the government's conduct of the war against Germany. Then he added:

"This man does not want his freedom. He wants to hold himself out as a martyr."

Haywood, after visiting the I. W. W. headquarters at 1001 West Madison street, apparently vanished. At the headquarters it was said he would see no one for the next two days.

Cavalry Regiment Will Be Formed at Fort Sheridan

One of the new cavalry regiments which the war department has decided to send to France to be ready to ride after the fleeing Germans when their lines are finally broken will be organized and drilled at Fort Sheridan.

This was revealed yesterday when orders were sent to Col. E. A. Hickman, now in charge of the third officers' training camp at Camp Grant to proceed to Fort Sheridan, there to organize and take command of the Three Hundred and Twelfth United States cavalry.

Col. Guy G. Palmer, in charge of the Eighty-sixth division infantry school, was appointed to take Col. Hickman's place at Camp Grant.

amendment to the federal constitution was approved in very definite terms.

Particular interest was wedded to the Roosevelt telegram when it was reported to the national committee by Chairman Hemenway of the resolutions committee. Mr. Hemenway read it with feeling. The telegram follows:

"We, the representatives of the Republican party, in duly constituted official conference assembled, send you in this hour of pain and shadow, the tribute of our gratitude and affection. We take courage and strength from your example in constant counsel for preparedness against aggression by land and sea, and in fearless maintenance of American honor in the face of all mankind. We fervently pray for your speedy return to perfect health and strength as a power for national self respect and international righteousness that cannot be spared."

Women Scold and Praise.

The representatives of the National Association Against Women's Suffrage, Lucy J. Price and Minnie Bronson of New York, openly charged the national committee with having acted in bad faith and with having broken the pledges of the 1916 platform. Abbie Scott Baker and Mrs. Francis Whitney, for the suffragists, gave to the Republican party full credit for the strategy that had forced the Democrats into line for the amendment.

The resolution reported by Chairman Hemenway of the resolutions committee demanding that the best available talent and authority in the nation, without regard to political affiliation, be employed in directing the prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion, was adopted unanimously without comment.

After this the committee went into executive session to consider a contest over the national committeeship from Mississippi between M. J. Mulvihill, white, and Perry W. Howard, a Negro. The debate continued for two hours. Mulvihill was seated by a vote of 25 to 24 when the showdown came.

Thompson's Resolution.

The resolutions offered by Mayor Thompson follow:

"WHEREAS: Our American history proves that government is best administrated through representation by political parties, advocating definite policies and principles, and answerable directly to the people for the fidelity and integrity of the agents lawfully chosen to carry out the expressed will of the majority; and,

"WHEREAS: It is the right of every American citizen, guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, to exercise freedom of speech, to have the liberty of a free press, to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and to enjoy the right of free assembly for the peaceable discussion of their lawful rights and to petition their government or those charged with its administration; and,

"WHEREAS: In the effective system of checks and balances provided by our national constitution and its amendments, the right of the people thereunder are safeguarded through the establishment of three coördinate branches of government—legislative, executive and judicial—and to maintain these rights separate powers are delegated to each branch so that neither may intrude upon or assume to appropriate the function of the other; and,

"WHEREAS: It is the exclusive power of the congress to declare war for and upon behalf of the government of the United States and all its people and to raise and support armies, but as a restraint upon this power the constitution expressly limits the life of appropriations of money to that use for a term not to exceed two years with the manifest intention of vesting in the people the final voice as to the wisdom and purposes of their own conflicts and policies relating thereto, now; therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, by the Republican national committee, That the influence of this body be exerted upon behalf of the American people in the approaching congressional elections that they may be upheld in their proper freedom to discuss the objects of the existing war, the completeness of preparation and equipment, the efficiency of its conduct, the adequateness of national defenses, the expense in men and money confronting them and the terms upon which they are willing to conclude a just, honorable and enduring peace; and,

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Republican national committee urges upon the members of its party all over the nation the nomination of Republican candidates for the national senate and house of representatives in every state and congressional district where elections are to be held so that the American people, the sovereigns of this republic, may have opportunity to vote with the highest intelligence and patriotism upon the vital issues before them; and,

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That it appeal to all Republicans to stand firm in their faith and that to all people, in peace or at war, it points to the stability of government resting upon the consent of the governed, administered according to time honored and time tested Republican principles; and,

ENEMY ALIENS!

All Unnaturalized Germans Who Have Not Registered by Tonight Will Be Interned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Unnaturalized Germans, who do not register with the police or postmasters by tomorrow night, will be subject to internment for the war, the department of justice explained today in a final warning to those subject to registration. The time was extended from last Saturday to allow the enrollment of farmers in the west, who could not get to town during the bad weather.

Reports today indicated that many Germans remained unregistered in eastern cities, where the department had been particularly anxious to obtain a full census of enemy aliens who might prove dangerous.

United States marshals and government agents will investigate each case of failure to register and it is probable that those who deliberately refused to record themselves will be sent immediately to internment camps.

ADAMS' LETTER MADE A WEAPON AGAINST AUTHOR

Shows How He Asked Aid for Kaiser at Start of the War.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The blow that was directed at the candidacy of John T. Adams of Iowa for chairman of the national committee was dealth when United States Senator William M. Calder of New York produced before the executive committee of the national committee, the copy of a letter purporting to have been written from Berlin by Mr. Adams. Mr. Adams does not deny the authenticity of the letter.

Senator Calder also produced the copy of a call for a massmeeting that was held in Dubuque after the Lusitania disaster, and Mr. Adams' name was signed to the call. Patrick H. O'Donnell of Chicago addressed this massmeeting. The sentiment expressed at the massmeeting was that neutrals should be barred from traveling on ships carrying munitions.

Letter Sent from Berlin.

The text of the Adams letter, as read by Senator Calder, follows:

"Berlin, Aug. 31, 1914.—Editor Telegraph-Herald, Dubuque, Ia.—Dear Sir: I am mailing you today through our ambassador a copy of the 'German White Book' and 'Truth About Germany.' As America has been flooded with lying and misleading reports from London, Paris, and St. Petersburg, I would like to see some of these articles, which present the situation from the German standpoint published in the Telegraph-Herald.

"I would like to write a chapter myself on the causes of this horrible war, but this letter may not reach its destination. I will make the assertion, however, that there are no more peace loving people in the world than the Germans, from the kaiser himself to the humblest citizen, and there are no people who have progressed farther in all that is best in culture and civilization.

"Britain Jealous of Germany."

"But Germany in recent years has surpassed all other countries in Europe in prosperity, and she has interfered with the foreign commerce of Great Britain. This is really her great crime, and this is the principal reason why the small war party in England, headed by that archhypocrite, Sir Edward Grey, has nursed the anti-German sentiment among the 'bloody shirt' politicians of France and the degenerate aristocracy of Russia. This is the reason why Sir Edward Grey, while making a few plays to the galleries in behalf of peace, was actually working twenty-four hours a day to make certain the outbreak of hostilities.

"It is now perfectly clear to all of us who have been living in Germany that when Russia and France were secretly planning to make Austria's determination to punish the Serbian assassins the occasion for a sudden attack on the German borders, these two countries were given adequate assurances that England would support them.

"Intended to Invade Belgium."

"That France has intended to march her troops through Belgian territory in order to flank the right wing of the German army and that she was to do so with the knowledge and approval of England is absolutely certain, and that Belgium was a party to the understanding is highly probable.

"When Germany crossed the Belgian border first, that was England's excuse for declaring war, but not her reason. She had already decided that this was the opportunity to restore her commercial supremacy by helping France and Russia destroy the German empire.

"But they will not destroy the German empire. The hostile preparations which have been going on in France and Russia for several years have been too evident and too threatening for Germany to ignore, so they have prepared themselves, and the good people of Germany will successfully defend their homes and maintain their right to live and prosper against the whole gang of devilish conspirators who have forced the innocent masses of Russia, France, and England to fight against them.

"Yours truly, J. T. ADAMS."

FREE WORLD AS LINCOLN FREED US, NEGROES CRY

Rock the Coliseum with Shouts of Loyalty to the Nation.

BY MARGERY CURREY.

"God has no rival. The kaiser, who declared that he ruled on earth as God rules above, will become a modern Nebuchadnezzar and will go out to eat grass. God will change the map of the world, and he has seen fit that Negroes shall have a hand in helping to bring freedom to the millions who are making the fight."

In was this sentence, uttered by the Rev. Charles T. Walker of Atlanta, Ga., known as "the Black Spurgeon," that was greeted by shouts of "Get the spirit!" "World without end!" from every part of the Coliseum, into which 12,000 Negroes crowded last night to celebrate Lincoln's birthday and commemorate the work of Frederick Douglass, under the auspices of the National Security League of Chicago. With notables of the army, church, and civil life seated on the platform and absorbed in his speech the noted orator of the south delivered a characteristic "old time" speech.

To Capture Berlin.

"If you don't help the allies to do something to the Germans you're helping the Germans to do something to you," shouted the preacher. "From the beginning of American history the Negro has had an honorable place in her annals. He has fought in every conflict from Bunker Hill down through San Juan hill and the Mexican engagements—and he will help to hoist Old Glory over the ramparts of France and carry it into Berlin!"

The shouting of the 12,000 was continuous, like the roar on a nearby battlefield.

Never was "America," sung by a chorus of 500 and led by Prof. J. A. Moady with a huge striped baton which he carried up and down with rhythmic leaps and swayings, given a more emotional and impressive rendering. Some of the shouts that are rarely heard except in the camp meetings of the far south leaped from leaders of the chorus, and the entire assemblage joined in with emphasis that almost rocked the building.

Bishop Fallows, dressed in his civil war uniform, pronounced the invocation. Maj. Gen. Barry, just returned from France, read greetings from Secretary of War Newton D. Baker.

Victory Only Thought.

"All along the line of the allies, from the sea to Switzerland, there is but one thought, 'Victory,' declared Gen. Barry later. "Peace there shall be—but victory first."

A telegram of greeting was read from Gov. Lowden. Three companies of the Three Hundred and Sixty-fifth United States infantry marched into the Coliseum, led by Capt. A. E. Patterson, who had brought them from Camp Grant. At the end of the meeting they were presented with a regimental flag by R. S. Abbott of the Chicago Defender, a Negro paper.

The Rev. A. J. Carey was chairman of the meeting, which was opened by H. H. Merrick, president of the Chicago branch of the National Security league. On the platform were Cyrus Hall McCormick, Samuel Insull, who spoke for the State Council of Defense; Gen. Sir Walter Lawrence of the British army, Miss Kathleen Wheeler, the sculptor, and many other members and friends of the Negro.

Meeting Climax of Day.

The Coliseum meeting, which was known as the Lincoln-Douglas patriotic celebration, marked the climax of a day laden with significance for all Americans. One of the impressive meetings was that at Memorial hall under the auspices of the G. A. R.

"Our duty today," said Bishop Charles P. Anderson, the principal speaker, "is to take new allegiance to the principles for which the great emancipator stood—government for the people, of the people, and by the people."

Tells History of Hall.

Edmund A. Cummings, president of the Memorial Association of Illinois, spoke on the history of the Memorial hall and the uses to which it is proper to put it. A musical program was given by Miss Jennie F. W. Johnson, Mrs. Edna McDevitt Ross, and Miss Katherine T. Whitefield.

James Edgar Brown spoke before the Daughters of Veterans, Betsy Ross tent, in Palmer park field house. He said:

"Perhaps the greatest tribute that has ever been paid to Abraham Lincoln is the fact the American people find time to pause for a day in the midst of the great world conflict to do honor to his memory."

The school children of Winnetka gave a pageant yesterday at the Skokie school, Winnetka, illustrating important events in the life of Abraham Lincoln. It was part of the Illinois centennial pageants, to be given in March.

Convicts Celebrate Day.

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Fifteen hundred convicts in the penitentiary celebrated Lincoln's birthday today with a musical program at the prison chapel.

HUNS FREE HER

Oak Park Girl Detained by German Government for Several Months Has Obtained Permission to Leave for America.

Miss Blanche Slocum.

MISS BLANCHE SLOCUM of Oak Park, a protégé of Mary Garden, has obtained permission to leave Germany after being detained as a virtual prisoner of the imperial government for several months. The information was conveyed to her father, E. B. Slocum, in a cablegram received yesterday from the American consul general at Zurich, Switzerland.

Passports were obtained for Miss Slocum and arrangements made for her return to the United States soon after this country entered the war last April. Miss Slocum had been studying music in Berlin for four years. Suddenly the passports were revoked, and the only explanation government officials would give was that she was under suspicion. Her final release was brought about by a wealthy Munich family, who had interested themselves in her case.

Miss Slocum wrote her father that she will have "many interesting things to tell you when I arrive."

City Employes Grumble; Work on Lincoln Birthday

There was quite a bit of quiet grumbling among city hall employes yesterday. For the first time in several years the building was not closed in observance of Lincoln's birthday. The city council finance committee has established a rule that hereafter the building will not be closed except on national holidays.

LINCOLN'S NAME 'FLAMING TORCH' TO GUIDE IN WAR

Speakers Honor Memory of Martyred Patriot at Burial Place.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Homage to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, born just 109 years ago, had its greatest expression today in Springfield, the last resting place of the martyred president.

Under the lash of war the exercises this year took a popular turn. Instead of the exclusive banquet of former occasions, two mass meetings were held—one in the afternoon and the other tonight, in the state arsenal.

At tonight's celebration T. P. O'Connor aroused great enthusiasm when he declared the name of Lincoln to be a "flaming torch" firing the patriotism of every American, whether at home or facing death on the battlefields of Europe.

His Love of Liberty.

"What was the first and most fundamental of Lincoln's convictions? Was it not passionate love of liberty and passionate hatred of slavery? Is there any difference in essentials between the enslavement of the Negro and such enslavement as Germany today preaches in her gospel of world domination and practices while her sinister mastery lasts in Belgium, France, and Serbia, as her bloodstained partner does in the plains and mountains of Armenia?

"Today, as Lincoln said, two principles stand face to face and ever will continue to struggle—the common right of humanity and the divine right of kings."

Recalls Old Memories.

Historic memories were recalled by Hugh S. Magill Jr., director of the Illinois centennial celebration, who was in charge of today's ceremonies.

"It was fifty-seven years ago yesterday that Illinois gave Lincoln to our nation, at that time rent with fierce dissension," he said. "His one great passion was to save the union, for he knew it was the world's last hope of free government."

Declaring that between Canada and the United States there is an "essential and fundamental unity," and that the bond is democracy, of which Abraham Lincoln exemplifies the "finest type," William Renwick Riddell, justice of the Supreme court of Ontario, spoke warmly of the friendship between Canada and America, deepened by the association growing out of war tasks, and declared his belief that the influence of Abraham Lincoln had acted as a mighty inspiration to the allied nations in the struggle for democracy.

Wigwam Delegate There.

A feature of the afternoon celebration was the appearance of Addison G. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mich., said to be the only living delegate to the Wigwam convention which nominated Lincoln for president in 1860.

A great chorus of school children sang patriotic airs during the ceremonies.

Maj. Shutan, Philippine Veteran, Safe Overseas

News of the safe arrival overseas of Maj. William H. Shutan was received yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Kalman Shutan, 2319 North Kedzie boulevard.

Soldiering is not a new occupation with Maj. Shutan, he having served as a member of the United States constabulary in the Philippines for eighteen years. At the outbreak of the war he was given a transfer into aviation, in which branch he was appointed instructor.

Maj. Shutan is 36 years old.

END POLITICAL STRIFE TO WIN, SAYS M'CORMICK

Talents of All Parties Needed During War, He Declares.

Disregard of all political differences and personal animosities in all matters connected with the war, was emphatically urged last night by Congressman Medill McCormick.

In an address at the Lincoln celebration of the Buena Shore club, he told of his experience in Europe last fall; and of the lessons he drew from what he saw and heard, the most emphasized was the necessity for non-political conduct of the war.

"Across the seas," he said, "they were divided before the war by political differences more venomous than any we have known since the civil conflict in the sixties; but the fires of a new patriotism, kindled by the awful struggle, have fused old hatreds into a common labor and fast coöperation.

Political Strife Ended.

"Men embittered by years of personal and political strife have put aside all bitterness to sit at one council table, there to apportion among them without jealousy the tasks that must be done.

"In democracies governments reflect the sober sense, the energy and the courage of the people who select them. The voice of the people of Italy, France, England, in louder tones and even more imperative, demanded that the genius and leadership of the land be summoned to share in the government at Rome, Paris, London, there to muster the forces of the nation to the conflict.

"This must we do in America in order to mobilize and to direct the industrial and military forces of the greatest of all democracies. Our decisions, our promised successes, must not be stillborn like so many of those of our friends across the sea. Idealism, democracy, great plans, will go for nothing unless they be supported by force and action.

Let All Do Share.

"Let each of us contribute of his energy and let each, accordig to his own conscience, speak out his measured opinion to the end that his government may act and greatly do before it is too late."

Congressman McCormick also emphasized the meaning to the United States of Russia's withdrawal from the war.

"'Our anvil is gone,' the greatest of the active commanders among the allies said to me, 'To disintegrate the enemy forces without it we shall have to hammer all the harder. If you had come in before Russia went out, we should have finished this horror in a short year. If you had been ready when you came in, your pressure would have begun before Russia's disintegration was complete and Germany had increased her forces on the front'."

Other speakers were Brig. Gen. Nathan William MacChesney and Jack

Arnold Joerns a Survivor of the Tuscania Sinking

A letter written just before he sailed arrived here yesterday with first information that Lieut. Arnold Joerns, president of the Arnold Joerns Advertising company, was aboard the torpedoed Tuscania. He was rescued and is now on his way to join his command at the front. The letter was held up by the government in accordance with its rule of holding soldier mail until transports reach their destination.

At the time of the Tuscania sinking N. Ralph Cerf, vice president of the firm, received a cablegram from Mr. Joerns that he was "safe." But Mr. Cerf did not associate it with the Tuscania sinking, he said.

Mr. Joerns was former secretary of the Chicago branch of the National Security league.

GERMAN SWAY IN EAST GONE, SAYS JAP EXPERT HERE

Mikado Will Send Army to Europe Under Guaranties.

"The Germans, as they acted in Belgium, seem to me like a pack of coyotes biting defenseless sheep. Their course has rendered Germany and the German cause intensely unpopular in Japan, where heroism is admired but inhumanity is despised." So said Dr. Issa Tanimura, live stock commissioner of the department of agriculture and commerce of the Japanese government yesterday at the National Sheep and Wool bureau in the Home Insurance building.

"The cause of the allies is espoused by most of the leaders of Japanese thought and by a large majority of the people," he continued. "We respect honorable enemies and find no fault with the rigorous practices of warfare, but we have no sympathy with sheer brutality such as has distinguished the German arms.

"Japan will send an army to aid the allies under proper conditions. It costs much to equip and send an army to Europe and Japan cannot be blamed for hesitating to do so unless she has proper guarantees. In any event, Japan is even now doing a great work for the allied cause and that is in keeping order in the orient and thus preventing Germany from obtaining a foothold there.

Commerce Will Suffer.

"Following the war I think German commerce will suffer greatly. The evil opinion which has been formed of Germany in the orient will affect her commercial relations tremendously.

"I regret that I do not see the Japanese flag floating with those of the United States, England, and France, for we are allies, and if the United States will take proper advantage of that fact its relations with Japan will be closely cemented for all time. For, after all, we hold this country in higher esteem than any other."

To Promote Industry.

Dr. Tanimura is here primarily to promote the sheep raising industry in Japan. He explained that, although there is a great government woolen mill in Japan which makes all the clothing for the Japanese army and a number of private mills of large capacity, one with a capitalization of $6,000,000, and another making cloth as fine as can be found in the world, these are all suffering from lack of wool.

His mission here is to procure information for the purpose of ascertaining if sheep can be successfully cultivated in Japan.

Dr. Tanimura is a Yale graduate of the class of 1891, an honorary fellow at Cornell, and is the leading livestock authority of Japan.

DEMOCRACY

Defined by Secretary Baker in Telegram to Lincoln Day Meeting of Negroes.

"WHAT is democracy?" is the question answered by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, in a telegram which was read last night at the Lincoln-Douglas massmeeting of Negroes at the Coliseum. In his message he says:

"After all, what is this thing we call 'democracy' and about which we hear so much nowadays? Surely it is no catch phrase or abstraction. It is demonstrating too much vitality for that. It is no social distinction or privilege of the few, for were it that it could not win the hearts of peoples and make them willing to die for its establishment. But it is, it seems to me, a hope as wide as the human race, involving men everywhere, a hope which permits each of us to look forward to a time when not only we, but others, will all have our respective rights, founded in the generosity of nature and protected by a system of justice which will adjust its apparent conflicts. Under such a hope nations will do justice to nations, and men to men. Nor can I believe that this democracy will be attained as a finished and complete thing, but rather with increased education and knowledge, its application will enlarge and new meanings be discovered in it. It is not the philosophy of disorder, but of progressive order, not the doctrine of restraint by force, but rather of self-restraint imposed by men who realize that one's own freedom is safest when than of others is equally safe."

—Stephen Decatur.

RAILROAD PROFITS.

If our prime object were not to win this war, we might stop to consider all manner of social and industrial and financial reforms. We might stop to adjust and equalize the profits of the railroads. It would be a task of the utmost complexity and it would require months of study and deliberation.

Nevertheless certain men like Senator Cummins, who apparently conceive of the war as an occasion for social readjustment rather than a call to action, would have us devote ourselves to this task. It will be highly iniquitous, Mr. Cummins tells us, to guarantee the railroads their pre-war profits because some of the lines made more money than others.

Mr. Cummins' arguments fall of their own weight if we keep our primary purpose in mind. The two things that would most quickly and most certainly disrupt our war activity would be a breakdown of transportation and a breakdown of our financial structure. It follows that if our object is to win this war we must relate our action to these dangers. We cannot afford to be destructive in order ultimately to be constructive. We must deal with things as they are.

Under the proposed legislation Mr. McAdoo is given full power to make improvements, to finance betterments in equipment and roadbed, wherever the need should arise. Mr. Cummins cannot make a plea for equalizing earnings on the ground that certain railroads which might be necessary to our war activity would not obtain enough income for their proper maintenance. In the matter of funds for maintenance the director general can give assistance to any railroad he chooses.

Mr. Cummins' argument, therefore, must be viewed in relation to its bearing on the financial structure of the nation. That structure was built in times of peace. It is a complicated mechanism, finely adjusted. It has already suffered considerable strain due to the exigencies of war. No one can say just how much strain it can endure. Certainly we shall be very unwise to overload it unnecessarily or attempt doubtful experiments with it.

The pre-war profits of the railroads, whatever they were, large or small, fitted into this mechanism. The securities of the efficiently managed road naturally commanded a high price and were purchased as a conservative investment; they were held and still are held in large measure by savings banks and insurance companies. Speculative and uncertain railroad securities on the other hand were taken by speculators who counted the hazard in advance. Mr. Cummins could better propose a horizontal reduction than equalization; it would cause less serious dislocation.

REORGANIZATION AND THE GENERAL STAFF.

The plan for reorganizing and increasing the general staff announced by Secretary Baker is welcome if somewhat tardy. Within a fortnight an officer of high rank at Washington described the demoralization of the general staff since we entered the war, and THE TRIBUNE from time to time has protested against the failure to develop the staff system. We are glad if Secretary Baker's order indicates a determination not only to make a certain reorganization within the department as indicated, but also to make an end of the unfortunate feud between the permanent bureaus and the staff by establishing the staff beyond challenge as the secretary's agency of direction and command.

This is not assured by Mr. Baker's latest step, but we hope it is promised. With a properly organized general staff there will be no need for the so-called war council which now harbors Gen. Crozier and Gen. Sharpe. Legislation should be sought to bring the bureau chiefs under the rule of rotation applied to details to the general staff, and these bureaus should be brought under and within the staff.

Mr. Baker has a chance to complete and fully establish the work begun by Mr. Root after the bitter lesson of the Spanish war. He ought to be in the mood for such action, for if Mr. Root's effort had not been thwarted in great measure by politics and selfish interest in the years since he left the war department many if not all of Mr. Baker's embarrassments might have been avoided.

The detail of Gen. Peyton March as acting chief of staff will be highly approved in the army, where, as Congressman McCormick reported upon his return from France, he is considered among the three or four ablest men in our service.

A CHINESE FAUX PAS.

Feng Kwo-Chang, the president of the Chinese republic, issues a mandate that must be a surprise and a shock to intrenched officialdom all over the world. Can it be possible that any politician in high place is so simple as to admit weakness and failure? Doesn't he know how to play the game? Surely even a novice in statecraft ought to know that the proper policy is, first, to deny that anything is wrong; second, to admit that if matters are not as auspicious as they might be it is due to circumstances beyond one's control; third, to denounce all critics as obstructionists and self-seekers; fourth, to make out a record of achievement; and finally to appeal for the support of all patriotic citizens.

But of these elementary precepts President Feng Kwo-Chang exhibits not the slightest cognizance.

"As the central government has not acted properly," he says, "I examine myself and feel that I have many defects. I appointed Fu Liang Tie and others without carefully examining into their conduct, so I am guilty of ignorance of men."

But his candor does not halt here. He expresses the realization that he is lacking in foresight because he ordered negotiations for peace while the rebels were triumphant, thus causing more misery than before. His hope to save the situation defeated its own purpose. He says frankly that he has shown himself "too weak for the burden."

China, we all know, is behind the times. If Feng Kwo-Chang chooses to be quite honest with himself and the nation, why then his candor must be regarded as another indication of the inferiority of the orient. If he will make a careful study of the utterances of almost any occidental official he will doubtless be in a position to guard himself against another bad break.

SUBWAYS.

There are two methods by which the city hall might build subways. One is by the exercise of initiative and energy on its own part; the other is by the utilization of the initiative and energy of others. In the first case the city hall would not have to call in the local transportation officials and ask them if they were "willing" to do something. An intelligent and purposeful city administration could override such obstructions as there are without much difficulty.

The alternative case involves less difficulty, but it is fully as practicable. The administration that cannot perform a public service itself can rely on others to perform it. But no administration can get anywhere if it is not only incapable itself but incapable of enlisting outside aid. Ever since subway building has been agitated our mayors and aldermen have invariably alienated the very persons, the very interests, that could accomplish results. They have been called in with a great flourish, they have been asked if they were "willing" to go ahead, and finally they have been given to understand that they were too rapacious for honest men to deal with.

The result is that we always strike a blind alley. It could not continue if it were not for the inertia of the straphanging class. At the same time there is hardly a single straphanger in Chicago who could not have made a satisfactory arrangement for the construction of subways years ago. The local traction companies never asked the straphanger for anything more than his nickel. They were prepared to build subways with it, provided they were not compelled to share too much of it with the city hall. The straphanger wants a seat, or at least breathing space. He isn't interested in traction funds.

As long as subways are not built they will continue to be a political asset. But an astute politician could make his reputation and assure his future career by adopting any workable subway scheme and pressing it to a successful conclusion.

THE RUSSIAN PEACE.

Russia, as nearly as can be ascertained, has accepted a peace the terms and consequences of which are to be determined later. The condition is established. The theory of it is yet to be found and the working of it to be seen.

The Russian army is to be demobilized and cease to exist. The soldiers get what they want for the immediate present—a chance to go home and reestablish themselves under a new government which promises them land and, as workmen and peasants, the control of a proletarian state.

This means life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, immediate benevolences accepted without consideration of terms for the future. The mainspring of Russian action undoubtedly was weariness of war, acting when released from central control. It may sacrifice the past and compromise the future, but it negotiates the present for everything it is worth.

Although some of the revolutionary leaders, Trotzky for instance, do not accept the peace and say they will not until it has been defined and has satisfactory terms, it in reality subserves the philosophy underlying the revolution.

It leaves the contest to two forms of government against each of which the revolution is opposed. If this contest proceeded with sustained fury one of the two forms might be destroyed. Either the autocratic form would wipe out the democratic or the democratic would abolish the autocratic.

If the vanquished were gone and the victor weakened, then the proletarian revolution might arise to meet the tired conqueror and give him the coup de grace. The extension of the proletarian government over the world and the formation of an international republic of labor being the thing desired in the philosophy upon which Lenine and Trotzky maintain what there is of Russian government, the purpose of this movement would be served just as much by the destruction of the bourgeois democracies as by the destruction of the autocratic empires.

The democracy headed by Mr. Wilson and supported by American ideas of political and economic order is as much an enemy of the proletarian republic as is the autocracy headed by the kaiser and supported by the junker idea of political order.

In theory the Russian peace which exposes the democracies to danger is consistent. If war should destroy what the Russian revolutionists regard as the capitalistic governing class in the United States the American proletariat could arise against any other form of capitalistic autocracy established and might be stimulated to do so by the shock to its conventions and by the overturning of its ideas.

Editorial of the Day

WE NEED A WAR BOARD!

[Saturday Evening Post.]

Take up a newspaper file and look over one week's dispatches from Washington. You get an impression of a large number of important bodies, all revolving rapidly in different orbits and in various directions. Try to visualize it and you get a slightly dizzy sensation, as when you watch an expert juggler keeping a set of dinner dishes, with their appropriate table instruments, in the air.

Every now and then you read that some important point which one of these many bodies has been considering will be referred to the president, or has just been decided by the president. Now and then you read that some additional body has been added to the aggregation and is whirling off in its orbit. Now and then you read that two or three bodies have collided.

What the country needs is a president and board of directors—composed of not more than four or five men—to run the war. It seems, from all accounts, that two persons, named Ludendorff and Hindenburg, are running the war in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey—and finding time to run politics more or less, too. In England it has about settled down to a small war board. Even more important than the size of the board is the quality of the men who compose it. The members must be men of brains, sense, and business training. There are too many amateur messiahs on the job now.

No doubt all the bodies at Washington are useful. There must be fifteen or twenty of them, first and last. But the outlines of a systematized executive scheme do not appear; and the closer you get to it, the less centralization of authority you find. The president, of course, is the sun round which this firmament revolves; but the planetary system is not a good model to follow in the case of a country at war. Essentially war-making is a business job; and business requires a compact, definite, ever-flowing fountainhead of authority—a president and board of directors or executive committee.

You cannot find anything in Washington that really corresponds with that. Theoretically there is the cabinet; but a very little investigation will show that the theoretic resemblance is not founded on fact. There are some very good cooks and some very poor ones; but there is no small, supreme committee to say definitely just what the menu shall be a week ahead. We need men who are accustomed to dealing with conditions, not theories.

Let That Go Double.

(Marse Henry in the Louisville Courier-Journal.)

If we equivocate we are lost. Freedom in the United States requires not only the destruction of Autocracy in Germany, but the total annihilation of Militarism and the Military spirit. If any power is left intact in Germany to make treaty with any other power we are lost. If all Government in Germany be not blotted out even as the Southern Confederacy in America was blotted out, we are lost. We have fought in vain, and all our sacrifices in blood and treasure will go for naught, if we make not clean and sure work of it. We must smite the Philistine, hip and thigh.

Yea, hip and thigh! So, get out of the way, Woods! Mind your eyes, Davey! It is a man's job—war to the knife and the knife to the hilt!—the Black Flag for the Black Hand and no quarter to the Unspeakable Hun!

THE west front is waiting for the great blow, or the great Hindenburg to blow, or the great blow to Hindenburg. Meantime the British navy is still there.

OLD STUFF.

[From Every Week.]

I have lived thirty years in the world, and not until last week did I discover that the back collar button is a useless parasite, a gay deceiver: in short, a snare and a delusion. Having lost mine, I find that my collar stays down just as well; and I shall therefore never wear a rear collar button again.

TALES OF A STENOGRAPHER.

II.

Yesterday morning's mail was unusually heavy. With two score letters to answer, I rang for my stenographer, Miss Perkins entered, sat down, and started to sharpen her pencils. As she whittled away she recited the following in that always even monotone:

"There was a lot of excitement at our house this morning about nothing. My sister and her husband were over last evening to dinner and stayed all night. Bob is rather portly—almost fat—and our bathroom is quite small. This morning Bob borrowed my father's old fashioned razor to shave, although he says he always uses a safety at home. Of course while shaving he had to cut himself on the chin. He jerked away from the razor and backed into the steam pipe, burning himself severely. He bounced away from the steam pipe and bumped his forehead on the door, raising an awfully big black and blue spot over his eye and alongside his nose. Somehow he forgot what he was doing and dropped the open razor and cut his foot so badly that it bled profusely. He uttered several exclamations while these incidents were happening—indeed, he made so much noise that mother asked him what the trouble was. He did not reply intelligently. When he came to breakfast he looked as if he had been playing football. He didn't seem comfortable standing up, or sitting down, or walking, or any way. He told me confidentially that it was the most exciting three seconds of his whole lifetime. Are there many letters today?"

I answered "Yes," and began to dictate. M. W.

THE verses printed yesterday, "The Proof Room Turns," were signed "G." in the proof we read. What happened to the signature after we left for home is no affair of ours.

DANGERS OF WOOD ALCOHOL.

ABOUT a year after seeing my first case of wood alcohol poisoning (that one being due to drinking of wood alcohol) I saw a man who had been poisoned by breathing wood alcohol fumes and having it absorbed through his skin. He was one of six men who had been engaged in cleaning and varnishing a beer vat in a brewery. Of the six three died within twelve hours.

In normal times some preparations of bay rum, Florida water, witch hazel, and liniments and various varnishes, lacquers, and dyes contain wood alcohol. A year ago I wrote about a man who thought he had neuralgia. He rubbed with a liniment containing wood alcohol. When he stopped using the liniment his neuralgia got well. Enough wood alcohol was absorbed at each rubbing to make his nerves ache for a day.

Robinson tells us in the Journal of the American Medical Association of a Greek who dyed hats with colorite. His hands were continually spotted with the dye and he absorbed the fumes. Analysis of the dye made by the federal authorities showed that it contained wood alcohol. The man became blind.

Robinson quotes a number of cases of blindness, among which is one reported by Campbell. This man became practically blind from rubbing his chest once a day for two weeks with a mixture containing wood alcohol.

On account of the use of grain alcohol for war purposes, the high price of grain, and the government restrictions on the production and sale of alcohol from grain, the use of wood alcohol will certainly increase.

Wood alcohol cuts oils and varnishes about as well as grain alcohol. When properly refined it smells and tastes not unlike grain alcohol, and it vaporizes much like the more expensive product.

The disturbed conditions engendered by the war are certain to cause an increased use of wood alcohol. It has been suggested that the government prohibit its manufacture and use. This suggestion will not be acted upon, at least until times have again become normal.

It has also been suggested that the government legislate to restrict the use of wood alcohol to those compounds in which it will be least dangerous—such a law, for instance, as that of Bohemia. But even should such a law pass there would still be need of education.

Every manufacturer of liniments, bay rum, and Florida water should learn that using wood alcohol in his products is hazardous not only to the customer but to the trade as well. The association of liniment manufacturers, assuming that there is such an organization, should act without delay, since reports of cases of wood alcohol poisoning from the use of liniments hurt the entire trade. The manufacturer and the users of colorite were not aware that they were hazarding themselves or any one else. Workers with varnish and lacquers need education. The consumer needs the information more than those of any other group.

Robinson says that the United States internal revenue regulations for denaturing grain alcohol permit harmful proportions of wood alcohol. Formula permits 10 parts wood alcohol, 1 part benzine, 100 parts grain alcohol. Ten per cent wood alcohol is a dangerous proportion, as shown by the experiences of Bohemia and Austria, and, according to Robinson, of England as well.

FACTS ABOUT NEPHRITIS.

J. C. R. writes: "1. What causes nephritis?

"2. What are the symptoms of nephritis?

"3. What is the cure for nephritis?"

REPLY.

1. The most frequent cause is some such disease as scarlet fever, diphtheria, or pneumonia. It can be caused by a common cold. Among causes of common nephritis are arterio-sclerosis, syphilis, lead poisoning, alcoholism, excessive eating, and constipation.

2. The most dependable symptom is the presence of albumin and casts in the urine. Among other symptoms of acute nephritis are fever, mental heaviness, headache, perhaps drowsiness, and some dropsy. Among symptoms of chronic nephritis are night urination, increased quantity of urine, high blood pressure, headaches, dimness of vision, and dropsy.

3. The cure of nephritis depends on change in one's habits, regulation of diet, and such medicinal treatment as seems indicated by symptoms which may arise from time to time.

RED CROSS CALLS VOLUNTEERS

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

The Red Cross is in present need of several hundred men workers to fill important positions abroad. It also wants a few women for service in France. The call is first for persons able and willing to volunteer for the work and to pay their own expenses, but in some instances if the applicant is specially fitted for the work the question of paying expenses and minimum salaries will be considered.

Applicants for the positions listed below are invited to call at the local office of the American Red Cross at 180 N. Wabash-av. any day except Saturday between the hours of 2 and 3 p. m. for a preliminary interview.

It will save time if the following general qualifications are noted. No man within the draft age will be enrolled, unless he has been exempted for some plain and apparent physical disability, speaks French fluently, or has technical training, fitting him for a position for which a man outside the draft age cannot be found.

Here are more than 200 positions, which competent men are needed to fill, with a general statement of the requirements of each position:

Eight assistant zone commanders. Highest executive ability, initiative, imagination, tact. French not necessary.

Four field chiefs of military relief. General executive ability, tact, experience in handling men and shipments and distribution of goods. Knowledge of French desirable.

Four assistant field chiefs of military relief. Same requirements as above.

Five office managers. Ability and experience in running office organization in Paris or elsewhere.

Twenty-five executives for transportation department. Executive and business experience, particularly with the handling of motor and rail transportation. To be located in Paris and other parts of France.

One chief, section of insurance. Experience in fire and other branches of insurance, to place insurance on Red Cross property and personnel in all parts of France. French is not required.

One assistant director of bureau of personnel and office facilities. Duties are those of office manager of large organization. French not required.

Twenty-one field representatives. To be attached to various army divisions, in direct contact with army commanders and heads of large hospitals. Chief source of information and guidance as to requirements of armies which must be supplied by Red Cross.

Thirty searchers at American Expeditionary force headquarters, base hospitals, and division headquarters. To keep relatives and friends of soldiers in France informed as to casualties. Similar to work of reporters. Knowledge of French not necessary.

Thirty canteen workers at French front. Trying and often dangerous positions at fighting front. Allowance for living expense made by French government. Other expenses not to exceed $40 a month. Knowledge of French absolutely essential.

Thirty district delegates. Work among civil population. To study, coöperate with, and report on work done by all relief organizations among civil population. Good speaking knowledge of French absolutely essential.

One purchaser of clothing. Experienced buyer in this line. French not required.

One purchaser of metals. Experienced buyer of metal goods to assist and probably succeed present occupant of this position. French not required.

Two purchasers of furniture. Experienced buyers of cheaper grades of furniture. French not required.

Two purchasers of automobile supplies. Experience in automobile supply house, with ability to make large purchases of automobile parts and equipment of all kinds.

Four zone superintendents of stores. Experience and ability in general merchandising. Probable charge of several stores and warehouses of considerable size.

Nine executives for sections of stores. General business and executive ability, with merchandising experience.

Six storekeepers. Executives trained in reception and distribution of merchandise.

Assistant storekeepers. Same requirements as above.

Ten storekeepers. Experienced merchandisers for running stores in devastated districts. Speaking knowledge of French required.

One medical man. Must have business experience, as assistant to chief of medical and surgical division at headquarters.

Four zone medical supply men. Not medical men, but experience in hospital supply or large drug houses desired. Physicians with business experience allowed.

Four assistant zone medical supply men. Same as above.

Four hospital superintendents. Hotel, hospital, or wholesale business experience. College graduates. For work among civilian population. Speaking knowledge of French required.

Comparatively few women are needed at present by the Red Cross. No woman having a son or husband in the United States service, here or abroad, can be considered, as the government declines to issue passports to such persons.

Candidates must be between 30 and 50 years of age. They must be examined by a physician designated by the Red Cross, who will certify that they are physicially and nervously fit to stand the strain of foreign service. German or Austrian parentage, even though naturalized, or any German or Austrian connection, will debar a candidate. Even a German name will make acceptance unlikely.

An enlistment contract binding the candidate to serve for from six months to a year must be signed.

As in the case of men, women candidates for any foreign service with the Red Cross should apply to American Red Cross office at 180 North Wabash avenue for a preliminary interview. Application blanks, which must be filled out in full, will also be furnished at the Red Cross office. In all cases the final selection of candidates will be made by the Red Cross bureau of personnel at national headquarters.

In addition to workers for foreign service, there are positions open for service in the United States, particularly in the line of military relief in the army cantonments. Inasmuch as the Red Cross is a charitable organization and dependent upon donations for continuance of its work it is hoped that a large number of volunteer workers can be obtained to fill the positions which are hereinafter enumerated, but this does not mean that salaries will not be paid to competent applicants whose means will not permit them to donate their services.

The following positions, which are open to men only, are among those which must be filled: Field director, assistant field director in charge of warehouse and distribution, assistant field director in charge of hospital service, assistant field director in charge of home service, stenographers, clerks, and storemen at offices and warehouse headquarters, and stenographers as assistants in the hospital service.

LORRAINE NATIVES PRIOR TO 1871.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is it necessary for a traveling salesman to return to his home town to register? I was born in 1862 in Lorraine and in 1889 received my discharge papers, or loss of citizenship of the government of Germany. I took out my first papers for citizenship in the United States. Am I an alien?

J. R. G.

1. If a German, required to register is absent from his habitual place of residence he can register in any place where he happens to be on registration days. He will be presented at that time with a provisional registration card which must be presented to the registration official in his home town or city within thirty days from date of issuance, and he will obtain a regular registration card.

2. Males born in or residing as German subjects in Alsace-Lorraine subsequent to May 10, 1871, now dwelling within the United States, are alien enemies unless naturalized as American citizens. Inasmuch as you were born in Lorraine in 1862, you are not an enemy alien.

ALLEY CONDITION IMPROVED.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please call to the attention of the proper city department the condition of the alley between University and Woodlawn avenues, south from Seventy-second to Seventy-third street.

W. A. G.

Condition complained of was caused by the snow blockade in the alley. Residents have been notified to discontinue dumping here. Alley is being cleaned and will be in better condition from now on.

F. S. MITCHELL,
Superintendent of Streets.

STILL AN ALIEN ENEMY.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am German born. Age 62 years. When 30 years old I petitioned the German government for dismissal from citizenship; this was granted and I possess a certificate to that effect. I went abroad and did not return to Germany since. In 1899 I became a British subject, i. e., a Canadian citizen by adoption. I possess the document proving it. Before the declaration of war of the United States to Germany I took out the "first paper" for citizenship here. Am I by law considered a German alien and do I have to register? T. B.

The ruling of the department of justice is as follows: "A male, native, citizen, denizen, or subject of a foreign nation or government with which war has been declared is an alien enemy even though he has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States by taking out first papers or naturalization or has been partly or completely naturalized in any country other than the United States." Inasmuch as you are a native of Germany and have not been fully naturalized in the United States you are an alien enemy.

INDIANA LAW ON NOTES.

Elmhurst, Ill., Feb. 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If a minor secures a marriage license in Indiana and is married in Illinois, would the marriage be legal, or is one obliged to be married in the state in which license is taken out? J. J.

1. Not unless an Illinois license was also secured.

2. Yes.

SUE FOR THEFT.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man employed in one of my stores has been taking money from the cash register. Before I hired him he was told to furnish bonds. Can I bring suit against him? B. H.

We assume that the bonds were not furnished. Your only civil remedy is to sue him, for which purpose you should employ an attorney. The attorney can advise as to the wisdom of criminal proceedings.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CAN DISPOSE OF ESTATE.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can the children, sole heirs of an estate, sell or dispose of said estate, or any part thereof, in any way other than probating? There was no will. J. S.

Yes, if they can find a purchaser who they can, without probating, satisfy that all debts have been paid and that there are not other heirs.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department, writers must confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

ANOTHER OSTEOPATHIC PROTEST.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Regarding the reply of "Physician" to my protest of Jan. 31, I wish to say that it is the typical camouflage of an ignorant medical doctor who knows not that he knows not whereof he speaks.

I challenge his authority for stating that the osteopath is not wanted at the front. I can show him letters requesting us to come over; I can point out to him returned soldiers given a medical discharge who have been benefited by osteopathy, and who have requested us to go over. I challenge his statement that the osteopath is not capable of practicing the so-called "great science of medicine." There are osteopaths who have been requested to and who have served on the exemption boards of the United States.

I challenge his statement that the practice of medicine is scientific, as witness the many deaths and great amount of illness among men who were WELL when they entered the service, but, undoubtedly due to the many injections of various serums, antitoxins, etc., to which the men are subjected, have had their resistance so lowered they have contracted these diseases. I further challenge his integrity and sincerity for hiding behind the signature "Physician" instead of signing his own name.

O. C. FOREMAN, D. O.

FROM THE FARMER.

Belvidere, Ill., Feb. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There are good milk cows being killed by the thousand and it seems to me like destroying "the hand that rocks the cradle that rules the world." There are cows being killed that ought to be put in a box stall and carefully fed in order to get all the milk possible. There is a shortage of milk everywhere, and the government says much about encouraging agriculture and then allows the staff of life to be forced down and out.

There is positively no need for any one, old or young, to be deprived of having all the milk he can use.

ZENAS M. SMITH.

THE HIGH COST OF STARVING.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I notice a letter stating that hotels and restaurants are cutting down food allowances but not reducing prices. That's nothing! On State street one can find places that have not only reduced the quantity of food but raised the prices on the shortened allowances. A. B. C.

THE FARMER NOT HOARDING.

Loda, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—If G. A. will furnish grain cars at the elevators of every station on every railroad radiating from Chicago through the great grain producing states he will find that the farmers do not want to hoard grain but will sell it, and sell freely, gladly, generously all the grain that the railroads will furnish cars to transport to market. X. Y. Z.

TO SPEED UP THE COURTS.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The writer is very much interested in the delaying of justice which is unfortunately occurring in the Circuit and Superior courts of this county. The reason already assigned no doubt will probably assist the members of the bar to hurry along the cases now on the trial calls. However, I wish to state another cause for delay which is commonly known as "passing a case on a five day notice."

This last feature has caused more delays in our courts than any other thing that could delay justice. It invariably means that the case being passed on five day notice is set down at the foot of the call to be issued on the next calendar. This means a delay of anywhere from two to three years. In a good many cases the litigants and many of the witnesses have departed from this earth waiting for the case to be reached for trial.

The writer further wishes to state that a few years ago he had an opportunity to represent one of the litigants in a certain case in one of our courts whereby one of the opposing counsel attempted to "pass the case on a five day notice," whereas the writer was instructed to proceed immediately to dispose of this case, and in less than a few days the case was settled and dismissed from the court and all parties concerned were satisfied.

One of the best ways to stop delays of trying cases would be to have the trial judge refuse continuances absolutely unless the litigants or witnesses interested in the case would be totally unable to appear on account of sickness or death. The mere fact that attorneys are not prepared to try their cases when the first call is announced is no fault of the courts and should be discouraged.

The number of cases now on the trial calls of the various judges in the Circuit and Superior courts is the greatest number in this county that has ever been known by the members of the bar. It is indeed unfortunate for litigants to be obliged to wait from two to three or four years before their cases are reached for trial. The increase of judges in both courts has not seemed to help the situation. Therefore we must look for other solutions for the delay of the trial of cases. It appears that it has been discovered that it is not so much the fault of the judges as it is the fault of the members of the bar practicing before these courts. Unless a remedy is immediately suggested by the judges it is impossible to state just how many cases will be delayed and the trial calls would be so crowded that even double the number of judges in both courts could not try the number of cases.

It is the opinion of the writer that a committee should be appointed immediately to wait on the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts to take this matter up immediately in order that some plan may be worked out to aid as soon as possible the litigants now waiting for trial of their cases, and to dispose of them as quickly as possible.

MILK BOYCOTT MAY PROVE A BOOMERANG

Concerted Movement to Defy Producers Said to Be Spreading.

The boycott of the Chicago market following an announcement of the report of the milk commission of the state food administration may prove to be a boomerang to the Milk Producers' association. A concerted movement to defy the boycott is said to be already spreading among hundreds of farmers within the Chicago milk zone.

Representatives of twenty milk producers in one locality asked assurance from Assistant State's Attorney Michels yesterday that they would be protected if they defied the boycott. The assurance was given and the farmers told the state's attorney that their attitude was that of hundreds of producers and that the revolt against the boycott is growing hourly. This was borne out by reports from distributors that receipts are again approaching normal.

Producers Murmur.

Hundreds of producers who followed the example, if not the actual advice, of certain officers of the Milk Producers' association are murmuring that they have been led into an impasse which has placed them in an unfavorable light in the eyes of the food administration and the public. They feel keenly intimations that their action was unpatriotic and are inclined to blame agents of the association for placing them in a position where such intimations were the inevitable result.

In the meantime the boycott is decidedly on the wane. Hundreds of farmers who stopped shipment following the announcement that the milk commission had recommended a price of 13.07 for February resumed shipments yesterday.

A farmer who represents twenty others in Kane county appeared in the Criminal Court building yesterday and sought the advice of Assistant State's Attorney Nicholas Michaels, who is handling the milk situation. He said that he and his friends feared violence at the hands of the others in the boycott, and he asked if it would be legal for him and his friends to arm themselves as a measure of self-protection while trying to deliver their milk supply. He was informed that he would be justified under the circumstances in taking proper precautions to repel an expected attack on himself and his neighbors.

Fix Price Next Week.

It may be another week before the price for milk, to obtain in the Chicago district until next July, will be definitely known. The final decision is to be made by the original milk commission of the state food administration.

W. E. Lamb, counsel for the milk division of the national food administration, who came to Chicago at the request of Food Administrator Harry A. Wheeler, will submit suggestions to the milk commission to aid it in making its final decision. He worked on the records of the milk hearing until a late hour last night.

There is no indication of whether the original recommendations of the milk commission will stand or whether the commission will revise it and set a higher price to the farmer.

Producers End Arguments.

The producers concluded their arguments against the original finding late yesterday afternoon. W. E. Lamb, the federal expert, immediately began going over the record with a view to making suggestions to the commission. Food Administrator Wheeler, however, announced that the commission is absolute and that neither he nor Mr. Lamb will endeavor to dictate what its finding shall be.

"The producers have finished their presentation of arguments with respect to the eight year base," said Mr. Wheeler in a statement issued last night. "The record will be completed and the chairman of the commission, Mrs. Miller, will request the commission to consider the information that has been presented and to report to the food administration if there are any supplementary paragraphs dealing with the problem to be offered as the final declaration with respect to the result of the hearing.

Miller to Be Judge.

"Owing to the absence from the city or illness of some members of the commission, the day on which the commission will meet cannot be announced at this time."

"PROM" LEADERS

These Co-eds Are Among Those Who Will Economize at Dance.

Students attending the annual Washington promenade this year at the University of Chicago will have to forego the luxury of taxis and walk to the dance. Further, the co-eds are forbidden to wear flowers or to accept them from their escorts. As another economy, the "prom," which will take place on Thursday evening, Feb. 21, will be held in Bartlett gymnasium at the university.

According to the managers of the dance, the gymnasium will not be decorated and the customary "prom supper," which in former years has been given at 12 o'clock, will be taboo. Tickets in former years have been $5, but this year, on account of the war, they have been reduced to $3. The only luxury which has remained is the fact that dress suits and evening gowns will be required for entrance into the hall.

Miss Florence Kilvary, with Carlton Adams, will lead the right wing of the grand march, which will begin at 9, and Miss Rosemary Carr and Charles Cottingham will lead the left wing.

Bodies of Baby Twins Taken from Desplaines

The bodies of twins, 2 weeks old, bound together tightly with a stout cord, were recovered from the Desplaines river in Maywood yesterday. S. P. Paulson and Henry Gloss, employés of the Maywood Coal company, recovered the bodies.

VEEDER APPEAL WILL BE HEARD ON MARCH 1

Appellate Court to Sit En Banc; Heney to Stay Here.

Attorneys for Henry Veeder and Swift & Co. won a stay until March 1 in their fight to recover papers seized by the federal trade commission when Judge Francis E. Baker of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals stopped all action yesterday.

Judge Baker declined to review the matter alone and decided that the court would have to take up the hearing in a body. In the meantime the papers seized and the Veeder vaults will remain in the custody of John J. Bradley, United States marshal.

Other Members of Court.

It is expected that Judges C. C. Kohlsaat and Evan Evans will sit with Judge Baker, as Judge Samuel Alschuler is tied up in the packers' labor hearing as arbiter between men and employers.

An appeal to the United States Supreme court is considered certain in event the Court of Appeals sustains the Landis decision or refuses to review it on the ground that it is not a matter for appeal.

Heney's Statement.

"We are going ahead with the examination of officials and documents at the stockyards offices," said Francis J. Heney, general counsel for the federal trade commission. "The action of the court merely takes the Veeder end of the inquiry off my mind for a time."

Mr. Heney plans to remain in Chicago pending the hearing of the appeal.

Swift & Co. made protest to Washington yesterday against the removal of original files. They offered to permit copies to be made or to assist in making them, but contended that the removal of files would interfere with their work.

It was said that the government had returned the files taken away.

What You'll Have to Do if You Go to Switzerland

The consulate of Switzerland at Chicago informs all travelers to Switzerland (of other than Swiss nationality) residing in Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin that a passport or equivalent paper of identification bearing the visé of the Chicago consulate will be required in order to enter Swiss territory.

Application for visé must be made at the consulate in person when possible. To obtain visé documents must be submitted in proof of the nationality and moral standing of the applicant. He must further indicate the object of his journey, present due evidence that there is no objection to his returning to the United States, also that he is in possession of sufficient funds to cover the expenses of his stay in Switzerland.

WAUKEGAN JAIL BREAK IS BALKED

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Sheriff E. J. Griffin of Lake county today revealed how fourteen prisoners in the Waukegan jail had been foiled in a plot to escape. Five of the ringleaders, he said, communicated over the three floors of the jail by means of tapping on an air shaft. Later they tore away the shaft, a four inch tin pipe running through all three floors, and a case knife was lowered to the second floor. Teeth were cut in the knife and attempts were made to saw the bars. To prevent interruption, the prisoners jammed the locks of the cells, and the sheriff discovered the attempt when he found the locks out of order. The prisoners had made three balls of tobacco tinfoil to place in socks for use as blackjacks. The men charged with engineering the attempt are three of a group of five Chicagoans arrested on charges of stealing telephone wire.

PACKERS PAY MEN HIGHER IN EAST, SAYS UNION HEAD

Same Firms Signed an Agreement Years Ago, Testimony.

John Kennedy, international president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's union, in testifying yesterday before Judge Samuel Alschuler, arbitrator in the stockyards labor controversy, said that the packing plants in New York City, owned and operated by the same men who own and operate the five big plants in Chicago, entered into an agreement with the unions twenty years ago and are still operating under it.

Kennedy said the employés in New York worked shorter hours and were paid a union scale and that the pay there was much higher than here. He said his union, which has jurisdiction over all but a few of the various branches of work in the yards, had tried repeatedly to get the packers here to recognize organized labor and enter into an agreement, and that the reason the packers refused was a matter of dollars and cents and a desire to retain full control over their employés.

Production Cost Here Lower.

He also said that whenever the stockyards unions in New York asked for an increase in pay they were told by the packers that they could not grant it because they would then be competing with Chicago, where the cost of production is about 40 per cent lower than in New York.

Jacob Morrow, secretary of the coopers' union, said that for six months in 1886 the stockyards employés were organized and recognized and all were much more contented, happier, and better off physically when they worked eight hours, than they are now.

He was asked by Attorney Condon, counsel for the packers, why he did not seek better conditions elsewhere if he did not like those at the packing plants.

Can't Afford Fees.

"I had my wife and my children to protect and support and it was not for me to move here and there hunting the bright spots at the foot of the rainbow. My part was to care for them and rear my children, and I did it."

Edward Tegtmeyer of the Blacksmiths' union said the reason the blacksmith in the stockyards did not leave there and enter unionized shops if they did not like the low pay was because they were paid so little they could not save enough for the initiation fee.

G. B. Coal, president of the Steamfitters' union, said that his craft received from 32½ cents to 42½ cents an hour in the stockyards, while the union scale outside the yards was from 50 to 75 cents an hour for eight hours and double time for overtime.

Widows to Testify.

At today's hearing the widows and orphans of men who have died as a result of alleged overwork in the stockyards will be put on the stand by the unions. These women have from two to five small children each and all were left destitute. Their only income now is that provided by the unions. They will tell of their living conditions prior to being left widows and the life in general of the families of stockyards employés.

It was learned yesterday that on Monday morning, prior to the first hearing, a consultation was held by all concerned as to how many hours should be devoted each day to the hearings. The union men asked for eight hour hearings, but the packers and their representatives, who want the employés to continue to work ten hours a day, urged that only five hours a day be devoted to the hearings. The union men prevailed.

NAMELESS DOG CAUSES 8 YEARS OF LITIGATION

Pup Bit Willie Herzog, Thus Carving Name in Court Records.

Eight years ago a nameless dog bit Willie Herzog. The dog has long since gone to the place where biting dogs go, but his history as well as that of Willie is written permanently, voluminously and expensively in the Cook County court records. The final entry was made only yesterday by Judge Tuthill at a special holiday session in the Circuit court.

To begin at the beginning immediately after Willie had been attacked by the dog Charles Albrecht was charged with being the owner of the animal and was sued for damages in the Municipal court. Despite his denial of ownership Mr. Albrecht, after a trial of three days, was assessed $75 damages and costs of $23.50. Mr. Albrecht paid the bill near the date of the first anniversary of the dog bite.

Makes Perjury Charge.

Mr. Albrecht began to check up the 100 pages of testimony in the case and declared that Mrs. Mary Herzog, mother of Willie, had committed perjury because she had sworn that Willie was at home for a period after accident and Mr. Albrecht's inquiry indicated he was in school all the time.

Mr. Albrecht visited the state's attorney. After some consideration a high salaried assistant decided there was ground for a perjury prosecution and sent the case to the Municipal court.

A highly paid judge, an assistant prosecutor and a clerk turned their attention to the matter and after due time a warrant was issued for Mrs. Herzog. She was arrested, a hearing was had and Mrs. Herzog was discharged.

Round Three Begins.

Mrs. Herzog then started round three by beginning suit against Mr. Albrecht, charging malicious prosecution. There were more judges seen, more papers served and more motions heard. There were delays and continuances until last Friday when the case went to trial. A jury was sworn and numerous witnesses heard. After four days, the taking of evidence was completed yesterday afternoon.

Among the witnesses called to testify in the case were a judge, two assistant prosecutors and the court reporters who took the testimony in the original case.

After the evidence was all in Judge Tuthill took the case from the jury and ordered it dismissed.

"And they're asking what's the matter with our judicial procedure," remarked a lawyer who has watched the eight years' proceedings."

HERE ARE NEW RULES ON SALE OF ALL FLOUR

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—Mixed flours containing less than 50 per cent of wheat flour may be sold without accompanying substitutes, the food administration announced tonight in special rules governing the sales of mixed flours.

Where a retailer sells mixed flour containing more than 50 per cent of wheat flour, sufficient other substitutes must be sold to bring the sale to a basis of one pound of substitute for each pound of wheat flour. Graham and whole wheat flour, however, may be sold at a ratio of three pounds to five pounds of wheat flour.

A special exception may be granted upon application showing necessity in the case of specially prepared infants' and invalids' food containing flour.

Jack Patten Is Now Private in U. S. Engineers

Jack Patten, son of James A. Patten of Evanston was just 23 this month and is now a private in the Seventeenth United States engineers. He enlisted on Dec. 1, it was learned yesterday. Young Patten, in company with Wilbur Hightower, former Northwestern football star, joined the American ambulance service in France last May, supplying his own car. He was one of six American ambulance drivers awarded the French war cross for conspicuous heroism last October. He returned in November.

Women! Here Is a Dandy Thing

Few drops on corn or callus stop pain, then they lift off.

Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it Freezone. Small bottles of Freezone can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty, but get a little bottle of Freezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses, without suffering one particle. Millions of women keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let corns ache twice.—Advertisement.

MINISTERS TOLD HOW TO COMBAT TUBERCULOSIS

500 Clergymen and Women Church Workers Visit Sanitarium.

More than 500 Chicago clergymen and members of ladies' aid societies assembled yesterday at the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, to formulate plans for a concentrated attack on the white plague.

Dr. John Dill Robertson said a recent survey shows there are 60,000 persons suffering from tuberculosis in Chicago. Because the municipal sanitarium will accommodate only 1,000, there are 59,000 cases of the disease in need of attention, he argued.

City Supplies Porches.

"The city health department will furnish a sleeping porch and an iron cot and mattress free to any family in which there is a tubercular member," Dr. Robertson said. "In this way patients receive treatment at home, and only by this method can we ever expect to check the ever-spreading malady.

"In this connection we must have the hearty coöperation of our churches. We would like to have them report to us all cases in their localities and have the ladies' aid societies supply bedding for the cots furnished by the health department."

Under the supervision of Miss Camille Allen, superintendent of nurses, a demonstration was given in the method of making Klondike beds, for the use of tubercular patients. A sheet of heavy paper was placed over the springs, and above that the mattress, another sheet of heavy paper, a blanket pad, another blanket, and on top two or three blankets folded into an enveiope.

Urges Co-Operation.

The Rev. M. P. Boynton, in urging the churches to coöperate, recommended the appointment of a health committee in each church. By unanimous vote the members of the Chicago Church Federation council, under whose auspices the meeting was held, pledged themselves to hearty coöperation in the work.

Forces of Liberalism Rise in Germany to Tone Down Aims of Fatherland Party

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT
[SPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 12.—America's bitterest foes and America's possible friends in Germany can be easily identified. Balance the Fatherland party, with its resources of money and prestige of rank, against the new Bund für Freiheit und Vaterland, and you have the identification.

The first is influential but its influence, if not waning, certainly is not growing, and its leaders are the men of the old order. The influence of the second, being based upon the ripening forces of democratic coalition, increases daily. Its leaders are the coming men, the men with new horizons.

Both factions want peace, but the first wants an embattled peace, the second wants a peace of understanding. Between the political battlefronts in Germany the line is sharply drawn. He who is reactionary in world affairs, he who is against vote reform is, whether he knows it or not, against peace.

Not Modern Crusaders.

Consciously or unconsciously the reactionaries confess as much when they declare that what they call "the vicious moderation" of the new cabinet's foreign program is a consequence of democratic and socialistic influence; they see that foreign and home policy are in this phase of German and European evolution two facets of the same thing.

In their wrath they go more surely to the root of the matter than they dream. They think the issue they face is German; they do not realize that the war is building a new world.

These men are sincere; we shall weaken the value to ourselves, of our estimates of current German thought and tendencies, if we doubt that.

To Save Fatherland.

As a direct consquence of the evolution which brought the German democratic and socialistic elements into the foreground and enabled them to influence the spirit and letter of Germany's foreign peace program in the direction of moderation, many well intentioned men from all classes of society thought it their duty to forward the step in order to save the fatherland from "these misleading democrats."

They are good at patriotic catchwords and think themselves possessors of patriotism's true gospel, but when you know who the Fatherland party's organizers are and whence the money to organize the machine comes you immediately see it is far from representing a holy crusade solely against Germany's foreign foes, but is meant to be a popular modernized supplement to the antiquated National Liberal party.

Tirpitz Party Leader.

At the head of this new party stands Admiral von Tirpitz, who proclaims that the party does not intend to interfere with inner politics; it only wishes to unite all elements believing Germany's destiny is imperiled by acceptance of the reichstag's anti-annexationist peace resolution of July 19.

Tirpitz and his colleagues declare acceptance of this resolution due on one hand to the democratic socialistic influence and on the other to the government's weakness in bending to influence.

The left wing's moderate peace program, which, it is important to remember, is supported by the powerful Catholic party, or Centrum, is interpreted by Admiral von Tirpitz's followers as an ignobie self-abnegation, hence the program of Annexationist Tirpitz, who demands the duel between England and Germany be fought to a finish and warns against concessions concerning the Flanders coast, appears concerned only with the foreign policy.

Backed by Rich.

But looking deeper you discover that those so richly financing the new organization are no other than the captains of industry financing the National Liberal party.

The new democratic socialistic leaders say the conclusions to be drawn therefrom are obvious and that only the blindness and political innocence of a certain coterie of professors, schoolmasters, civil and political functionaries of all classes, and a mass of well intentioned but unquestioning patriots prevent them from seeing the connection and realizing by whom and for whose purposes they are being blended into a mass of National Liberal voters.

For Admiral Tirpitz Germany's inner policy may indeed be a side issue. He is absorbed in the issues of a great foreign policy, but the financiers of his pet organization feel and plan otherwise.

To their sorrow they already have been compelled to reckon with their workmen and therefore to realize the extent of what they call the democratic peril and of the socialistic influence which caused "the vicious moderation" of the government's foreign program. Therefore they wish to enlist as many persons as possible in their voting ranks.

Being proprietors of war industries, money is no object with them. That their party is influential, it would be foolish to deny: Its press organization is excellent; numerically it is large among the bourgeoisie, but does not enlist the masses. The masses emphatically side with the true liberals and democrats.

Sane German Views.

The Liberal party is the inveitable reaction against the Fatherland party's aggressions and pretensions and undoubtedly represents Germany's sane and truly liberal elements with which America will ultimately deal. It is recruited from workmen of all classes.

Its program of absoute separation in peace and war of the empire's political and military direction, of the Prussian landtag's democratization, of no punic wars with England, and of comprehensive social measures against the perils of capitalization, have been given in a previous dispatch.

This program was largely prepared by Profs. Troelsch and Meinecke, and was defined with special clearness by Troelsch at the great January meeting of the bund, a meeting of which one present said:

"I wish the American public could read the speeches made at that huge Berlin assemblage, especially Dr. Troelsch's inspiriting as well as elaborate and profound address. True modern German liberalism's viewpoint is epitomized by Troelsch's program, and we of the bund are sure if President Wilson read it he could not help being struck with the ideal coincidence of his philosophy of politics with Troelsch's.

"Nationalism and patriotism in its noblest form, world-wide liberalism worthy of the best German traditions, and the statesmanship of Stein, Hardenburg, and Wilhelm von Humboldt, modernized and adapted to the present, are in Troelsch's utterances."

Speakers Are Learned Men.

Troelsch and Meinecke are not obscure cranks. Ernst Troelsche is a Berlin university professor, member of the Royal Academy of Science, one of the greatest living philosophers and historians of religion, and known throughout the world as the foremost authority on Luther, Knox, and Calvin, and on all questions relating to the Reformation and Puritan movement.

Meinecke's name also must be especially emphasized in connection with the bund, because, as successor in the Berlin university's chair of history to the spiritual originator of the German empire and modern German imperialism, the late Treitschke, Dr. Meinecke has completely routed Treitschke's influence. The Germans say if this is not a sign of the times there is none.

To the names of Troelsch and Meinecke must be added Max Weber's, representing new German intellectualism in politics. Weber is a Heidelberg savant and certainly the most original of living German professors of political economy and sociology.

Criticizes Junkerism.

His criticisms of junkerism and Prussian bureaucracy are as sweeping as his advocacy of parliamentarism as an inevitable step in German evolution. He is an advocate of the old, pure German liberalism of glorious tradition, of the Paul's church so long trampled down by Bismarck on one side and socialism on the other.

By such men the great mass of educated Germans find their ideal of Germany's political future adequately expressed. They declare that there cannot be a doubt that this program, these politics, and this philosophy of life and society will triumph, and their principal spokesman at Malmo, Prof. Saenger, says Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann and some of his colleagues espouse the essential part of the Meinecke-Troelsch-Weber program.

Summing up the new bund's program and aspirations, Saenger says:

"We wish to insist our program is not a quack panacea or imitation evolution, an evolution undoubtedly hastened by the extraordinary pressure of the present crisis. As to the militaristic phase, we do not fear the abuse of military power in coming times. The German race has never been and never will be a race of Caesarian conquerors."

How the Present Crisis Teaches Bankers A GREAT TRUTH

THE coal shortage for weeks has been unprecedented. The country has shivered in the coldest weather ever known. Industry has been paralyzed.

Many giant skyscrapers in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and other American cities have been practically without heat for the first time since the era of steel and concrete buildings.

Out of this crisis emerges a great truth.

In hundreds of these buildings the plumbing had to be drained to prevent the pipes from bursting. Even gas had to be shut off to prevent freezing. Such precautions were accepted as an inevitable inconvenience.

But when conditions reached a stage where water had to be turned off from hundreds of automatic sprinkler systems, business men, each thinking of his individual dangers, suddenly realized that this one infallible automatic safeguard against fire for a quarter of a century had suddenly been taken away.

But individual dismay became public consternation as the great truth emerged.

Bankers, insurance officials, and civil authorities saw the specter of a calamitous conflagration.

And these are some of the things the Fuel Administrator heard over the long-distance wire in Washington:

1. Many foreign reinsurance companies have been forced by the Government to withdraw from business in America;

2. Many American business men are reticent about taking policies in some of those foreign companies that remain;

3. The insurance facilities of the United States are tremendously overtaxed;

4. A great conflagration might shatter industrial credits, smash the security market and perhaps affect the success of the Third Liberty Loan;

5. We must have coal enough to keep the sprinkler systems in operative condition.

So the great truth emerged, namely, that for over a quarter of a century automatic-sprinkler protection has stood between the business world and wholesale disaster by fire. Without this protection, conflagrations would again and again have swept through American cities.

It is now clear that without this protection the very scheme of our modern cities would be impractical. Without it we would not have these value-packed, multi-storied structures towering above the reach of other fire-fighting apparatus. If it were not for automatic-sprinkler protection, insurance companies would decline to carry the vast risk in congested downtown city areas, where values mount up to billions of dollars.

Although automatic-sprinkler systems for more than a quarter of a century have been infallibly safeguarding the greatest industries of the United States, it took this extraordinary situation to show bankers, business men, and civic authorities the real value of this unique fire-fighting system. Too long it has been regarded by many simply as a method of reducing insurance costs.

ARMS FOR HIGH SCHOOL CADETS ON WAY TO CITY

2,500 "Moysha" Drill Guns Ordered by the Board of Education.

Interest in the high school cadet corps, which has waned somewhat during the last few months, began to pick up this week when it was announced that within a few weeks every cadet would have a rifle. Deliveries on the "Moysha" drill guns will begin in about two weeks, it is believed. The board has ordered 2,500 of the guns.

Approximately half of the expense is being met by the Citizens' Uniform committee, which made it possible for the boys to get uniforms last year. It is contributing $5,000 and the board of education $6,250. Angus Hibbard is chairman of the committee.

Shoots Only Blanks.

It was only after months of effort that Capt. F. L. Beals, in charge of military training in the high schools, was able to get rifles. Attempts to get old models stored in government arsenals were unavailing. The "Moysha" gun shoots only a blank, but in size, weight, shape, and mechanism it is the same as the standard army rifle, and has been used in the navy for drilling purposes. The only thing that caused the boys to lose interest in the military work was the lack of arms.

Training for the spring competitives and the big review in June will start as soon as the guns arrive.

New Games Instructor.

Dudley Grant Hays, director of the farm work in the high schools, hopes to place the champion boy harnesser and pitcher on a plane with the boy who does the 100 yard dash in :10 flat. And there will probably be more contests in hitching, plowing, cultivating, and driving than on the cinder track this spring.

Three sets of farm machinery are being assembled. They will be used for instruction of high school boys, each school getting a set in its turn.

Thrift Stamps Offered.

School principals will be allowed credit not to exceed $400, for the purchase of thrift stamps which children in the school will buy. The school board will deposit Liberty bonds with the Federal Reserve bank to the extent of $30,000, and it will be on that credit that principals may draw.

The plan has been outlined by Supt. Otis to increase the sale of thrift stamps. All the accounts will be examined by the auditor for the board, and the principals will have to report every two weeks the number of purchasers and the amounts. The superintendent will make a report to the school board at every regular meeting.

"L" Roads Now Ready to Discuss Freight Carrying

Officials of the elevated lines are ready at any time to negotiate with the city for the carrying of freight on their lines.

The subcommittee is looking into the possibility of a plan for allowing surface and elevated lines to carry package freight. The officials of the elevated lines said they would declare against the plan if it were only a war-time measure. They said they would not consent to it on these grounds because of the large expense entailed.

A week ago representatives of the surface lines declared they would favor the freight carrying question, provided it was a permanent and not a mere wartime measure.

C. T. David, representing Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., told the aldermen the firm wanted to approve the plan, as it would be of material aid in making deliveries in suburban districts.

QUEEN HELD FOR SHOOTING.

Dan Markham and his wife, Laura, Negroes, were locked up at the Chicago avenue station last night charged with attempting to shoot Mrs. Hazel Lafayette, colored, 1010 North La Salle street. The latter is attending Mrs. Mary Mallory and while an argument with the Markhams, who work in the Mallory home. Mrs. Lafayette claimed that Mrs. Markham pointed a revolver at her.

REVISED REGISTRATION

Figures Show Falling Off of Voters, Particularly Women.

REVISED registration figures made public yesterday by the election commissioners showed 682,583 names on the poll books. This was a decrease of 106,052, or 13.4 per cent from the total after the revision following the registration last March. The number of women registered dropped 45,477, or 15.2 per cent, and the number of men fell 60,575, or 12 per cent.

The ward figures also indicated that the decrease was heavier in the "independent" wards than in wards controlled by the organizations. The loss in the Sixth ward was 19.1 per cent of the men and 21.5 per cent of the women, a combined loss of 20 per cent for both sexes. An antithetical situation was found in the Twentieth ward. There the total decrease was only 3.3 per cent, that of the men being 3.8 per cent and that of the women 2.3 per cent.

Politicians listed several causes for the light enrollment. They mentioned the subordination of local politics to interest in the war, the lack of as many heated primary contests as there were last year, and the elimination of the "old style" general registration day with all polling places open and a general agitation in favor of registration. It is believed the figures will go up before the April election.

The comparison of the figures for this registration and the one in March, 1917, follows:

VICTIM TRAILS 'PARLOR BANKER' TO BROOKLYN

Adolph Wolkofsky, the "parlor banker," treasurer of the Illinois Savings and Loan association, accused of operating a confidence game, wherein he and other officers of the association, which was not incorporated, obtained nearly $100,000 of the savings of their victims, and who has been a fugitive for the last two weeks, was arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., according to a telegram received yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Max Biederman from the New York police.

Wolkofsky was arrested on the streets in Brooklyn the preceding evening, according to Mr. Biederman's advices, having been identified by one of his victims, who had been trailing him. The trailer pointed out the fugitive to a policeman, who took him into custody.

An officer with extradition papers will leave for New York today, Mr. Biederman said last night, and bring Wolkofsky back. He will be indicted for operating a confidence game. Attorneys for creditors said last night that in all probability there will be other indictments also, and mentioned Aaron H. Wiener, president of the association, and Louis Chavin, one of its trustees, as likely to be included in the indictments.

I. C. ENGINE DITCHED.

Passengers on an Illinois Central train from St. Louis were shaken up yesterday when the engine was sideswiped by a freight train near Matteson and went into a ditch. The fireman and engineer were uninjured. None of the cars left the tracks.

OFFERS $1,000 TO U. S. NOW FOR NEXT LIBERTY

A letter received by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago read as follows:

"Gentlemen: I have on hand for the next Liberty loan $1,000, and if the government can use it, let me know and I will send check by return mail. I do not ask any interest on it, but send me receipt for same, that I can use for next bond sale."

The writer is George H. Lorenzen, manager of the furniture and undertaking firm of J. H. Lorenzen & Son of Montezuma, Ind. Federal reserve bank officials replied to the letter, commending Mr. Lorenzen for what they termed "the most striking expression of patriotism that has come to our attention." They put him down for $1,000 worth of the United States treasury certificates of indebtedness which the government is now issuing for the next Liberty loan. By return mail they received from Mr. Lorenzen a letter reading, in part:

"Inclosed find check for $1,000."

Helen Bishop Couldn't Keep Away from Uniforms

Helen Bishop loves the boys of the army and navy. A few weeks ago she was warned by federal authorities to stay away from them. She promised. Now she faces a charge of larceny for stealing a $150 diamond ring from Private John J. Daley. Daley obtained a warrant for her arrest yesterday. She lived at the Imperial hotel, State and Van Buren streets.

DRYS WON'T TRY TO GET CONVERTS TO THEIR CAUSE

Will Exert Themselves to Get Adherents to the Polls.

Chicago drys opened up their anti-booze offensive last night with an organization meeting at the Y. M. C. A. It was their first meeting since the successful completion of the dry petition.

Practically every dry leader was present from Philip Yarrow, head of the Dry Chicago federation, to "Buttermilk Steve" Sumner, who said he was so ultra and uncompromisingly dry that he had given up grape juice and apple ade.

Issue of "Prussianism."

"Prussianism" is to be one of the leading points of attack by the drys, who will attempt to show that the liquor people are backed by anti-American votes. The note was sounded by Mr. Yarrow, who said that William Legner—or Wilhelm Legner, as Mr. Yarrow called him—leader of the wets, was born in Prussia.

He said that twenty saloons, owned or controlled by brewery companies of which Mr. Legner is president, had remained open on Monday and had violated the spirit of the fuel administration's order.

"This man," said Mr. Yarrow, "who pretends that our petition is bogus winks at the violation of the law in his saloons."

The campaign is to be carried on with the assumption that there are enough drys in Chicago to vote the city dry, but that the drys are not registered and are not in the habit of voting. Organization meetings are to be held every few days at the Y. M. C. A. to prepare for a thorough canvass of the city.

Method of Campaigning.

In the canvass the workers are not to argue or try to convert. They are merely to list the names of the drys, the wets, and the doubtfuls and to urge the drys to register and vote.

"If all the drys of Chicago vote," he said, "our cause will be carried by 200,000 votes. But only 58 per cent of the drys are registered while approximately 92 per cent of the wets are on the registration books. Our big problem is to get the drys registered and get them to vote."

"If you don't get down to political brass tacks," said Jason E. Hammond, superintendent of organization, "the wets will laugh at you on election day."

"Buttermilk Steve," who is executive secretary of the milkwagon drivers' union, said he had been advocating soft drinks for sixty-one years. He is 68 years old. A letter has been sent to the mayors of all large dry cities of the country asking them to coöperate.

Boy Saves Mother When Her Clothing Catches Fire

Charles Janka, 13 year old son of Mrs. Frank Janka of Hammond, saved his mother's life yesterday. Mrs. Janka was burning rubbish in the yard when her clothes caught fire. Her screams brought her son, who tore off the blazing clothing and rolled her in the snow. The boy's hands were badly burned.

CAMP BUILDING PROFIT IS FAIR, SAYS BUILDER

Leslie Witherspoon, vice president of the George A. Fuller company, with offices in Chicago and elsewhere, when asked about the figures given before the senate investigating committee in Washington yesterday to show that the company profited $250,000 in constructing each of two cantonments, said that the fee was relatively small.

One of the camps built by the Fuller company is at Fort Riley, Kas., and the other at Quantico, Va. Mr. Witherspoon said that he knew only of the Kansas camp, the building of which he supervised.

"When one stops to think that this camp cost $7,000,000 and that we earned only about 3½ per cent and that, at times, we had as much as $900,000 of our own money tied up in the project, without interest, advancing it to push the work, it certainly does not seem excessive. The government limited the profits on any one cantonment at $250,000 to the builder."

Arrested for Jackrolling on Steps of Church

Frank Soufi, who gave his address as the Fremont hotel on Madison street, was arrested last night on the steps of St. Patrick's Catholic church, West Adams and South Desplaines streets, where he is said to have been "jackrolling" Joseph Baker, a tailor, of Naperville, Ill., who the police say was in an intoxicated condition.

The attention of the policemen, who were walking on Desplaines street, was called to the robbery by members of the church who were leaving after services.

CHILD RUN DOWN BY AUTO.

Charles Christiansen, the 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christiansen of 4351 West North avenue, is in the West Suburban hospital suffering from a concussion of the brain as the result of being struck by an automobile owned and driven by George A. Strom, 1140 Farwell street, early yesterday at North and Grand avenues.

COURT DENIES TRIBUNE MOTION IN FORD SUIT

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 12.—Judge Willis B. Perkins today denied the motion of The Chicago Tribune company to quash the service in the suit brought by Henry Ford on the ground that the company, although a foreign corporation, was really doing business in the state of Michigan to such an extent and in such a manner that it subjected itself to service of process in that state.

The motion of The Tribune company to quash the service was based upon the theory that forcing The Tribune company to defend in Michigan would be a taking of its property without due process of law and in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the constitution of the United States. The decision of the trial court was based on the theory that, while The Tribune company was not a citizen of Michigan, nevertheless it had its agents and employés soliciting business in that state and that it shipped newspapers into that state by mail and by express to dealers and to subscribers, and in so doing The Tribune company rendered itself amenable to service of process issued by the Michigan courts.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland of the law firm of Shepard, McCormick, Thomason, Kirkland & Patterson, representing The Tribune, in discussing the court's opinion said: "We have not yet received a copy of the court's opinion, but the merits of the controversy are not in any way involved in the decision of this motion. The only question involved was whether The Tribune company was subject to the service of process in Michigan and whether or not Circulation Promoter Engel was an agent of such authority that he could be served."

DEATH STARTS INQUIRY.

Carl Baerwaldt, 74 years old, died yesterday at 2418 Southport avenue. An odor of gas in his bedroom led the police to believe that he had come to his death by gas asphyxiation either through accident or intent and an investigation was begun.

W. W. McBride of Omaha called at SYSTEM'S office in Chicago while on a trip, and remarked, among other things, "I wish you folks could find out some ideas that would build a success equal to that of John Cogan of our town. He is a wonder, but nobody can get hold of how he does it."

McBride nearly fell out of his chair when the editor handed him a typewritten manuscript and said, "Here are Cogan's methods written out in full by himself for SYSTEM and soon to be printed."

the Coal Shortage means more FIRES and bigger FIRES

PYRENE WILL NOT FREEZE AT 50 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

If you wish to stay in business we advise you to read the following: The existing coal shortage in mid-winter puts all manufacturers face to face with the most serious fire problem in the history of business.

Hundreds of plants are employing dangerous secondary means of heating. Is yours?

Hundreds are depending on frozen fire equipment or on sprinkler systems drained to prevent freezing. How about yours?

Do you realize that frozen equipment is worse than no equipment?—that gasoline torches used for thawing frozen pipes are causing innumerable fires?

Do you realize that city fire departments are seriously handicapped by cold? And by snow?

And do you know that insurance officials and fire chiefs consider the situation alarming?

The only thing that can make a plant safe today is Pyrene. For Pyrene extinguishers do not freeze even at 50 below zero.

Light and quick and deadly to incipient fires. Especially adapted to killing incendiary or other quick starting dangerous blazes. Have you plenty of Pyrenes in your plant? Order at once if you haven't. Remember your motor trucks, too!

Watch out for incendiaries. They are loose everywhere. If they haven't reached you as yet, they may pay their respects any day.

Call the police instantly if you see suspicious persons near your plant. Every factory or motor truck burned helps the Kaiser.

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Chicago Cubs cannot have Vic Saier next summer, nor can they collect one penny from the Pittsburgh club, which has him. That was decided today by the board of directors of the National league, which was in session previous to the regular league meeting which began in the afternoon.

President Tener decided some time ago that Saier belonged to Pittsburgh, but promised to reconsider the case when Chicago protested that at least it should be given $2,500 which it paid to him as salary after the time the player was claimed by the Pirates. It will be remembered Saier broke his leg near the start of the season and not long afterwards Chicago released him unconditionally, promising to pay the player his salary just the same. He was released so that another player might be carried and the limit of twenty-two men still observed.

Foxy Grandpa Grabs Vic.

Dreyfuss, who is the foxy man of the league on rules, claimed Saier about midseason, and technically he was right, but the Chicago club never dreamed he would be allowed to have the player while Chicago paid the salary. According to the board's interpretation of the rules Dreyfuss was correct and Chicago not only loses the player but also the salary paid him after he belonged to Pittsburgh. Chicago officials said they might appeal to the national commission.

After the board had ratified President Tener's appointments of umpires for next season, it was found that on the list of eight men is one new one, Charles B. Moran, a former football star at Vanderbilt university twenty years ago. He will take the place on the staff held last year by Kitty Bransfield. Moran was both pitcher and catcher at various times for the St. Louis Nationals. Last season he was an umpire in the Southern association.

Day for Griffith Fund.

The big task for the magnates at the regular session this afternoon was the adoption of the schedule. Only three conflicting dates with the American league are booked, all being Sundays in Chicago. The season will open on April 16 and close in the east on Oct. 5 and in the west on Oct. 6.

Wednesday, May 15, was set as the date on the western circuit, on which 25 per cent of the home clubs' share of the admissions is to be donated to Clark Griffith's bat and ball fund, and Tuesday, June 11, at the eastern parks. In case of postponement the following days' admissions will be taken.

Ban on "Goat Getting."

During the league session action was taken to deal harshly next season with "goat getters" on the coaching lines. The magnates went on record as being opposed to certain clubs hiring men as coaches especially adopted in the art of annoying the opposing pitcher, or in other words "getting his goat." Umpires will be instructed to put a stop to such methods.

DOCTORS GIVE DOUGLAS CHANCE

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Phil Douglas, pitcher for the Chicago Nationals, was reported much better tonight than this morning at St. Vincent's hospital. His doctors state if he can hold out for three or four days his chances will be excellent. Mrs. Douglas is with him. Douglas was operated on Sunday night for appendicitis.

MAROONS GET SQUARE FOR CUSTER DEFEAT; NIP SOLDIERS, 37-14

University of Chicago's basketball team last night squared accounts with the Camp Custer five, scoring a decisive victory over the soldiers at Bartlett gymnasium, 37 to 14. Camp Custer earlier in the season had beaten the Maroons at Battle Creek, 30 to 25. The score at half time in last night's encounter was 21 to 10, and the Maroons had a safe margin from the start of the game. Jackson, the football player who subbed at left guard for Bryan, made two pretty shots for baskets before leaving the game to give Long a chance to perform.

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

AT THE U. OF I. C.

According to an Illinois Central bulletin, Bob Carmichael, formerly official chaperon for that railroad, has been appointed its faculty for the education of employés in civility and politeness toward patrons. School opens next Saturday in the company's palatial edifice at Sixty-third and the tracks, and the first hour, we fancy, will be devoted to the ticket sellers, as follows:

Prof. Carmichael—Now, scholars, we will first take up middle-aged matrons and short hauls. We will presume that an unescorted lady of forty-nine wishes to go to Champaign. She enters the Park Row station, approaches a ticket window and says: "Can I buy a ticket here for Champaign?" What is the proper reply, Mr. Gumdrop?

Mr. Gumdrop—"No, madam. You'll have to visit the pickle department of the Rush Street bridge."

Prof. Carmichael—Incorrect, Mr. Gumdrop. Mr. Fudge, you tell us.

Mr. Fudge—I'd say: "You can buy a ticket to Berlin, as far as I'm concerned, old thing."

Prof. Carmichael—No, no, Mr. Fudge. Let us hear from Mr. Molasses.

Mr. Molasses—I'd say: "Have you got the price, old kid?"

Prof. Carmichael—I am afraid you young gentlemen have not been burning the midnight oil. As a time-saving device, I will pose as the ticket seller, while you, Mr. Lollipop, impersonate the lady. You will ask the usual questions and I will give the correct replies. All the scholars are requested to take down this dialogue for reference. Proceed, Mr. Lollipop.

Mr. Lollipop—Can I buy a ticket here for Champaign?

Prof. Carmichael—Indeed yes, Madame. I have long dreamed of the happy hour when I would be able to accommodate you in this respect.

Mr. Lollipop—How much is it?

Prof. Carmichael—You are indeed fortunate in your choice of a day for this peregrination. We are selling these particular tickets this morning to the fair sex only at $2.72 the pasteboard.

Mr. Lollipop—What time does the train leave?

Prof. Carmichael—At the witching hour of 9:15. Madame understands of course that this is confidential. I place great reliance in Madame's discretion.

Mr. Lollipop (much pleased)—And what time is it due at Champaign?

Prof. Carmichael—Ah, Madame, that depends entirely on your own sweet will. As a rule, we aim to have it arrive at 12:12 post meridian, or as the French have it, twelve minutes après midi. But if you fancy an earlier or later disembarkation, I shall communicate with the engine-driver.

Mr. Lollipop—Never mind. I have written my son to meet me and he will doubtless be on hand at the train's usual time of arrival. He is in the university at Urbana.

Prof. Carmichael—Madame is surely jesting. I cannot believe Madame has a son old enough to be a student in college. A stepson or godson, peradventure.

Mr. Lollipop (smirking)—No, I'm afraid I must confess he is my own son.

Prof. Carmichael—Then Madame must have entered the Elysian Fields of Connubial Wedlock while still in her early teens. May I not express my profound veneration of the judgment and good taste of him who foresaw in the bud the incomparable glory of the blossom?

Mr. Lollipop—Where can I buy a magazine?

Prof. Carmichael—Madame will find them over there, across this spacious court. And perhaps I may venture the divination that Madame does not seek a fashion magazine, as Madame's garb proves her far in advance of any suggestion such a periodical might offer.

Mr. Lollipop—Would it be cheaper for me to buy a round trip?

Prof. Carmichael—No, Madame. But loyalty to Chicago prompts me to beg that you do so, that this great metropolis may be assured of your return and blissfully look forward thereto.

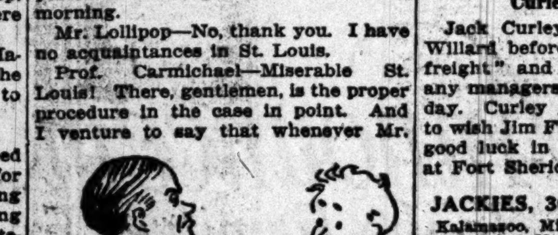

Mr. Lollipop—Well, I guess a one-way will be all right.

Prof. Carmichael—As Madame wills. And can I interest Madame in nothing else? Tickets to St. Louis, freshly printed last night, are reasonably priced and selling like hot cakes this morning.

Mr. Lollipop—No, thank you. I have no acquaintances in St. Louis.

Prof. Carmichael—Miserable St. Louis! There, gentlemen, is the proper procedure in the case in point. And I venture to say that whenever Mr.

Lollipop's lady wants to visit Champaign, she will travel on our line. Mr. Molasses, I will have to ask you to refrain from whispering, and you, Mr. Fudge, kindly remove your feet from your desk.

CHEYENNE OIL MEN SEND ENVOY TO SIGN JESS AND DEMPSEY

"Tribune" Decisions

Decisions of "Tribune" fight representatives are:

BY RAY PEARSON.

When a syndicate of oil men in Wyoming, headed by P. Chester Thompson of Cheyenne, set the wheels revolving with the view of staging a heavyweight championship bout between Jess Willard and some aspirant for his title on July 4, and failed to get the consent of Willard, it was believed that it had given up the effort as futile.

The Wyoming men in their original offer to Willard, which was made for to Willard, which was made through The Tribune, stated they had $100,000 which would be paid to the Red Cross or some other war charity. Willard previously had stated that he would fight for such a cause.

Asks War Department's O. K.

Developments of yesterday showed that the westerners have been making progress and that a battle between the champion and Jack Dempsey, the Californian, practically has been clinched for Independence day at Fort D. A. Russell, located just out of the city limits of Cheyenne. This was indicated by the word of P. Chester Thompson, who yesterday stated in Cheyenne:

"The only obstacle to complete arrangements for the championship fight here between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey on July 4 is the full sanction of the war department at Washington."

Curley on the Scene.

Jack Curley, who used to manage Willard before the latter "pulled his freight" and decided he didn't need any managers, was in the city yesterday. Curley just visited and wanted to wish Jim Flynn, whom he manages, good luck in his bout with Dempsey at Fort Sheridan tomorrow night.

Wake up with head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, cold gone.

Take one or two Cascarets tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up feeling grand, your head will be clear, your tongue clean, breath sweet, stomach regulated and your liver and thirty feet of bowels active. Get a box at any drug store now and get straightened up by morning. Stop the headache, biliousness, bad colds and bad days. Feel fit and ready for work or play. Cascarets do not gripe, sicken or inconvenience you the next day like salts, pills or calomel. They're fine.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret any time to cross, sick, bilious or feverish children because it will act thoroughly and cannot injure.—Advertisement.

Exhaust Echoes

By SHEPPARD BUTLER

Chicagoans who may be interested in giving the new Doble steam car the conventional once-over are warned that today brings them their last opportunity for the immediate present. There's a special exhibit under way at 2250 Michigan avenue, but when it closes this evening the three machines on view will be taken elsewhere and Chicago will be Dobleless probably until some time in April. Then the builders hope they'll be able to begin filling their orders, of which, it is said, they have 11,000 on their books. And not until then are the Chicago distributors promised demonstrating cars of their own.

The least conspicuous person at the Doble exhibit is a slender youth not so long out of college [he's still in his twenties, as a matter of fact] who seems to have an uncanny ability at answering questions about the curiously arranged chassis. This happens to be Abner Doble himself, designer of the new car.

If you are particularly fortunate, Mr. Doble may take you out for a spin in the rakish white car which he built for his own use. In any case, there are remarkable tales to be heard of the machine's prowess. Its steam, for example, is condensed and used over and over, so that, in one series of tests, it ran 2,700 miles on one filling of the water tank. On kerosene, the only fuel used, it has been averaging eight and one-half miles to the gallon—the cost equivalent, at prevailing prices, of about 21 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

CHICAGO WOMEN WIN AT BELLEAIR

THREE RIFLE MATCHES TONIGHT.

The second round of competitive matches in the Chicago Rifle association will be decided tonight at different ranges. The Centennial Rifle club will meet Ridgeville at 120 West Adams street, Commonwealth vs. Chicago Engineers at the same place, while the Chicago Rifle club will shoot against the Tri-Color club at 151 N. Michigan avenue.

SALEMS ADD ANOTHER VICTORY.

Salem Evangelicals clinched their hold on the Cook County Sunday School league basketball championship for this season, rounding out a record of fourteen straight victories, by beating Brooklines, 24 to 11, at Parker High gym. Henrichsen was star scorer with five baskets and a free throw.

CLAY COURT TOURNEY FOR CHICAGO ASKED BY WESTERN TENNIS

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

President L. Harry Waidner of Winnetka was reëlected president of the Western Lawn Tennis association for 1918 at the annual meeting at the Hotel Sherman last night, and the Waidner plan for changing the voting system of the National Tennis association so as to equalize the importance of various sections of the country received the enthusiastic support of all delegates.

The Waidner scheme, which is to organize all eleven tennis districts of the country as sectional associations, will be broached at the meeting of the national body in New York on Friday and probably will stir much discussion.

Wants Clay Tourney Here.

The western association instructed its delegate to the New York meeting to bid for the national clay court championship of 1918 for Chicago, and also indorsed the move to restore the championship title to all national tournaments this season. After much discussion the votes of the western association, it was decided, should be cast in the nations' meeting for the regularly nominated committee of national officers.

The full ticket elected for offices in the western association follows:

President—L. H. Waidner, Winnetka, Ill. Vice presidents—R. L. Van Arsdale, Chicago, and F. H. Floyd, Detroit. Secretary treasurer—J. C. Stewart, Chicago. Assistant secretary—Harry Walsh, Chicago. Directors—A. Von Reppert, St. Louis; Dr. N. A. Goddard, Milwaukee; H. S. Bennett, Kansas City, Mo.; Harry S. Knox, Chicago; H. L. Byers, Grinnell, Ia.; Walter T. Hayes, Chicago.

Funds Given for Ambulance.

The constitution was amended, separating the offices of secretary and treasurer after 1918, and changing the present board of directors to an executive committee.

The Western association and Chicago Tennis association each has given funds for one ambulance in France in addition to more than $2,000 raised last summer for the ambulance fund of the United States National Tennis association.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Lincoln's birthday would appear to be a fitting occasion on which to win a Liberty bond. So thought Hugh Heal of Toledo when he cracked out a run of 13 in the American Billiard Players' Ambulance Fund tournament at the Inter Ocean building yesterday and became candidate in chief for the bond offered by Frank Scherzinger for high run.

This run ties the mark of 13 made by William Huey March 16, 1915, in the world's tournament in the same building. John Daly had next best with 12.

Heal's mark came near the finish of a slam-bang game in which he defeated Pierre Maupome of Cleveland, the Interstate league champion, 50 to 35, in 50 innings.

Ohio Rivals in Action.

Rivalry between Cleveland and Toledo may have added pep to the battle, as, in the parlance of the ring, they went at it hammer and tongs. As soon as one missed the other was up to the table, it being evident they were out to show their skill as executionists rather than strategists.

Points came fairly fast and at the thirtieth inning Heal led, 26 to 25. Ten innings later they each had 33. In the forty-second inning Heal let off his big bomb, and luck was with him. On his third shot he kissed on and on the seventh he took two cushions he had not played for, and kept on until he had notched 13. This feat brought a round of applause and left Hughey only four points from the wire, which he made in his next seven innings. The defeat put Maupome in fourth place. Score:

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The mad hatter does not reside constantly in "Alice Through the Looking Glass." He has the run of the world and every season he brings forth fancies that make our heads swim. Who wears these hats, anyway? We do not know. We never see them. But the queer, skewed, gnarled, and bedizened bonnets leap from their warrens every spring and cause the fashion writer to sharpen her pencil.

It seems that hats are just brimming over this spring. Many of the French hats have double brims—one of straw and one of something else. Thus, Maria Guy takes a crown of black satin, very softly draped, attaches it to a brim of the same material, and then adds a lower brim of black [illegible] with a sharp point in front, from which the sides widen to a considerable distance. The last touch is a stickup of jet.

Chrysanthemum straw is much used this spring and navy blue is the favored color in all hats. Next to this conservative shade come tan and beige. A novelty of the season is silk braid which comes by the yard and which is used extensively for trimming. One designer achieves smartness by a lattice work of alternate dull and shiny straw and another uses quills which are defeathered half their length. So goes the hat merry-go-round.

The above evening frock shows three-quarter sleeves. The gown is made of geranium colored velvet and the graceful draping over the hips ends in a long train. The trimming is of skunk.

Real Love Stories

Kindred Souls.

Father, mother, and I had just opened up a dear little place in the country. Some friends had come out in a motor, and there was a guest, a business friend of father's, whom mother, I felt certain, had invited with designs.

He was decidedly ungainly and unattractive, but he was a fine man in every way, of good family and doing splendidly in business. He was not very young, but neither was I, and though I knew he would be a courteous, rather than an ardent wooer, I felt quite sure he was there for the purpose mother had intended, and I was seriously considering him as a suitor.

We were on the terrace having tea, when a daughter of one of the neighboring farmers called. Only a deep conviction of duty could have brought her there, and she was painfully embarrassed. Her manner, clothes, features, everything, were such as to give one the worst impression possible. While I was still speaking to her myself, trying to put her at ease, before she met the others, I was called to the telephone, and turned to make her acquainted with the nearest person, who happened to be my would-be suitor.

I returned as quickly as possible, but they did not need me. Those two, to the average observer, uninteresting persons were so engrossed with one another that they did not even see the rest of us until the party broke up. From that day he paid her the most devoted attention and the courtship was swift and impassioned.

They have a most attractive home in our neighborhood now. You feel upon entering, the atmosphere of love and kindliness that surrounds them. Mr. Gray is a handsome and charming man—his wife a beautiful and gracious woman. And they have two delightful small children.

Love and a very few years have almost wrought a miracle—or so it seems to me. But I do believe that they needed each other to bring out their best qualities, and no other person or circumstance could ever have done it. R. K. C.

CLUB NOTES

Miss Estelle Hunter of the federal children's bureau in Chicago was one of the speakers yesterday at the Woman's City club. She outlined the work of the bureau in Washington and in various cities where surveys of infant mortality rates, industrial conditions for children, child labor laws, etc., had been made. It was announced that a survey would soon be undertaken in Gary with regard to industrial conditions for children there.

Dr. Effa Davis spoke at the same meeting, urging the need for housework as a wholesome form of exercise for women. She cited the fact that more women are doing their own housework since war began as one of the good things that had come of it.

The Arché club will hold its annual view day at the Art institute on Friday from 2 to 5 p. m., when a picture will be purchased from the exhibit of Chicago artists. No lists of pictures will be mailed to members, owing to a rearrangement of program at the institute on account of the Alumni exhibit, and ballots may be obtained that afternoon. The literature study class will hold its meeting in the clubroom of the Art institute at 10:30 a. m. Friday.

The club has passed resolutions indorsing the report of the milk commission and pledging its support in any effort to effect economics in distribution.

Crippled children of Chicago will be beneficiaries of a reception and pivot party of Chicago chapter 2, Woman's Organization of Retail Druggists, held in the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

Tribune Cook Book

THIS IS WHEATLESS DAY!

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Bread with Substitutes.

In President Wilson's proclamation of Jan. 31, with the new regulations for bakers, the list of wheat flour substitutes that they might use were bran, shorts and middlings, corn flour, corn meal, edible corn starch, hominy, corn grits, barley flour, rolled oats, oat meal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, milo flours and similar flours and meals, bean meal, peanut meal, and casava, taro, and banana flours.

Added to this was the statement: "Bread made of graham or whole wheat flour will be regarded as bread made with substitute flour."

In this statement we have a much mooted question settled. Since we have been asked to save wheat, and graham and whole wheat flours are all wheat, it has been hard to understand why we could use them consistently. More than one bit of information sifting down to us from Washington seems to indicate that these have been used right along there. The actual starch content of a wheat kernel is about 82 per cent.

In making breads entirely from wheat or graham, and using our product entirely, it is mostly beaten breads rather than kneaded that we must make. If we sift whole wheat or graham we can use the product exactly like white flour. A little recipe for whole wheat drop biscuit that I cannot vouch for from recent trial, as I excluded whole wheat in my idea of saving wheat, is:

Two cups of whole wheat flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-half cup of seeded raisins if you like, one teaspoon of salt, two tablespoons of shortening, one and one-half cups of milk (or scant this according to need); one egg, one tablespoon of butter for brushing over biscuits as soon as taken from oven, if you like. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt; add shortening and rub in lightly. If using a liquid shortening beat with the milk. Beat the egg light, add to it the milk and then the flour gradually. Drop on pan dusted with flour, not too close together, or bake in muffin tins. Put in hot oven and bake from fifteen to twenty minutes, or, if tiny cakes, twelve to fifteen minutes.

Mrs. Emma B. Sherwood generously contributes the following recipe for her Liberty oat meal bread made with only one-third white flour: "Take one cup of rolled oats and one cup of boiling water, and let oats soften, not cook, for an hour; one-half cake of compressed yeast, dissolved in nearly a cup of warm water; add this to rolled oats, with one cup of white flour, one cup of rye flour, one teaspoon of salt, one small tablespoon of molasses, one dessertspoon of sugar, and one tablespoon of melted fat. Stir all together, let rise in a pan, set in another one of warm water. When risen to double what it was in bulk, stir it lightly and put in one large or two small pans to rise again. Bake well in oven which is quite hot at first, but gradually less hot as it browns. It requires, if in one loaf, about forty-five minutes to bake. Do not knead at all. If you like raisins in it, use one cupful. It is an easy bread to make, and is quickly made, but, best of all, it is really good."

Mrs. Sherwood says: "For years and years I have been experimenting and improving the art of good bread making in our home, until I can say without egotism that I understand flour manipulations better than I understand anything else." She says that you can enjoy this "Liberty bread," "which is more than can be said of most of the white flour bread substitutes that I have tasted."

MARGARET M.: Fine, thank you, and hope you are the same. O, yes, I always take good care of myself. I would get another parrot only I am informed by the members of the family that if I do it will be Polly and I on our own for the rest of our lives. And at that one does prefer human beings.

Mr. Yardley.....Ernest Maupain
Vincent Tessier.....Denton Vane
The Rev. Francis Vivian.....Fred Peters
Marion.....Charles Horton
Rose.....Louise Du Pre
Mrs. Ryde.....Eleanor Lawson

By Mae Tinée.

Despite my predilection for Earle Williams and the other Vitagraph stock players, I find it not in me to enthuse at all over "A Mother's Sin." So, I imagine, felt Mr. Williams when the picture was in the taking, for his acting is colorless, distrait, technically perfect, emotionally lacking. He knows he's worth something so much better, but, well—the pot must boil!

CLASS: Third or fourth.

STORY: It is patterned after paper covered novels we all have read. The smooth villain inherits the property rightfully belonging to the son. Being a villain indeed, he wooes and betrays a girl, using the son's name. When she commits suicide the son, of course, is blamed, with the result that the girl he loves turns from him, later becoming engaged to the villain. A final will, found in an old book, explanations, etc., clear up matters. The villain meets death at the hands of a blackmailing valet formerly in his employ, and the story ends, as you see, as right as anything.

ACTING: Pretty good on the whole. Ernest Maupain, as the father afflicted with heart trouble, does a lot too much melodramatic staggering, but maybe, after all, it was the staggers and not heart disease that he had—doctors are so often wrong. Mr. Williams is mannerly, though bored, and Denton Vane villains expertly. The feminine members of the cast, who haven't a great deal to do, do it all right.

DIRECTION: Too good for the story.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Nothing the matter with it.

RESUME: An average program picture. Neither notably clever nor classy.

THOSE U. S. GOVERNMENT WAR PICTURES.

The only theater in Chicago open yesterday (McVicker's) did a land office business. To all appearances the entire town turned out to see our soldiers and jackies in action, training strenuously so that when the time of active conflict comes the Stars and Stripes may wave victorious.

The pictures are splendid ones, full of clean, virile action, informative and excellently photographed. They take you right into the United States training camps and the naval training stations, and present to you vividly just what your boy and your neighbor's boy are doing. As a patriotic citizen you cannot afford to miss seeing these pictures.

Proceeds from the film will go to the State Council of Defense.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The first floor of the home was reached at the rear by climbing a flight of stairs. One evening the family came from town with a good many parcels, which the father, mother, and son, Eugene, proceeded to carry into the house, Eugene going up the steps first. As they neared the top step the father said, forgetting momentarily that the youngster's arms were full, too, "Open the screen door, son," to which the youngster replied: "I can't papa, I'm all used." E. R. S.

The teacher had asked the children to tell her something about giants when one little boy blurted out: "A giant is an awfully—great—oh, big, big man—" and then a pause and, fearing some one would think he believed in them, quickly added: "But most everybody knows there isn't any!" M. G.

Edward saw his father in his dress suit for the first time the other evening. He looked him over from head to foot, then said: "You look just like a gentleman, daddy." B. K. D.

This Is Red Cross Day in the Schools

This is Red Cross day in schools all over America. The following types of work may be emphasized by the teachers:

(b) Work in war—for sick and wounded soldiers, for destitute civilians and war refugees, for the families of absent sailors and soldiers.

(c) Civic work—food and fuel conservation, all methods of beautifying the community and furthering good government.

Tomorrow is History day.

O, Strap Hangers, Have You Met the Lady Clawer Yet?

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WAS IT YOU?

Bad temper is the ugliest thing in woman, and I saw an exhibition of it that entitles one young woman in Chicago to the championship in public exhibitions.

She was a little person about 23 or so—sharp featured, hard mouthed, and narrow eyed. Outside of that, given a decent disposition, she would have passed as not bad looking and certainly well dressed.

There was an unusual crowd on the elevated platform. Of course, there was much crowding when it came time to get in the train. I looked up in time to see this little cat strike her claws at the face of a tall, heavy woman at her side. And she brought them down the tall one's face so vigorously that marks were left there. A hard slap preceded the clawing. I couldn't believe my eyes. The tall woman—poorly dressed, but superior in breeding by many degrees—gave no retaliating blow. A man was with her. He said: "I'd like to throw her off the train."

No matter what the small one's defense about being shoved and pushed, she had no more complaint than any others of us. And no one else did more than make the ordinary pleas for less shoving. And most were good natured and laughing about it.

MRS. B.: YOU ARE A DOUBTING Thomas, all right! Mrs. Eva Lane was a flesh and blood person quite as much as you are—in fact, I might say, more than you by fifty pounds, before she was reduced. And she was reduced thirty-six pounds in six weeks. You certainly may have the instructions, which I have in pamphlet form if you'll send me stamped, addressed envelope.

Society and Entertainments

War Pictures by Warriors Feature of War Work Party

BY CINDERELLA.

The Countiss house on the Lake Shore drive near Lincoln park looked exactly like a nunnery on Monday. From 9 o'clock onwards its stone corridors and stairs were alive with white uniformed and veiled women workers for the naval auxiliary of the Red Cross, coming to do their bit in the surgical dressings.

It was about the first nice respectable day of the winter, sunny and warm, and everybody felt much more like play than work.

But as the slaves to duty arrived, willy nilly, their bonnets and shawls were taken from them by attentive maids and the snowy coverings substituted. Mrs. Countiss presided over all activities, an engaging abbess, rather too lovely and distracting, to be sure, but very busy. She, too, was in white, but sheer, lovely, gauzy white, from satin slipper to the tiptop of Red Cross veil.

The conservatory was laid out with green topped tables, three, the great dining room with three more. In a corner supreme supervisor, in her honorable red veil and insignia of the Red Cross, sat Mrs. John Gary, counting and wrapping. Mrs. Vennard and Miss Barrick were others who fed the omnivorous workers gauzes, which vanished the way old fashioned snow used to in the sun. For everybody was working at top speed, trying to establish a record for the naval auxiliary.

At 1 o'clock a light wartime luncheon was served and at half after 3 a program by French officers and aviators was staged. One couldn't help thinking how Mr. Belasco would have appreciated these beautiful white rooms full of hard working white sisters, with the blue uniforms and dashing appearance of the fighting men, telling tales of fierce combats their eyes had seen.

Maj. Eckenfelder has great fun with the English language; he says "Great Scot" and "Holy Moses" just the way we Americans do. His talk was largely a refutation of German propaganda and a sketch of the strength of the present French armament. His most interesting and thrilling remark was about Russia, which, he said, had signed her secret peace treaty with Germany last April. Immediately afterwards great divisions of picked German troops appeared on the western front which had been engaged on the Russian frontier. The remaining divisions, he said, were of inferior caliber.

Sergt. de Rooda, three years in the French aviation battling fiercely with the enemy, spoke of his poignant sensations on meeting members of the Bulgarian and Turkish embassies in Washington society. It seems we're not at war with the Turk and the Bulgar yet. "Watch your words, watch your words, as they say in Paris."

Sergt. Reno is another flyer who anecdoted. He told lively stories about cooties, and about one of his first combats with enemy planes. He had gone out with his lieutenant, Urbain, to "get" a German sausage—an observation balloon. While enjoying themselves several miles up six red German "circus planes" attacked the two French aeros, three for each. Sergt. Reno outmaneuvered the Germans and outdistanced their fastest motors home. Later Lieut. Urbain came scuttling back to terrain with a great banging of guns. He had destroyed two planes and killed their pilots.

Valentine Eve Dinner Dance at The Opera Club

The Opera club will be gay with valentine decorations this evening when the annual valentine eve dinner dance will take place. The members of the club will be given valentine decorations to wear. Actors and actresses will be dinner guests of the club. There will be dancing by a young protégée of Mrs. Charles W. Folds, whose identity will be concealed. An Adirondack camp supper will be served after the theater.

The wedding of Miss Ellen Ryerson, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Ryerson of 2700 Lake View avenue, and Victor Salvatore, the sculptor, of New York, took place yesterday afternoon in an improvised chapel in Mrs. Ryerson's residence. The ceremony was performed by Bishop C. P. Anderson. Above the altar were festoons of garlands, besides three charming old mural paintings which formed the ceiling. For the guests there were four benches and at the head of the aisles were tall cathedral candles. A boy choir furnished the music of the service.

The bride's gown was of heavy ivory satin and her veil was caught by a filet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of white blossoms with green. Mrs. George H. Clarke, her sister, was matron of honor and was gowned in pale blue chiffon over pink. Edward L. Ryerson, the uncle of the bride, gave her away. Henry O. Milliken was best man. John Ryerson, who is at Yale, came from New Haven for his sister's wedding, and returned again last evening.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Watson Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Payson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Medill McCormick, Mrs. Joseph Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winterbotham Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Winterbotham, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Frank Cramer, Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. E. W. Cramer, Mrs. F. S. Eames, and Mrs. E. S. Worthington. Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore left last evening for Montecito, Cal., where they will have a cottage built for them by Mrs. Ryerson. Later they will return to New York, where Mr. Salvatore's studio is.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster for a reception to be held on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Blackstone hotel to meet Dr. C. Angelescu, Roumanian minister to the United States, who is to be in the city for the Roumanian massmeeting to be held at the Auditorium theater on Sunday afternoon. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Brewster will be hosts at a dinner. Mr. Brewster has been made Roumanian consul in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon of 39 East Schiller street left yesterday with their baby for Treasure island in the Bahamas, where Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon spent their honeymoon. Mrs. McCutcheon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw of 1130 Lake Shore drive, are accompanying them.

At a meeting of Le Cercle Français, which is to be held next Tuesday at the Chicago College club, Mme. Auguste Babize will speak on the life of Mme. Roland and a play concerning the life of Mme. Roland will be given.

Mask Ball

A mask ball was given by the Evanston Country club last night.

Woods Joins Shuberts; News and Vaudeville

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Shubert-Klaw and Erlanger hostilities became more bitter this evening when it was announced that A. H. Woods had affiliated himself and his fifteen attractions with the Shubert forces. Lee Shubert made the announcement after an all night conference, saying, "There never has been anything but war between us and K. & E. We regard the acquisition of Mr. Woods' plays as a merchant would regard obtaining a desirable line of merchandise to sell." Mr. Shubert refused to confirm the report that $450,000 was paid to Mr. Woods for privilege of booking his enterprises.

Said Mr. Woods, "I have not disposed of my theaters or productions and there is not the remotest possibility of my doing so. With more than a dozen companies and a prosperous season at hand nothing could induce me to sell my interests. It is true that the Shuberts offered me an almost fabulous price for a half interest in my properties. When I refused to sell an interest we succeeded in negotiating a booking arrangement."

The Shuberts are in similar negotiation with Cohan and Harris, Selwyn & Co., and other firms who book wholly or in part with Klaw and Erlanger.

THEATER NOTES.

A dispatch to THE TRIBUNE from London last night says that Miss Shirley Kellogg, formerly of Chicago, was seriously injured Monday evening while playing the leading rôle in "Cheating Cheaters" at the Strand theater. She fell in the third act, injuring her spine, and was taken unconscious to the Savoy hotel. Miss Kellogg was once a member of the Follies. She is the wife of Albert De Courville, the F. Ziegfeld of London.

Miss Julia Sanderson and Joseph Cawthorne will reach the Illinois two weeks from Sunday in "Rambler Rose."

At the Majestic:

Harry and Grace Ellsworth—Earnest workers in the cause of song and dance.

"The Question"—A problem farce wherein Sam Mann as a wise maniac wanders into a noisy group of blackmailers, gunmen, and white slavers and reforms them with sane counsels. Nothing louder in vaudeville.

Seven Honey Boys—In a miniature minstrel show composed of burnt cork, male sopranos, jigs, wheezes, et cetera. They add to the psalter of war a wormy carol named "Liberty Bell," which is popular with the drivel-patriots.

Sallie Fisher—A pretty woman, a pretty voice, and a pretty song, in a sketch by Miss Clare Kummer called "The Choir Rehearsal." Miss Fisher impersonates the belle of Tuckertown, Mass., who has been expelled from chapel because she sang a worldly ballad entitled, "A Wonderful Thing," during the Sabbath services. Abhorred by the godly neighbors as a scarlet woman for so singing, she intrigues the new parson by her charm, and he, rescuing her from her pitiable plight, marries her. The sketch is careless, but the ballad is a beauty and Miss Fisher sings it as no other lady in musical comedy can sing a ballad. "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" is also rendered feelingly with parlor organ obbligato.

Walter Kelly—Presenting again his humorous study of the minor Virginia judiciary, distributing fines and imprisonments among the lowly lawbreakers of the tidewater district. Vaudeville at its best.

IF we believed it safe or desirable to compound powerful chemicals into a dentifrice we would do it.

It is easy.

But Jack the Germ Killers are dangerous.

No two cases are alike.

What's poison for one germ is food for another; and the drug-laden dentifrice good for one peculiar tooth-condition, may not be good for yours.

To cure—get a good Dentist; to clean, get a safe Dentifrice—

Sensation in Kankakee Court as Perjury Is Confessed.

The bottom yesterday dropped out of the defense case of Joe Clarke, ex-convict and firebug, on trial for arson before Judge A. W. De Selm in the Circuit court at Kankakee. Edward Jefferson, Clarke's chief alibi witness, took the witness stand for the state and admitted he had perjured himself to save Clarke from the pentientiary.

Clarke is accused of conspiring with Arthur Bauer to set the fire which burned down the store of the Model Clothing company of Kankakee with a $40,000 loss.

Jefferson's admissions caused a sensation. Clarence S. Darrow, attorney for Clarke, jumped to his feet and cross questioned Jefferson sharply. The attorney assured the court and the prosecutor he had no intimation that crooked testimony had been introduced in behalf of his client. Jefferson corroborated this.

Expect Further Disclosures.

During the day the prosecutor questioned Miss Mildred Sperry, Clarke's stenographer, who is also in custody. She will be placed on the witness stand today and further disclosures are expected. It was reported that another Chicagoan, who has appeared as a Clarke witness, may be arrested today.

Jefferson, who is employed as a fire insurance adjuster by Clarke, was arrested in Chicago on Monday on the perjury charge. He confessed yesterday morning to State's Attorney W. H. Dyer and the sheriff of Kankakee. He repeated the confession on the witness stand.

Framed in Clarke's Office.

He said his testimony was to be used to offset the testimony of Arthur Bauer, who had confessed he had conspired with Clarke in the latter's Chicago office to burn the Kankakee store. In his original story Jefferson says Clarke and Bauer did not meet in Clarke's office on the day named by Bauer. He said that he (Jefferson) and Clarke were in Hillside on that date planning a fire loss.

"I swore falsely about that," Jefferson testified. "Mr. Bauer did meet Clarke, just as he testified he did, in Clarke's office. Clarke asked me to swear to what I did at first. He said he would pay me a good sum."

"How much was he to have given you?" asked Mr. Dyer.

"No specific amount was agreed upon," replied the witness. "He said he would give me a fair and square deal. Miss Sperry, the stenographer, was not in the room at the time we talked over my testimony, but she knew about the deal."

Threatens Business District.

The fire which destroyed the Model Clothing company's building and threatened to burn the business section of Kankakee, occurred on Nov. 21, 1911. Firemen declared it was a "touchoff" and an investigation was started at once by the state fire marshal's office and the Kankakee authorities. Shortly after Arthur Bauer confessed he had set the fire for his brother, D. I. Bauer, because the latter, the owner of the stock, was badly involved financially. D. I. Bauer then confessed and both brothers implicated Clarke.

READS OF CHILD'S DEATH; COMES HOME; FORGIVEN

The body of Dorothy Hardus, 11 months old, who died Monday in her home at 2322 West Superior street, will not be buried in an unmarked grave in potter's field, it was learned yesterday by the police of the Warren avenue station, who had interested themselves in the case.

Joseph Hardus, father of the child, who left his home Feb. 1, after the death of another child, read the story of his daughter's death and yesterday returned to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Leddy Ellison, 2332 West Superior street, penitent, and was forgiven. He said that he would provide means to bury the child.

Mrs. Ellison, a short time after the death of Dorothy, appealed to the Warren avenue police for aid in getting a decent burial for her granddaughter, and yesterday Desk Sergts. Ryan and Clark received a number of telephone calls from women who offered to pay the expenses of a funeral.

ESCAPED LUNATIC FOUND IN Y.M.C.A. AT WAUKEGAN

Walter Hubel, who escaped from the Dunning hospital for the insane on Feb. 8 and wept like anything when he was given a job at the Louis F. Swift estate at Lake Forest, was found last night. It was the second time he was caught. His copious weeping aroused the suspicions of his fellow employés, who turned him over to the sheriff. He escaped from the sheriff a few days ago and a man hunt that lasted all night failed to locate him.

He turned up from nowhere at the Waukegan Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, said he had no money and wanted a room. He was given one, which he was allowed to earn by doing chores.

It was not until early in the evening that it was noted that he had signed the register with the name of the escaped lunatic. The sheriff succeeded in taking him to the jail this time. He will be returned to Dunning today.

IN FLIGHT

FANCHON ROSE.

DANCER HELD IN DENVER CASE OF GEM ROBBERY

"Fanchon" Witness to Episode of Clergyman and Woman.

A story of the flight of a dancer across several states following her testimony regarding a Colorado diamond robbery came to Chicago yesterday in the wake of Mrs. J. V. Rose, known as Fanchon, of Denver.

She was taken into custody yesterday after she registered at the National hotel and is in the woman's annex of the South Clark street station pending the arrival of Denver officers. The case in which she is involved as a supposed material witness concerns a society woman and a clergyman who were "held up" while at a roadhouse near Denver. The woman was robbed of diamond rings and brooches valued at $4,000.

Looking for Two Men.

Police here are seeking two men, said to have been keeping Fanchon under surveillance at the time of her detention. That she fears for her safety at the hands of persons whose identity she refuses to divulge was indicated immediately after her arrival here, when, according to the police, she sent the following telegram:

"District Attorney Samuel W. Johnson, Central Savings Bank building, Denver—Drop everything or the little dancer is gone."

Dispatches received last night from District Attorney Johnson affirmed the theory of the police that Fanchon had been trailed to Chicago and that she had been forced to send the telegram asking the state to drop the prosecution.

Climax to Robbery.

Fanchon's flight to Chicago came as a climax to the diamond robbery case, which supplied Denver with a sensation.

The parties involved were Mrs. Harry T. Nolan, wife of a wealthy Denver film distributor, and the Rev. Garrette P. Burke, one of the city's clergymen. It was early in January that the couple were in a private compartment of the roadhouse. Three masked men with revolvers entered and took Mrs. Nolan's gems.

The dancer was held as a witness. Following her story before the grand jury the three men were identified as the alleged robbers.

Get Your Hair Cut Now if You Can't Hire Valet

Take heart, ye meek and lowly ones who cannot hire a valet to do your barbering, for the price of haircuts will not be increased to fifty cents for another week, at least.

A committee from the Master Barbers' association, which ordained that haircuts shall be 50 cents, called yesterday upon Harry Moir, owner of the Morrison hotel and five barber shops and the only man in the loop who has refused to raise the price. The committee intended to try and convince him of the error of his ways, but when they arrived at his place of business they found him out of town.

CITY OUTSKIRTS THREATENED BY RIVER FLOODS

Colder Weather the Only Hope for Relief from Disaster.

Chicago is again threatened with isolation from points to the east and the south—this time by floods. The southern part of the city, lying in the basins of the Grand and Little Calumet rivers and towns near-by such as Joliet, Gary, East Gary, Hammond, Millers, and New Chicago, are even in more serious danger.

The thaw has transformed the two Calumet rivers, the Kankakee, the Desplaines, and Hickory and Spring creeks into torrents. They already have overflowed their banks, driving householders in their vicinity to places of safety. Hundreds of other families have been warned that they must flee if the streams rise higher.

Hope for Colder Weather.

Hope for relief from the flood peril lies principally in the weather forecast made last night. Colder weather is predicted and snow or rain may come with it. If the mercury goes below the freezing point danger will be averted for the time being. If it does not the flood conditions will become worse.

The prediction is that the mercury will hover around the 32 degree mark. Whether it will be above or below it is not indicated.

In Joliet the flood peril is the most serious and the city officials feared a repetition of the disastrous floods of 1902 and 1916. Huge ice jams in Hickory and Spring creeks, which drain a large tract of territory above Joliet, caused a flood in some parts of the city yesterday.

Residents Warned.

Police warned residents to prepare to leave their homes at a moment's notice and boats were placed at danger points. Dynamite gangs were stationed at the bridges to break up ice jams if they occurred. One jam occurred at the Richards street bridge and was broken up by a series of explosions after the water had overflowed into parts of the residence districts.

At the Jackson street dam a levee of 2,000 sand bags was constructed by the Public Service company.

The conditions existing in Joliet were approached in the southern part of the city. West Pullman reported that homes near the Calumet river had been deserted and that many streets had been transformed into miniature canals.

Basements Flooded.

Throughout the city basements were flooded and sidewalks and driveways covered with water. Street railway traffic was seriously interfered with for a time. Water accumulated in pools in the street depressions under the tracks of steam railroads. This water rose high enough on many streets to "burn out" the motors of trolley cars, which are only four inches above the street level. This made it impossible for the cars to go under the railroad tracks and temporary arrangements had to be made to provide relays of cars, passengers wading from one car to another.

Food stored in basements is in serious danger. Harry A. Wheeler, Food Administrator for Illinois, issued a warning to persons who have basement food stores to take precautions to prevent its being lost.

MUSIC TEACHER AND AGED AUNT DIE FROM GAS

Frederick J. L. Luetje, 56 years old, of 4411 Fulton street, a music teacher, and his aunt, Mrs. Emma Kleinstueber, 74 years old, a widow, were found asphyxiated by coal gas in their home yesterday when two neighbors forced their way into the house.

Arrest Policeman's Son on Charges of Larceny

Martin Nolan of 2402 South Canal street, wanted on seven charges of larceny, was arrested last night by Policeman P. J. Lally. The suspect, the son of Policeman John Nolan of the Brighton Park station, was implicated, the police say, by the confessions of three highwaymen.

WAR, ART, PEACE, TOPICS IN TALK BY MASEFIELD

English Poet Speaks at the Cordon; Says He Is No Pacifist.

John Masefield, the English poet, who has come to America to lecture, delivered an address yesterday afternoon at the Cordon. He speaks in behalf of the British bureau of public information. He prophesied a far wider democracy after the war than has existed before.

"There will be many beneficent social developments in countries after the war, and the greatest will be those in the countries with feudal traditions," declared Mr. Masefield. "The war has given equality of opportunity and the best man has in thousands of cases come to the front in the face of social precedence.

"One of the greatest questions when peace comes will be that of setting up some sort of machinery to prevent a recurrence of war on any such scale as that of the present one. Our thinkers should be able to evolve some social scheme for this end, just as they have worked out the intricate mechanisms of the aeroplane, the submarine, and the means of combating plague and typhus.

To End All Wars.

"To bring about the abolition altogether of war we must use an even greater power than that which has kept the world off the track in these last three years.

"The Americans, the French, and the English, the three nations which have done the most in the cause of liberty, will have a voice in remaking the social systems of this world and bringing them up to a point in accordance with man's present level in the universe. The thousands of dead—French, German, British, Italian, all lie there on the field because men have had the blood fever from which men have suffered. I am not a pacifist nor a visionary when I say this.

Not a Nourisher of Art.

"There has been a lot of foolish cant spoken about war," continued the poet. "It is false to say that the arts are nourished in time of war and decline in time of peace. Arts develop through the human brain, which does its best work when men are happy.

"Another fallacy is that when a nation is strong it is its duty to conquer a weaker nation for its own good. We have seen the horrors of this in the fate of Belgium and Serbia. The state to defend is the state of civilization. The man who has no confines to his mind is he who recognizes the great body of humanity, that does not admit of competing arms and powers and spites. It is for humanity that we must build in the future."

Mr. Masefield read a number of his poems at the end of his talk. Some of his references to the human tragedy in the German dead on the battlefield did not meet enthusiastic response from some of his hearers and the applause was not entirely spontaneous. He, however, denied pacifist inclinations and said we must fight the war through to a finish. Mr. Masefield will speak at the University of Chicago tomorrow.

THE LOOP SECTOR

Soldiers from Fort Sheridan Go Over the Top After Policemen and Lose.

Corp. R. J. Wiley and Private John Lyons of Company F, Fortieth infantry, stationed at Fort Sheridan, celebrated the end of a riotous day last night by going over the top into a patrol wagon.

After landing in a cell at the First precinct police station, they let down a barrage around their two cell mates whose loud cries brought a half dozen police to the rescue. To the distorted vision of Corp. Wiley and Private Lyons the coppers resembled German troopers and they did their best to uphold the traditions of the American army, but the odds were against them. A late bulletin from the front reported that both were snoring lustily.

It was 10 o'clock at State and Adams streets that inoffensive citizens first took on the aspect of invading Huns to the two soldiers. First they charged a Western Union messenger who fled before their attack. Then they started for Policeman Michael Hart, who took both under his wing and called a patrol wagon. As the two prisoners were being bundled into it, one let loose with a Paviowa back kick which landed in Hart's face with the force of a brick. He received first aid attention at a drug store.

LIMIT SENTENCE FOR HABITUAL CRIMINALS URGED

Record by State Would Lengthen Terms Under Law.

The Illinois state habitual criminal act offers a way for Chicago police and prosecutors to prevent the premature release on parole of habitual thieves, robbers, and gunmen, according to Chicago lawyers.

Under the terms of this statute, which was enacted in 1883, but which has not been used frequently, a second conviction for larceny, burglary, horse stealing, robbery, forgery, and counterfeiting may carry with it the definite maximum penalty for the crime.

The penalty for manslaughter and robbery with a gun is imprisonment for from one year to life in the penitentiary. A second conviction for either of these crimes would mean a life sentence, and under the new parole law a prisoner serving a life sentence is ineligible for parole until he has served twenty years in prison. The penalty for burglary is from one to twenty years, and second offenders convicted under the habitual criminal act would receive a definite sentence of twenty years.

Few "Habituals" Returned.

According to figures prepared under the direction of William Colvin, superintendent of the division of pardons and paroles, 451 men with previous criminal records have been sent from Chicago to Joliet during the last five years. Of this number only eight were sent down under the habitual criminal statute.

"There isn't any doubt that men found guilty of robbery with a gun for the second time can be put away in the penitentiary for a minimum term of twenty years despite the parole law," Attorney Thomas Marshall, who formerly headed the indictment department in the state's attorney's office, said yesterday. "The act was passed for the very purpose of soaking criminal repeaters hard.

"In order to convict under the act, however, the fact of a former conviction must be set out in the second indictment as a separate count. It is possible for a jury to ignore the habitual criminal count, but I never knew a jury to do that."

Check on Records.

Assistant State's Attorney Case, who handles the grand jury work in Mr. Hoyne's office, said last night that it is the policy of Mr. Hoyne to convict indicted men under the habitual criminal act wherever possible.

"There are many cases where this cannot be done," Mr. Case said. "We have a man who keeps a check on every man indicted and looks up his record. We get all that we can of them."

At several recent sessions of the special council subcommittee on crime police officers have stated that the majority of the holdups and robberies in Chicago are committed by repeaters or by men on parole from the Pontiac reformatory and the Joliet penitentiary.

NEW ENGLAND SOCIETY ELECTS.

The following officers for 1918-19 of the New England Society of Chicago have been elected: President, Dr. Joseph P. Cobb; first vice president, Edward O. Brown; second vice president, Sidney C. Eastman; secretary, Benjamin F. Paine; treasurer, Henry B. Kent; directors, Perley Lowe, Fred W. Moore, Wilbur A. Bancroft, Fletcher B. Gibbs, Charles W. Newton, William B. Bogart, L. Brackett Bishop, Albert C. Barnes, Francis T. Simmons.

CAMOUFLAGE

How He Escaped from the Bailiff.

EVERYBODY wondered how Christie Sweetman, vagrant, escaped from the bailiff in Judge Fry's court high up in the city hall last Wednesday after he had been sentenced to four months in the bridewell. It was supposed he had used the conventional method—climbed out on the narrow window ledge, promenaded half way around the building and slipped in at another window.

"Nix," he said in the police station last night. "I biffs this bailiff in the jaw and he drops. Then I makes a break for the stairs and a gang follows. Well, I finally got them thinking I had climbed out of an open window and they scattered around on the seventh floor waiting for me to climb in somewhere else.

"I sneaks on downstairs and finds the office of the waterpipe extension bureau; it's on the fourth floor. I takes off the coat, sits down at a desk, puts on a green shade over my eyes, and writes away like I was working on a regular job. Nobody says nothing to me and after a while a couple of bailiffs looks in for me, but everybody says they hadn't seen nobody like that. Then, after a little while, I puts on the coat, picks up the papers I had been writing, and strolls out."

Sweetman was arrested on suspicion last night. He said he had intended enlisting in the navy.

COUNCIL BODY FAVORS RAISE FOR POLICEMEN

Committee Indorses Plan Outlined by Alcock; Wants More Men.

Abolish the rank of detective sergeants, increase the pay of patrolmen, and add at least 1,700 uniformed men to the force, were the three suggestions made by Acting Chief of Police John H. Alcock to the council finance committee yesterday. His advice was given in response to inquiries as to what was needed to give Chicago an efficient police department and to keep the city free of crime.

"No civil service examination will make a detective," the acting chief told the aldermen. "We have 540 detective sergeants. About 25 per cent of them are efficient in the criminal catching business. The chief and I believe the rank should be abolished. Let us choose our own detectives from the patrolmen and we'll get better results. We should have at least 700 detectives.

"We need at the very least 1,700 more patrolmen. We now have 3,641, but only 1,800 of these are traveling beat because of the numerous calls for special details."

Raise Depends on Taxes.

The chief's increased pay schedule, which was agreed to by the aldermen, contingent upon getting larger taxing powers through a special session of the legislature, would raise the salaries of probationary patrolmen from $900 to $1,200; second year men from $1,000 to $1,320, and third year patrolmen from $1,320 to $1,500.

Policewomen, too, are to share in the salary raise if it is given, the new scale ranging from $960 to $1,200.

The chief also is asking the finance committee for a $50,000 fund for secret police work. Ald. Cullerton's council order creating such a fund is being considered by the committee.

The aldermen took under serious consideration the proposal of the chief to ask for the amendment of the police reorganization ordinance to do away with the detective sergeants. Ald. Kimball said that if it was expected to have efficient police work done it was necessary to cooperate with the heads of the department. Other aldermen held similar views.

Two Holdups Reported.

Only two holdups were reported for the twenty-four hours ending yesterday morning, Chief Alcock said. This is the smallest daily crime calendar since the big drive for criminals was started two weeks ago.

The chief said that the Illinois Central murder and holdup was near solution. Two of the band are under arrest, he said. George Raymond, the gunman, who was killed in a revolver battle with the police, was a third, and two others are being sought, he said. The chief divulged also the reason for rearresting James Pelikan, the chauffeur who drove the gang from the holdup scene.

"Pelikan was released," he said, "and went at once to his residence and about the first thing he did was to take out his telephone. He didn't get it out though until we learned some things that were going on over his telephone wires.

"He hasn't told us nearly all he knows about that gang. We have checked up a lot of his movements."

Capt. Meagher last night announced that Frank Carson, captured Sunday night after holding up a west side movie theater, had been identified by three saloonkeepers as the lone bandit who had held up their places. Dozens of persons called at the Desplaines street police station yesterday in an effort to identify alleged robbers.

WHEED FACES DEATH COOLLY; LINDRUM RAGES

In the Cook county jail are two men under sentence to be hanged for murder Friday morning. One of them has taken spiritual advice, declared it is just that he pay the "eye for an eye" penalty, and resigned himself to his fate. The other man is saturnine, hardened, hatred gleams from his eyes as he hurls through the bars his defiance of the world: "To h—ll with them," he snarls, "let them hang me if they want to. But they'll be hangin' an innocent man. I didn't kill that copper. To h—ll with them."

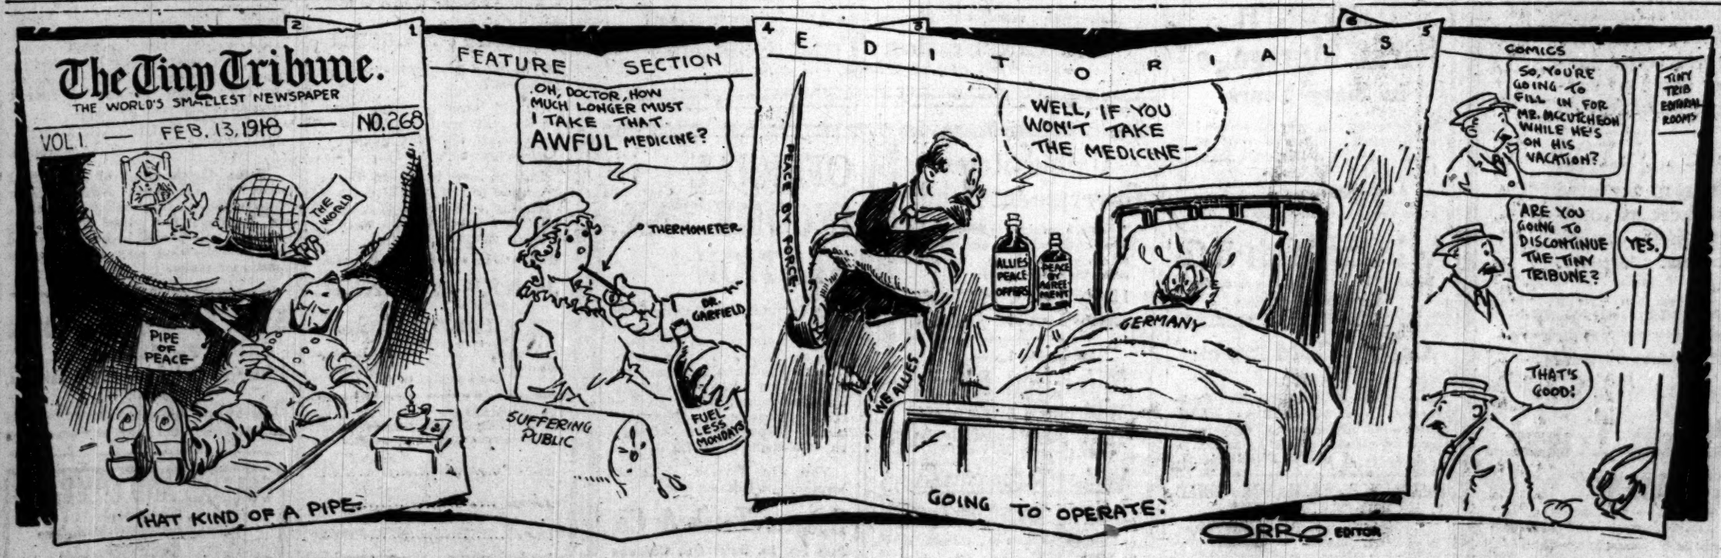

The first is Edward ("Ammunition") Wheed, who killed Barton Allen in the Winslow Bros. pay roll robbery and later battled 200 policemen from a barricaded house until his ammunition was gone and he was trapped. The other man is Harry Lindrum, who killed Policeman Joseph Tiernan.

The cloak of assumed insanity that Wheed kept wrapped about him since he was arrested and during his trial he dropped when he learned that his last plea for a reprieve had been denied him. He turned and talked sanely, advised young men to stay away from the path of crime, confessed to his priest, and then unflinchingly added: "Well, I did wrong, and I have to die. I guess I can do it like a man."

Missing Girl Surprised at Commotion She Caused

Helen Ettinger, 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sumner Ettinger of 3711 Greenview avenue, who disappeared from her home Monday evening, returned yesterday morning as plans for a nation wide search were being made by the police.

Unaware of the commotion she had caused, she told her mother of having stayed at the house of a girl friend over night and was "awfully surprised that such a little thing as that could make such a stir."

MACHINERY FOR SELLING NOTES RUNS SMOOTHLY

700 of 6,000 District Banks Subscribe for New U. S. Issue.

The new machinery set up to promote the selling of treasury notes and financing the next Liberty loan in the Chicago district is meeting unexpected success in the first few days of its operation, according to M. A. Traylor, president of the Live Stock Exchange National bank, in charge of the work as director of sales. In two days, he says, subscriptions have been received from 700 of the 6,000 banks in the district. There were but 900 bank subscribers in the Seventh district to the issue of $400,000,000 notes in anticipation of the third Liberty loan. Mr. Traylor expects that at least 3,000 banks in this district will subscribe to the present note issue of $500,000,000, on which the books close Friday. Secretary McAdoo has announced his intention to offer $500,000,000 of these certificates every two weeks between Feb. 8 and the date of the next Liberty loan issue, total offerings to amount to about $3,000,000,000 according to present understanding.

Stimulates Bond Sales.

"This work is of greater importance in the sale of Liberty loan bonds than is generally believed," said Mr. Traylor. "Not only does the sale of certificates of indebtedness furnish current funds for the government and lighten the burden on the banks in making settlements but it stimulates bond sales. The banker with notes in his vaults to pay for Liberty loan bonds will be more active in urging the sale of bonds than the banker who has no notes and must finance his commitments at the close of the campaign.

"The federal reserve bank has appointed a committeeman in each of the 377 counties in the district to have charge of sales. He is informed of the total amount allotted to the district and the proportion due from his county based on the resources of the county's banks. It is his duty to see that full subscription is returned.

Places Responsibility.

"This places the responsibility where it belongs and divides the burden of financing the note flotations. The results thus far have been better than we expected. They indicate a new awakening on the part of the country banker and the farming element. It is to them that we must appeal strongly in the next loan campaign. Indications are that the country will respond with enthusiasm."

The banking resources of the Seventh federal reserve district are figured at $5,000,000,000. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has suggested that the banks subscribe each week for a period of ten weeks to treasury notes to an amount equal to 1 per cent of their resources. The suggestion will be followed in the Chicago district and should mean subscriptions of $50,000,000 a week or $500,000,000 in ten weeks. One week's subscription is equal to the 10 per cent of the current or first $500,000,000 note offering now being sold and the Seventh district is expected to furnish 10 per cent of the subscriptions to all future issues. If this were maintained for ten weeks the Chicago territory would have taken 10 per cent of five billions of treasury notes or certificates of indebtedness, as they are officially termed.

Loaned to the Limit.

If the district does this it will have accomplished the result under unfavorable conditions, since money is closer here than in most of the other districts. The banks have financed farmers in buying cattle for feeding purposes and have loaned a great deal on grain. These would have been marketed and the loans paid by this time but for traffic congestion. The freight situation, however, has resulted in many country banks being loaned to the limit.

They are, however, given every assistance by the federal reserve bank and are being encouraged to rediscount paper to adjust their loans. It is estimated that a third of the banks in this district are now borrowing from the reserve bank. Some are borrowing part of the money needed to subscribe to treasury notes, while a few are borrowing the full purchase price of note subscriptions.

When a banker writes in and says that he cannot subscribe to the current note issue he is told of the possibilities of rediscounting notes to augment his cash.

35.6% EARNED BY SULLIVAN MACHINERY CO.

In the report of the earnings of the Sullivan Machinery company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1917, which appeared in THE TRIBUNE last Sunday, an error was made in announcing the amount of stock to be offered at par. The company's authorized capital is $4,000,000 and the amount reported outstanding $3,846,800. The shareholders have voted to offer one new share of stock for every eight now held, which would mean an increase of about 4,800 shares instead of 10,000, as announced.

The earnings of the company for the fiscal year figure 35.6 per cent on the share capital, which compares with 26.5 per cent for the year 1916. The 1917 year was an unusually prosperous one. In addition to the earnings of $1,371,081, or 35.6 per cent on the capital, there was an extra charge of $800,000 excess profits taxes taken out ahead of the earnings mentioned. There was no similar charge in 1916. The extra charged off therefore for taxes was equal to over 20 per cent on the capital.

It is officially announced that the company's war business last year amounted to about 5 per cent of the gross. The increase in earnings is attributed, therefore, to gains along the company's established lines.

Childs Company Earnings During 1917 Show Increase

The Childs company has issued its annual report for the year ended Nov. 30, 1917. Income statement compares as follows:

	1917.	1916.

Dividends	567,081	467,087
Surplus	$ 705,576	$ 608,403
Previous surplus	758,117	480,134
Reserves	380,247	338,420
Profit & loss surp.	$1,084,446	$ 759,117

Combined gross profits of the Childs company, the Childs Dining Hall company, and the Childs Company of Providence for the year ended Nov. 30, 1917, amounted to $1,339,795. Dividends paid totaled $567,395.

Embargo Removed from St. Louis and San Francisco

Announcement of the removal of the embargo on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad against accepting all kinds of freight, except fuel, oil, government supplies, and a few other commodities, was made yesterday. Virtually normal shipping conditions are restored, although the embargo is still effective against points east of the Michigan-Indiana state line and against deliveries to certain lines which have not removed their freight restrictions.

Northern Pacific Official Resigns to Go to France

George T. Slade, vice president of the Northern Pacific railroad in charge of traffic, has volunteered his services to the government and will go soon to France, where he will be deputy director general of transportation in France. He will be commissioned lieutenant colonel in the United States army and will be under the command of Gen. W. W. Atterbury.

CORN RECEIPTS HERE TODAY MAY TOTAL 800 CARS

Possibility of 1,200 to 1,400 Cars of All Kinds of Grain Faces Trade.

All grain exchanges of the country were closed yesterday in observance of Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

Over a million bushels of corn are expected to be offered for sale in the sample market here today and about 650,000 bu oats. It is estimated that today's receipts of corn will run in the neighborhood of 800 cars, while at least 300 cars of oats are looked for. The state grain inspection department worked all day yesterday, and it graded around 700 cars of all kinds of grain, principally corn. This total will be included in today's receipts, because of the exchange holiday yesterday, and the total inspection is expected to come between 1,200 and 1,400 cars.

Weather conditions continue generally favorable for free movement of grain, and eastern roads are turning over empty cars to western lines in large numbers. Many points that have not had cars for weeks now report three and four available, and they are being loaded as fast as they come in, as country elevator stocks of grain are large.

Corn Drying Capacity Large.

There has been considerable talk of maltsters going into the corn drying business, because of the vast amount of corn that requires drying this season and slackness of the malting demand, but a number of the malt specialists claim that this will not be on a large enough scale to become a market factor. To begin with, the dryers in malting houses are constructed so as to absorb large percentages of moisture, whereas most of the corn has only about 7 per cent moisture extracted.

Several of the big malting concerns have considerable barley to work on, which probably would keep them busy until the end of March, when the corn drying season would be practically ended. Chicago's regular corn drying capacity is about 600,000 bu daily, figuring 6 to 7½ per cent extraction, and receipts will have to run big to overtake this. However, if there should be need of it, and drying charges were doubled, the local maltsters could add considerably to the total capacity for handling soft corn.

Winnipeg Oats Market Dull.

Trading at Winnipeg yesterday was extremely dull, and price changes were unimportant. May oats there sold from 87⅛c to 87c, closing at the latter price, or unchanged from the previous finish. July oats at Winnipeg sold from 85⅝c to 85⅛c, the latter being the last price and ¼c under Monday's finish. Barley sold from $1.61 to $1.61⅝.

Probability of disturbing peace rumors and increased receipts are doing much to discourage the bulls in oats, and some expect prices to seek sharply lower levels. One authority says: "The government has discouraged the outside element that might take the hedge sales of farmers. The only thing to support the market is the cash demand, and, as that buying is concentrated and well controlled, we may expect them to back away from the offerings when the country starts selling."

Barnett Oil and Gas.

A. W.—The Barnett Oil and Gas company's statement for the six months ended Nov. 30 shows net income of $237,948 before depreciation and taxes. This is at the rate of 49 per cent a year on the $966,724 of stock outstanding on Nov. 30. War taxes will make large inroads in the income and a proper allowance for depreciation will reduce it further, so that the balance probably will not very far exceed the dividend, which is now at the rate of 24 per cent a year. The company is planning to increase production and to double the output of its refinery at Blue Island. The stock is evidently in a speculative position. If earnings increase largely the dividend will be fairly safe. If new wells should not prove productive or if a general decline should occur in the oil business the dividend might be reduced.

Commonwealth Finance.

L. L. M.—The Commonwealth Finance corporation seems to be making exceedingly large earnings on the amount of capital actually employed. The balance sheet of Dec. 31 last shows $1,860,052 of notes and bills receivable, compared with $817,032 on June 30, or an average of $1,338,542 for the period. Total gross earnings are reported at $278,341, while gross earnings to Aug. 31 were $84,046. This leaves $194,295 for four months, or $48,574 a month. That is at the rate of about 43 per cent a year on the money actually at work. It would seem uncertain whether such profits can continue in the face of competition from other similar companies now selling stock. The Dec. 31 statement shows $1,493,100 of preferred stock issued and $2,946,400 more stock is set aside for subscribers. It figures out at about $102 of net assets for each dollar of preferred stock, leaving the common practically all water.

Montgomery Ward & Co.

C. A. L., Morrison, Ill.—Montgomery Ward & Co.'s sales and net profits were about 26 per cent larger in 1917 than in 1916, but war taxes took $1,289,594, so that net earnings applicable to dividends were only $4,130,094, or 82.6 per cent on $5,000,000 preferred stock, compared with 91 in 1916. There is no bonded debt. As of a year ago, there were bank loans amounting to $1,300,000, and, owing to increasing business and higher cost of goods, it is probable that this item is larger now. To furnish more working capital and probably to retire its bank loans the company is now issuing $3,000,000 of new preferred stock at par. Earnings of last year amount to more than 50 per cent on all the preferred stock, including the new. It is among the most conservative of stock investments.

Price of Liberty Bonds.

R. W. C. S.—Converted 3½ per cent Liberty bonds sold for weeks nearly a point higher than the new 4s. They are only half a point apart now. The difference between them is that the former run five years longer than the latter. To make the yield the same the former should sell nearly a point lower. The reason they sell higher is that the people who are buying them expect both bonds to sell at a premium after the war. If both bonds should sell on a 3½ per cent basis, five years from now the converted bonds would be quoted at $104.20 and the new 4s at $102.30. At the current prices it costs about $5 to exchange a new bond for a converted 3½. If they both sell on a 3½ basis five years from now there will be a profit of nearly $20 a bond in exchanging back.

Brief Answers.

W. E. S.—The Moir Hotel company has very heavy fixed charges ahead of its preferred stock. For this reason that stock is rather speculative. The dividend ont it has just been stopped. As of a year ago, there were $1,341,100 first mortgage bonds, of which $50,000 mature semi-annually, also $1,458,900 refunding bonds and $1,000,000 of preferred stock.

gives himself lavishly to his business. It is more than a means of making money. It is his life work. To be successful is his first ambition.

But after success has been won, a new motive develops to sustain his effort in making money and accumulating property. He wants to conserve his wealth in an estate which will continue unimpaired after death to support his dependents and be of service to his fellow-men.

This is the net outcome and final result of his business career, to conserve which he can turn nowhere as confidently as to a well organized, experienced and responsible trust company.

THIS company has highly specialized and expert service to offer as executor and trustee.

Trading in all branches of the live stock market at Chicago yesterday was greatly retarded by unfavorable, foggy, wet weather, but there appeared to be a demand for the stock received and the market closed in a better condition than it opened.

Hogs started 30@40c lower and recovered part of the loss later, as packers awaited belated receipts and filled generous orders in last rounds. Early top was $16.00 for only a few lots. Later that price was obtained for many loads and higher values were bid for animals that were carried over unsold.

Beef steers, cows, and heifers sold steady to 25c lower. The quality of the offerings was inferior, and the rain made the animals that much less desirable. Demand was limited and offerings cleared slowly. Calves were 50c lower.

Weakness pervaded the market for sheep and lambs and sales were mostly 25c lower, with lambs, which formed the bulk of the supply, showing the most decline. Packers were pegged at $17.00 for the best lambs and odd lots of choice offerings sold at higher than that figure, went to outsiders.

William P. Kenney Elected Great Northern President

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12.—William P. Kenney was elected president of the Great Northern railroad late today at a meeting of the board of directors. Mr. Kenney was formerly vice president in charge of traffic.

Ralph Budd, formerly assistant to the president, was elected executive vice president. Louis W. Hill, remains chairman of the board of directors and active in the management of the road.

Both Mr. Kenney and Mr. Budd will assume their new duties tomorrow. Some changes among lesser officials probably will be announced soon by President Kenney.

Public Service Reports Gain in Net During 1917

The Public Service corporation of Northern Illinois for the year ended Dec. 31, 1917, reports a gain in net earnings, despite the higher cost of labor and materials. President Samuel Insull has prepared a statement of estimated income for last year which compares as follows with that for 1916:

	1917.	1916.
Net after taxes	3,342,967	3,274,674

The balance available for dividends was somewhat smaller than in 1916, owing to an increase in interest charges. The interest charges in 1917 amounted to $1,614,867, against $1,497,818 in 1916.

Yankee Truck Makers to Turn Out 300,000 in 1918

The American truckmaking industry will be called upon in 1918 to fill the motor vehicle transportation needs of the United States army, as well as the demand of domestic business. Truck manufacture will be carried on at the rate of probably between 200,000 and 300,000 trucks a year, compared with 120,000 in 1917 and 92,000 in 1916.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The stock market was only moderately active today, with irregularity in places due to profit taking. The dearth of business was attributed to the increased sale of war bonds and yesterday's heavy demand for treasury bills on rumors that the cessation of their issue was contemplated. Grand Trunks and Argentine rails were flat, while industrial, armament, and tin shares were the only firm features. Money and discount rates were firmer. Bar silver, 42⅞d an oz. Money, 3½ per cent. Discount rates: Short bills, 4 1-32 per cent; three months, 4 1-16 per cent.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The bourse was inactive today. Rentes, 57 francs 50 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 16¼ centimes. Five per cent loan, 87 francs 65 centimes.

What Kind of MEN Are We Sending to France?

"Red tape can be cut—dead wood can be weeded out—factories speeded up—guns turned out in nominal time"*—but—

WHAT kind of men make up the great American army? What kind of men do we entrust to wipe out the Prussian scheme of power? What are they capable of doing? ····· Read—in this week's Collier's. Get the answer for the first time—straight from our army camps—told in the vigorous language of a born-and-bred American.

He has found out what that spirit is which makes Americans the hardest-to-lick soldiers on earth. He makes you feel the red blood of manhood surge through your veins, with a throb of pride that you, too, are an American.

"The Yanks Are Coming" is the first of a series of McNutt articles on the National Army Training Camps to appear exclusively in Collier's. They give the real spirit of the men of New England—the South—men of the Middle West and Pacific Coast—men who make up the great American army.

Before you say another word about what America has done or can do—read the McNutt article in this week's Collier's.
